

BIENNIAL REPORT

OF

ADJUTANT GENERAL

OF THE

STATE OF IOWA

FOR THE BIENNIAL PERIOD ENDING NOVEMBER 30, 1910

PRINTED BY ORDER OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

DES MOINES: EMORY H. ENGLISH, STATE PRINTER 1910 STATE OF IOWA, ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE,
DES MOINES, DECEMBER 1, 1910.

To His Excellency, The Honorable B. F. Carroll, Governor and Commander-in-Chief:

Sir:—As your Adjutant General I have the honor to submit herewith my report of the Military Department of the State of Iowa, for the biennial period ended November 30, 1910.

During the period just closed there has been a remarkable change in the National Guard of this State, the most remarkable of which has been the stride taken toward efficiency and an assumption of the organization of the United States Army.

CHANGE IN STATE LAW FOR ORGANIZATION.

By an act of the Thirty-third General Assembly all former military laws were repealed and an entirely new military law was enacted. The new law is very compact, yet so elastic in its construction as to allow the Governor to change the organization of the Guard, from time to time, by orders or regulations, so as to conform to the requirements for the organized militia under the laws of the United States.

CHANGE IN ORGANIZATION.

In accordance with the provisions of the foregoing named law and to conform with the requirements for the militia under the laws of the United States, a Brigade was organized on July 5, 1909. A Brigadier General was elected and commissioned, and, by your order, was placed in command of the First Brigade, consisting of the four Infantry Regiments.

The Medical Department was also made a separate organization, and the organization partially perfected. Orders will soon issue creating a Field Hospital and an Ambulance Company which will perfect this organization in accordance with War Department regulations.

Officers were also commissioned and assigned to the following Service Corps and Departments:

Adjutant General's Department,
Judge Advocate General's Department,
Quartermaster's Department,
Subsistence Department,
Ordnance Department,

* Engineer Corps,

Signal Corps,

but for the present it was thought best not to further perfect these organizations.

The Regimental Organizations were changed so as to conform with the requirements for the organized militia under the regulations of the War Department, by the discharge of enlisted orderlies, decreasing the strength of the Bands to twenty-eight each and by increasing the minimum enlisted strength of each company to fifty-eight; an increase for each Regiment of one hundred ninety-two, and for the Brigade of seven hundred sixty-eight, or about one-third of the former enlisted strength of the Guard.

A Machine Gun Company was also authorized for each Regiment, but, on account of the government making a change in the model of guns for this service, it has been impossible to secure guns and equipment for this important branch of the service until the present time. Orders will soon issue for the organization of these companies, and requisition will be made on the government for the arms and equipment.

ORGANIZATION.

The organized militia of Iowa consists of a Brigade (the First) commanded by Brigadier General Jas. Rush Lincoln. Headquarters, Ames.

ANNUAL TOUR OF CAMP INSTRUCTION.

SEASON 1909.

All troops were ordered on duty by Regiments, and, by request, the War Department detailed two Troops from the Second United States Cavalry for duty at each camp.

The Fifty-third Infantry camp was held at Independence, Iowa, July 21st to 30th, inclusive.

The Fifty-fourth Infantry camp was held at Iowa City, Iowa, August 23d to September 1st, inclusive.

The Fifty-fifth Infantry camp was held at Chariton, Iowa, August 5th to 14th, inclusive.

The Fifty-sixth Infantry camp was held at West Okoboji, Iowa, August 18th to 27th, inclusive.

Under Special Orders from this Department, Brigadier General Jas. Rush Lincoln was placed on duty two days at each camp to make inspections and report regarding line of instruction performed and such recommendations as he thought advisable for the future work of the Guard.

The reports of the Commanding Officers of the above named camps and of Brigadier General Jas. Rush Lincoln are hereto attached marked "Appendix A," and made a part of this report.

SEASON 1910.

The First Brigade, less one Regiment (54th Infantry) was ordered into Maneuver Camp with Troops from the United States Army at Camp Bruce E. McCoy, near Sparta, Wisconsin, from August 11th to 20th, inclusive.

The Fifty-fourth Infantry was ordered into Regimental Camp at Iowa City, Iowa, from July 18th to 27th, inclusive, the War Department detailing two Troops from the Sixth United States Cavalry for service with this Regiment.

The reports of the Commanding Officers on the duty performed by these organizations are hereto attached marked "Appendix B," and made a part of this report.

