FISHING ACCESS AREAS

APPROXIMATELY 200 fishing access sites are provided by the State Conservation Commission for anglers in Iowa. Many others have been developed and are maintained by county conservation boards, cities and towns.

FISHING is probably Iowa's top recreation and, though not commercialized, some areas produce astounding numbers of fish.

A general guide to the species found about the state would be as follows:

NORTHWEST LAKES—walleye, northern pike, bass, bluegills, crappies, perch and bullheads; northwest streams—catfish, walleye and northern pike.

SOUTHWEST LAKES—largemouth bass, crappies, bluegills, catfish and bullheads; southwest streams—catfish and bullheads.

SOUTHEAST LAKES—largemouth bass, crappies, bluegills, catfish and bullheads; southeast streams—catfish and bullheads.

NORTHEAST STREAMS—walleye, northern pike, smallmouth bass, white bass, crappies, perch, bluegills, catfish and sheepshead.

MISSISSIPPI RIVER—walleye, sauger, northern pike, largemouth bass, white bass, crappies, perch, bluegills, catfish and sheepshead.

MISSOURI RIVER—northern pike, catfish, sauger and crappies.

LICENSE FEES—Resident fishing license.....$3.00
Trout stamp$3.00
(Trout stamp needed only on designated streams)

OVERNIGHT CAMPING NOTATION

The public fishing access areas listed with an overnight camping (C) facilities notation are those areas which have specially designated regions for primitive or modern camping.

Overnight camping is allowed on most state-owned lands unless posted. However, this folder indicates only those areas which have facilities for campers. (See "Iowa State Camping and Recreation Areas" folder for a detailed list of state camping areas.)
