TRUSTEES' REPORT.

The Board of Trustees of the Iowa Institution for the education of the Deaf and Dumb, would respectfully submit to the Governor and General Assembly this our, Fourth Biennial Report:

First of all would we acknowledge the goodness of Providence, in sparing this and all our other State Institutions from the violence that has brought ruin to so many of our sister states, and in granting us sufficient prosperity to operate with unimpaired success all the parts of the varied machinery of our educational system.

During the last two years, the condition of this Institution has been one of unbroken prosperity—a prosperity limited only by the measure of our circumstances. Quietly but surely has this out-growth of public charity and the rights of the needy pursued its course of humble usefulness, dispensing to scores of impoverished minds the wealth of knowledge.

Teachers and scholars have cheerfully united to promote the great end of the Institution—the elevation of an unfortunate class. And here let it be marked, that this Institution is strictly and only educational in its character, and therefore is not designed to be a mere asylum for paupers, or a hospital for medical experiments upon the diseased or dead organ of hearing. The end proposed is the education of the deaf, and the means employed contemplate no other object. We here use the term education in its widest sense, as embracing the harmonious cultivation of all the physical, mental and moral powers.

Few are aware how great is the difficulty of fully educating an uneducated mute, the difficulty being enhanced by the absence of that mental discipline and knowledge enjoyed in youth by those who possess all their senses. And in this respect the Blind are less unfortunate than the Deaf, for the former can make large acquisition of knowledge at home before attending school, whilst the Deaf are usually if not necessarily wholly dependent upon their Institutions for all they know. The fact is stated to show how important such Institutions are, and how wise as well as generous has been public charity, out of which have grown so many efforts for the relief of the afflicted class.

H E A L T H .

The health of our pupils has been unusually good. We have no deaths to record, and have had few cases of illness. The diet and habits of the scholars are such as tend to prevent disease; and this, together with the fact that we have enjoyed the benefit of prompt and able medical service, must account for our singular good fortune in this respect. And here it may be no more than just to mention the valuable labors of the matron of the Institution, whose intelligent and faithful efforts, especially in behalf of the sick, have proved of the first importance. She has brought to her post of duty a large experience and a heart for the work, and deserves honorable mention in this report.

T H E S C H O O L .

The school-room is the point of interest and fountain of knowledge to the mute. It is here he generally takes his first step up the Hill of Science. He comes to us ignorant of every letter of the alphabet and of his own name. He goes from us prepared to become, not a helpless burden to the public, but a useful citizen and an intelligent member of society.

Our school opens at nine o'clock, A. M. Our first exercise is a lecture in the natural and expressive language of signs. This lecture is generally upon some moral or religious subject, and the occasion is taken to convey a knowledge of the common proprieties and duties of life. No difficulty is found in imparting to even our youngest scholars abstract and spiritual ideas, although such ideas have no place in their minds whilst in an uneducated state. The Bible, with its sublime utterances and solemn truths, is, indeed, a Revelation to them, bringing as it does "life and immortality to light," and opening to their vision a boundless world of thought.

The school is divided into three classes. The advanced class is taught by the principal. The second class is taught by his brother; and the primary class by the older pupils, under the direction of the principal. This is our present arrangement, and although the classification is imperfect, and another teacher needed, still we must yield to the requirements of economy, and adapt ourselves to circumstances.

We aim to give a knowledge of the English Language together with the essentials of those branches of Science deemed most practical, and waste little time in efforts designed to surprise the public rather than benefit the pupil.

CONDUCT OF PUPILS.

The conduct of our scholars has been generally gratifying. The discipline of the Institution has been mild but firm; and, although upon entering, a few have shown a rebellious spirit, yet this spirit has usually given way to the authority of law and order. Indulged by a mistaken kindness at home, it is not surprising that some should at first rebel, but the rules of the school demand a prompt "suppression of rebellion," and then order reigns and harmony prevails.

It is a pleasure to see the wild, wayward, rough boy transformed by the magic wand of education, into a gentle, obedient and polite student—or the awkward and unpromising girl, by the same power, cultivated into a modest, refined and intelligent young lady. This is one of the pleasures experienced by every educator, who is faithful to his trust, whether it be his duty to instruct the deaf, or the blind, or those more blessed.

NUMBER OF PUPILS.

The catalogue appended to this report, will show the full number in attendance, together with their places of residence, causes of deafness, &c.

An effort has been made to keep our expenses within the specified sum, and the effort has been successful; but to do this, we have been obliged to contract the usefulness of the Institution, by refusing admission to quite a number, and by dispensing with advantages which we otherwise might have enjoyed.

The census places the total number of mutes in the State at about three hundred. But it is probable the census is incorrect, for already the Institution has given instruction to almost one hundred mutes; and the number in the State is doubtless near four hundred, for we have reliable data for the statement, that at least twenty-five per cent. of this class might at any time be under instruction, the remainder being unfitted by age, disease, or other causes.

TEACHERS.

At present, the principal has only one assistant teacher, the primary class being taught by the monitress and older pupils, under the direction of the principal.

During the last two years, other teachers have been employed, but they have been discharged for the sake of economy.

The principal has never yet been able to secure the assistance of experienced teachers, as such command higher salaries than our means have allowed us to afford, and thus we have been unable, in this respect, to compete with other Institutions.

THE BUILDING.

The building now occupied is a former hotel, and has been used by us for more than two years. We are now paying fo.

this house a rent of six hundred dollars per annum. Its accommodations are at best but limited. As we are informed that the rent will not be reduced, steps have been taken to secure another building, more capacious, more comfortable and less expensive by about two hundred dollars per annum.