SMALL ARMS FIRING.

SEASON 1909.

Every company in the Guard conducted practice in this important part of the soldier's duty, both on the Indoor and Outdoor ranges, and in many instances nearly every man in the company qualified, but, on account of the large increase in the enlisted membership of the companies to meet the requirements of the War Department for the militia organizations, the figure of merit is not quite as large as for the previous year.

SEASON 1910.

The same course has been pursued for this year, and the Outdoor season has been extended so that it closes November 30th of each year, and it is, therefore, impossible to give the figure of merit for this year.

The State has entered a team in both 1909 and 1910 in the National Competition which has been held both years on the Ohio State Rifle Range at Camp Perry. Ohio. The team for 1909 gained two places over the previous year and finished in tenth place; for the year 1910 the team finished in fourth place, winning $250.00 and a medal each, which were donated by the Congress of the United States. The Iowa team for 1910 defeated all National Guard teams and one of the Service teams.

The full report of these competitions is found in Lieutenant Colonel S. W. Brookhart's reports on same,

The competitions of the Iowa State Rifle Association were held both years on the Iowa State Range near Des Moines. Both competitions were very successful, and reports of same are published in orders from this Department.

The State of Iowa also entered two Regimental teams, one from the 55th Infantry and one from the 56th Infantry, in an Inter-State Shoot held at Kansas City, Missouri, November 24th and 25th, 1910, the 55th Infantry team finishing in fourth place.

ARMS, EQUIPMENT AND UNIFORM.

The Iowa Guard is, at the present time, armed, equipped and uniformed the same as similar branches of the service of the United States Army, except that three Regiments are still equipped with the blue overcoat in place of the olive drab overcoat.

The Guard was furnished with marching shoes, for the first time, for the camps of 1910, the State paying one-half and the men paying one-half of the cost of same.

ARMORIES.

Since the act of the Thirty-third General Assembly allowing payment in armory rent in a sum not to exceed eight hundred dollars per annum for each company, there has been a notable change in armories. Arrangements have been made for the securing of nineteen new armories, some of which have been completed, some are now under construction and some are contracted for but the construction not yet started.

ARSENAL.

The State of Iowa is one of the few states which has not constructed a building for its use as an Arsenal in caring for the large amount of property which the War Department requires to be kept on hand for equipment of State troops. The storage quarters which we have secured are good but inadequate for the purpose, and I have been notified that the rental for the present quarters will be raised at the end of our contract to $2,000.00 per annum, which is double the amount now appropriated by the Legislature for that purpose.

SCHOOLS FOR OFFICERS.

A Correspondence School was established by orders from this Department for all officers of the Guard except Regimental Commanders, Officers of the Medical Corps and Officers of the Governor's Staff. The School was under the supervision of Brigadier General Jas. Rush Lincoln. Questions were prepared by him and forwarded to officers twice a month; the answers were corrected by him and a record kept of the standing of the student officers. The School was very successful and will be re-established during the winter season of 1910-1911.

In accordance with orders from the War Department a Camp of Instruction for the teaching of officers was established at the State Rifle Range, near Des Moines, June 14th to 17th, 1910, inclusive. The War Department detailed several officers from the United States Army as instructors for this School, who conducted same along lines prescribed by the War Department. Much good was derived from this school by Guard officers and it is to be hoped that the War Department will continue same.

PUBLICATION OF ROSTERS AND RECORDS OF IOWA SOLDIERS, SAILORS AND MARINES.

The Thirty-third General Assembly passed an Act appropriating the sum of ten thousand dollars to complete the compilation of the Rosters and Records of Iowa Soldiers, Sailors and Marines, as provided by chapter 223, Laws of the Thirty-second General Assembly. This was two thousand five hundred dollars less than the amount I had estimated and recommended to be appropriated, in order to absolutely insure the completion of the work. I now find that an additional appropriation of one thousand dollars will be required for that purpose.

This great work, which had been suspended for several months on account of the exhaustion of the previous appropriation, was resumed on the first day of April, 1909, and has been steadily and faithfully continued with the following results:

The publication of the third volume, containing the histories, rosters and records of the Seventeenth to the Thirty-first Regiments of Infantry, inclusive, was completed and distributed during the month of July, 1910.

The publication of the fourth volume, containing the histories, rosters and records of all the Cavalry Regiments (First to Ninth, inclusive), was completed in November, 1910, and is now being distributed.

The material for the fifth volume is in an advanced state of preparation and will soon be ready for the printer.

A large amount of the material for the sixth and concluding volume of the series has also been prepared, so the work may be said to be approaching completion, and that it will be completed very nearly within the time previously estimated by me, provided the necessary facilities are placed at my disposal.

At the time the work was resumed I made a careful investigation of the quality of paper used in the first two volumes, and decided that a large saving could be made for the State if a much lighter paper were used. I, therefore, made such recommendation to the Executive Council which met with their approval and the paper was changed. To show that a large saving was thus effected I desire to call your attention to the fact that the third volume, in which the lighter paper was used, contains the histories, rosters and records of fifteen Regiments of Infantry, only lacking one of double the number contained in the first and second volumes. The entire work will thus be reduced to six volumes instead of eight, the number which would have been required had the use of the heavier paper been continued.

The cost of compiling the histories, rosters and records of the First to the Sixteenth Regiments of Infantry, published in the first and second volumes, was approximately seven thousand five hundred dollars, or approximately four hundred and sixty-eight dollars for each Regiment, while the cost of compiling the same matter of the Seventeenth to Thirty-first Regiments of Infantry, the First to Ninth Regiments of Cavalry, the Fifth Regiment of Cavalry consolidated, the Seventh Regiment of Cavalry re-organized and two separate Cavalry companies, contained in the third and fourth volumes, was approximately eight thousand three hundred and eighty dollars, or approximately three hundred and ten dollars for each Regiment.

The work of writing the historical sketches for this publication has been done entirely by Colonel George W. Crosley, and the fact that forty-two of his histories of Iowa Regiments, all of which participated in the greatest war of modern times, have been published without one word of adverse criticism having been heard, speaks more highly for his painstaking care and his personal interest in all that pertains to the good name of Iowa soldiers than any words of mine could express. Colonel Crosley has also had special supervision of the clerical force engaged in this work, and under his supervision the work of compilation has progressed as rapidly as possible considering the care required in making the revised rosters and records as nearly correct as it was possible to make them, and with the purpose constantly in mind of keeping the expense to the State within reasonable limitations.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

I desire to recommend for your consideration:

First. That the law as it appears in Section 1304 of the Supplement to the Code of Iowa, 1907, and in Chapter 81 of the Acts of the Thirty-third General Assembly, be so amended as to include as exempt from taxation stock and bonds which are issued to raise funds for the building of armories for the use of National Guard organizations.

Second. That the law as it appears in Chapter 223, Acts of the Thirty-second General Assembly, and in Chapter 248 of the Acts of the Thirty-third General Assembly, be so amended as to allow the Secretary of State to issue free of charge to any soldier, sailor or marine, who had honorable service in an Iowa organization, one copy of the volume of "Roster Iowa Soldiers" which contains the roster and record of the organization to which he belonged.

Third. That the Thirty-fourth General Assembly be requested to appropriate a sufficient sum to secure a site and erect a building which can be used jointly as an Arsenal and Armory. The Arsenal to contain office rooms for the Adjutant General and his assistants and sufficient storage room to accommodate all arms, ammunition, clothing and equipage which are required by the War Department to be kept on hand.

The Armory could be used by four companies (one battalion) and such other organizations as are located in Des Moines. Such a building would save the State rental which will soon have to be paid as follows:

Arsenal, two thousand dollars per annum,

Armory rent for four companies, thirty-two hundred dollars,

Armory rent for field hospital and one hospital corps, six hundred dollars,

A total of fifty-eight hundred dollars, besides furnishing office room for the Adjutant General's Department, and relieving the Capitol building of that much of the congested condition.

CONCLUSION.

To Brigadier General Jas. Rush Lincoln, Commanding First Brigade, to the Commanding Officer of each Regiment, to the Chief of each Military Department and the various National Guard Officers, and to Captain Charles S. Lincoln, Lieutenant Morton C. Mumma and many other United States Army Officers, all of whom I have been associated with for the past two years, I desire to express my appreciation for the advice and assistance which they have rendered me in the administration and instruction of the Guard, and for the faithful performance of their duties.

To my assistants in the Adjutant General's Department I desire to express my appreciation for the faithful and efficient services they have rendered in the performance of their duties.

To you, personally, I but bespeak the sentiment of the entire National Guard of this State when I officially thank you for your earnest efforts in behalf of an efficient Guard and in assisting us in our improvement and general advancement until at the present time the Iowa Guard is rated as efficient as any Guard organization in the United States.