This building is also in Iowa City, and is at this time used as a public house. It will accommodate seventy-five pupils with ease and comfort; and this number can at any time be gathered into the Institution, whenever a provision is made sufficient for the board and tuition of so large a number.

A L E G A L P R O V I S I O N .

The law provides that the principal shall, when deemed proper, make tours throughout the State in company with a number of his pupils, in order to excite an interest and call in a greater number of scholars; but necessity has required the opposite course; for, from an apprehension that the Institution might be over-crowded or embarrassed with applications for admission, no special effort has been deemed advisable; and, indeed, the general rule has been that an effort has been needed rather to limit than enlarge our school, so as at all times to live within our means, and do justice to those already admitted.

F I N A N C E S .

Attention is called to the detailed financial reports accompanying this.

They show the accounts of two Treasurers and the Principal who has acted as the Steward of the establishment.

The Institution has conformed its course to the provisions of the law which took effect in 1860, and which requires detailed reports. As soon as this law was made known to the Institution, and before it went into effect, its provisions were complied with to the letter. Vouchers have been taken as usual, and the principal's account shows a minute detail of the expenditures, stating the sum paid, and naming the items-purchased.

The Treasurer accepts the orders of the President and Secretary as his vouchers—the Secretary holding bills and receipts as collateral vouchers for the Treasurer, in cases where a number of items have been involved. In this way we have sought to comply with the provisions of a wise law.

In order to comply with that feature of the law which prohibits indebtedness, strict attention has been paid to the matter of economy, and no more pupils have been admitted than would enable us to close the present year with a small balance in our favor. Our appropriation was small, being but seven thousand five hundred dollars per annum, and that received chiefly in State Warrants, which have been and are at present at a discount.

To meet the case, we have reduced the number of our teachers as well as scholars. We regret this necessity, as progress is always desirable; but we bow respectfully to whatever is unavoidable, accepting whatever responsibility is justly our due.

It may be proper here to state that the salaries paid by the Institution, have been lower than those paid in any other similar institution in this country. The reports of other institutions will bear us out in this assertion.

The institutions in Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio all pay higher salaries, and generally have more offices than ours, and the same is true of the eastern schools. We invite special attention to this point.

The report of the Ohio institute for the deaf and dumb, for the year 1860, presents a "List of persons employed, Nov. 1st, 1860," and grades some of their salaries as follows:

Superintendent,	- - - -	$1,200 00	per annum.
Teachers,	- - - -	1,000 00	"
"	- - - -	800 00	"
"	- - - -	600 00	"
Stewart,	- - - -	500 00	"

This is but a part of the salaries there paid, and is a fair specimen of what is done elsewhere. These persons thus paid do no more labor than our employees; for, while the schools are larger, the persons employed to manage them are proportionally numerous.

The Wisconsin institute, with a school very little larger than this, has more offices and pays far more for salaries. The Superintendent of that institute is relieved from acting either as teacher or steward, and receives the same salary as our Superintendent who acts as the head of the establishment, and as teacher and steward besides. We having dismissed two teachers are now paying—

Superintendent,	-	-	-	-	-	-	$1,000 00
Matron	-	-	-	-	-	-	300 00
Teacher,	-	-	-	-	-	-	400 00

Total,	-	-	-	-	-	-	$1,700 00
--------	---	---	---	---	---	---	------------

We can see no impropriety in making an effort to equalize all the institutions of the kind throughout the Union, so that none may suffer by being unable to hold out the ordinary inducements to experienced and competent teachers and officers. As yet this Institution has been unable to employ a single experienced aid to the Superintendent, and he has been compelled to depend for assistance in teaching upon novices in that vocation. Experienced teachers command in other institutions $800 or $1000 per annum, which we simply cannot offer.

This report would not go so far into this subject, had not the question of salaries been raised at the last session of the Legislature, when there was no one present to explain the case. No increase of salaries is sought. We merely wish to explain the facts and defend our system, and appeal to common intelligence and universal practice as our complete justification. Men ready to rush into any position for a mere pittance, are numerous enough, but men of experience and education and capacity are in demand everywhere, and their services cannot be obtained for a trifle, especially when the work to be performed is monotonous and laborious.

A REQUEST.

It is most respectfully desired that a committee from the Legislature be directed to visit this Institution, and examine our buildings and the workings of our Institution. This honor has not yet been done either of the State institutions at Iowa City. Such a committee would be received with pleasure by all the inmates of this establishment.

THE FUTURE.

We feel that the prospect for a permanent building is not encouraging; and, indeed, we do not expect the State at this time to consider that question. We fear the day is now distant when the mutes of this State might look with pride and joy upon their own asylum; complete in all its appointments, capacious enough to receive every worthy applicant, and standing in architectural grandeur as another perpetual monument of Iowa's intelligent charity.

We now point with feelings of honorable pride to our magnificent Home for the Insane, and know that when our national sky is once more clear, and these great States once more and forever united, as united they must be, then will the triumphs of peace appear in Iowa, and all our educational and charitable institutions pulsate with a new life.

FUTURE APPROPRIATIONS.

For the future, the Board of Trustees of this Institution would suggest that this Institution be provided for in a similar manner to the blind asylum.

That Institution has an allowance per scholar, and thus no embarrassment can arise as to an insufficiency of means. But should the Legislature desire to limit the expenditure, no more is needed than to specify the number of scholars to be admitted.

Let the State institutions be placed on the same footing. Their wants and necessities are much the same, and the support should be the same.

CONCLUSION.

Hoping that the prosperity of the Institution may continue, we once more commend our charge to the wisdom and liberality of the State Government.

Wm. Penn. Clarke, Treasurer, in Account with the Institution for the Deaf and Dumb.