Respectfully submitted,

GUY E. LOGAN, Adjutant General.

APPENDIX A.

Reports of Commanding Officers, Inspectors and Officers of the Medical Department on the Encampments for the Year 1909.

REPORT OF THE CAMPS OF INSTRUCTION OF THE IOWA NATIONAL GUARD, 1900.

Headquarters 1st Brigade, I. N. G., Ames, Iowa, Sept. 10, 1909.

To the Adjutant General of Iowa, Des Moines, Iowa.

Sir:-I have the honor to submit the following report, in compliance with S. O. No. 90, A. G. O. of July 21st, 1909.

Owing to the number of reports covering the work of the several regiments of the Iowa National Guard that will be made to the Head-quarters of the Guard, I will confine my communication to recommendations as suggested to me by the year's experiences.

First.—That no company be allowed to attend camp with less than 75 per cent of its total enlisted strength.

Second.—That enlisted men absent without leave be at once discharged without honor, and that officers absent without leave be ordered before a board for the vacation of their commissions.

Third.—That companies be furnished necessary rakes, shovels, spades and light hand barrows for the purpose of policing camp; axes for cutting wood and mallets for driving tent pegs. That light willow carriers be also furnished for carrying rations from commissary store tent to company store tent, as ponchos and blankets are now being used for that purpose.

Fourth.—That a suitable wagon, designed for the purpose and the property of the state, be provided each regiment for the purpose of removal of slops and refuse when in camp, the wagon being so constructed as to guard against polluting the surface of the ground, and that the wagons be employed continuously during the entire day for removing all refuse as it may accumulate.

Fifth.—That companies be provided with water cans and slop cans, to be retained as company property. The water cans to be painted white and marked with large, black letters, "Water." That slop cans be painted red, and marked with large, white letters, "Slops."

Sixth.—That the Medical Department be furnished apparatus for testing water, and that pure water, in unlimited quantity, be supplied at any proposed camp site, before a camp be located on said sight.

Seventh.—That athletics should be controlled and held secondary to the real work of camp, and be of such a character as fits them for an aid in military training. The Field Day of the 54th Infantry proved to be an ideal arrangement throughout, being a very pleasant incident of camp, and taking neither the time nor attention of the command before or after the event.

Eighth.—That all companies be required to compete in all the military events, such as tent pitching, wall scaling and trench digging.

Ninth.—That company drills be not allowed in camp, except as extra drills. The necessary time for such drills can be had at the company stations, as well as thorough instruction in the duty of sentinels on guard.

Tenth.—A general regulation, preventing the use of beer or other intoxicants within the limits of any state camp, under severe penalty for failure to comply with same, will do much towards eliminating an evil, that while indulged in by a very few, still brings discredit upon the Guard as a body. An officer under the influence of drink, to any extent whatever, is unfitted to command troops, and in war will unnecessarily sacrifice men, and has no right to endanger lives by the indulgence of his own weakness, neither to damage their reputation by his acts.

Eleventh.—That on all drills, at the usual time of "rests," the officers be assembled and errors in drills be corrected. The failure to correct errors as they occur makes the drills often more harmful than beneficial.

Twelfth.—That officers be required to conform to regulations as to "military courtesies" and to refrain from associating, other than as their official duties require, with the enlisted men. The enlisted men, in many cases, are much more careful in the performance of all acts of courtesy than the officers.

Thirteenth.—That a trophy, of some value, be given in each regiment to the company performing the best guard duty; guard-mounting to have a value of 25 per cent.; sentinel duty 50 per cent.; and the work of the guard when turned out for inspection 25 per cent. of the value given.

Fourteenth.—That "Tactical Rides" be a part of each year's instruction work, and so arranged as not to interfere with the regular work; and that each officer be quizzed on the handling of a body of men appropriate to his grade.

-Fifteenth—It seems that the use of the blue uniform is so uncomfortable in hot weather that it might be better to use the olive drab for dress uniform and the khaki for the service uniform.

Sixteenth.—That some effort be made to supply the troops with a suitable shoe for military work. From the use of a shoe unfitted for marching, sore feet disable a large part of those on sick report.

Seventeenth.—That the Department of Small Arms Practice be put on the same footing as other Staff Departments, and the Commanding Officer of the Regiment be in command of his regiment as to rifle practice, as well as in all other matters. The Regimental Inspector of Small Arms Practice being independent of the Regimental Commander, is not only unmilitary, but injurious to discipline.

Eighteenth.—That Colonels be allowed at least $50.00 for incidental expenses in providing needed articles required to properly prepare camps for occupancy, an itemized account being required to show disbursements made.

I desire to express my appreciation of the value of the service rendered, towards the success of the year's work in the camps, by the association of the 2d Cavalry, U. S. A., with the Guard. The Squadron under Captain J. P. Wade, Troops "E" and "H," and the Squadron under the command of Captain J. T. Nance, Troops "F" and "G," were both soldierly bodies of officers and men, and their behavior such as to command the respect of all.

I desire to express my appreciation of the many courtesies received in the camps of the four Regiments and the uniform kindness of their Colonels.

With thanks for many favors received from yourself and members of your Department, I remain, Respectfully,

JAS. RUSH LINCOLN, Brig. Gen., I. N. G. REPORT OF THE CAMP OF INSTRUCTION OF THE 53D INFANTRY, 1909.

HEADQUARTERS 53D REGIMENT, I. N. G.

Des Moines, Iowa,

Aug. 30, 1909.

The Adjutant General,

Des Moines, Iowa.

Sir:—Pursuant to G. O. No. 14, A. G. O., my Regiment went into camp July 21, 1909, at Independence, and remained there until July 30, 1909.

The troops got in very good shape and camp was pitched without unnecessary delay.

The program, as published in G. O. No. 27, Headquarters of the Regiment, was followed throughout the tour of duty.

The tour of duty was, I believe, the most successful and beneficial we have had for years. I always have been of the opinion, and each succeeding "Local" camp adds to my convictions, that a camp in the territory of the Regiment results in far more good to the Guard than could possibly be had in a permanent camp.

The increased length of the time was especially beneficial. The marked improvement shows that the time was well spent. As usual, the Guard shows lack of instruction in guard duty.

The sanitation of the camp was excellent. The Jepson sinks were used, together with a scheme of Major Martindale's that seems to be very efficient.

I believe very much more good was derived from the presence of Regular Troops this year than ever before. In small camps there is the "mingling" of the men which results in great good.

The detail of ten men was a step in the right direction, and the only change I would suggest would be to make it twenty men instead of ten, as the men were not able to do all that should have been done before the arrival of the Regiment.

While there were no restrictions on the men going to town, the behavior of the command was excellent, and I received only favorable report. I feel sure that we have only strengthened our hold upon the public.

The officers' mounts were of the ordinary contract kind, which are never satisfactory and very expensive.

I am convinced that the present method of handling the supplies, both quartermaster and commissary, results in no good to those departments in the Regiment. I believe that the Regimental Quartermaster should be required to make requistions for such stores as are needed. That the Commissary should purchase such stores as he may need. This is exactly what they would have to do in an emergency.

General Jas. Rush Lincoln honored the camp by a few days' visit, which we all greatly appreciated. It is needless to say anything in a report about the Nestor of the Iowa Guard. His knowledge of military matters has been so long at the disposal of the lowa Guard, we have never, I believe, fully appreciated our good fortune.

Captain Charles Lincoln, on duty with us, deserves the thanks of the entire Regiment. From the minute he arrived in camp, which was on the first day, he was busy every minute in instructing and teaching officers and men, and whatever progress we may have made during the tour is largely traceable to his efforts. If we could get him detailed permanently to the Iowa Guard it would result in untold good. That he has the faculty to inspire others with his enthusiasm is a very great factor in his favor. I personally am under great obligations to Captain Lincoln for his constant advice, suggestions and help.

Major J. A. Olmsted was with us for a short period and, as usual, was kept busy answering questions.

Captain John Wade and the officers under him were helpful and considerate, and, outside of the great benefit derived, it was a real pleasure to have them with us. That we were fortunate in their being detailed goes without saying.

Colonel E. E. Lucas' presence during the entire camp was necessary and duly appreciated.

His Excellency, the Governor, accompanied by his Staff, reviewed the Troops one day during the tour.

Without specifically mentioning any one of the various Department Heads, I wish to say that each one performed his part in a manner creditable to himself and to the entire satisfaction of the Regimental Commander.

In conclusion I wish to thank your Department, General, for its interest, help and many courtesies during the past year.

I inclose reports from Major Martindale, Captain Evans and Captain Sanders, which I wish to incorporate and make a part of this report. Their recommendations and suggestions are concurred in with one exception, and that is the matter of the urinals devised by Major Martindale. They are, in my opinion, superior to anything I have seen. 1 am,

Very respectfully, H. A. ALLEN, Col. 53d Regt Infty., I. N. G.

OFFICE OF THE QUARTERMASTER 53D INFANTRY.

Cedar Rapids, Iowa. August 8, 1909.

Colonel Hubert A. Allen, Des Moines, Iowa.

Sir:—In accordance with your order made to me verbally, I submit report of the workings of my department at this year's encampment of our Regiment. As has been the custom of late years, with one exception, all contracts for supplies, articles and persons hired were made from the Adjutant General's Department. No copies of contracts were furnished me nor were they made out or signed for some time after the encampment began.

This caused much confusion. I was not only unfamiliar with the provision of the contracts and the contractors, but the contractors did not know what was required of them and from whom to take orders.

The camp equipage was waybilled to an employee of the Adjutant General's Department who was on hand with two assistants. After the encampment the stores were turned over to him for shipment.

The detail of ten men, which was made by General Orders, not being ordered to report to anyone in particular, was used by the detail from the Adjutant General's Office most of the day. A similar detail should have been made to report to the Quartermaster and used to get grounds in order, dig sinks, etc.

The tentage was issued and returned this year without the unnecessary checking of numbers required in former years. This was what caused the delay in loading last year at Fort Riley, for which we were severely criticised by the inspector.

A modified form of the Jepson sink was used and was criticised by medical and other officers on account of the liability of the cloth side becoming torn and flies allowed to enter. This could be easily remedied by digging the pits smaller and nailing a skirting board at the bottom so the men could stick their heels through it. As it was, it was a great improvement over any other system, or lack of system, I have ever seen at any of our State Encampments.

The urinals used by the Jepson system were removed and replaced by an invention of Major Martindale. This consisted of galvanized iron stovepipe with hopper top and hinged cover set in a hole made by a post-hole auger. While this met with the approval of the officer who criticised the sink, it was a complete failure. Only two were used for a Battalion and would not accommodate enough men at one time. Before the tour was over the holes were full and ground around them saturated. They are too expensive to use for only one tour of camp and become too badly polluted to handle or ship with other stores. They do not pack well and are easily damaged.

The garbage can with perforated bottom was a failure at this camp as the subsoil would not carry off the liquid. Sufficient lids were not furnished. They should have stands with suitable hole over the hole in the ground to carry off the liquid. A number of the water cans furnished leaked.

At these stationary camps sufficient lumber should be furnished to make garbage stands and benches for each company, also benches for headquarters for officers' school so the chairs furnished for that pur pose could be left at the Arsenal. They are too easily carried away and too hard to keep track of. Five chairs were carried away by companies or detachments at this camp.

Respectfully submitted,

GEORGE A. EVANS,

Capt. and Quartermaster 53d Regt., I. N. G.

OFFICE OF THE COMMISSARY 53D INFANTRY.

Vinton, Iowa, Sept. 2, 1909.

Colonel H. A. Allen,

Des Moines, Iowa.

Sir:—I have the honor to make the following report on the commissary office of your Regiment, during the period of ten days, July 21 to July 30, 1909.

I received the contracts from Colonel E. E. Lucas and in due time received the provisions.

I found it to consist of a very substantial ration and the same was issued to the fourteen organizations of your Regiment. I had no difficulty in getting rations issued promptly with the exception of potatoes; which were shipped from Des Moines, Iowa, and were delayed in transit, but other potatoes were bought and organizations supplied from immediate vicinity of camp.

I would offer the recommendation that the Regimental Commissary be authorized, under order of Regimental Commander, to purchase the entire issue for his Regiment, and be held to strict accountability for same, not that he might save money by so doing, but gain experience that would be valuable in case of actual service, and, at the same time, give to the immediate vicinity a chance to dispose of different items of issue.

I found that the greater number of Commissary Sergeants of the Regiment know very little about the rations, and the cooks do not understand it much better. It is true, no hard rule can be laid down regarding the amount one man may eat, but in issuing rations for three, five or ten days, both cooks and Commissary Sergeants should thoroughly understand the care of saving and the amount to cook for daily use. Same course should be taken to have them study these subjects carefully.

Another very important matter, and one that would improve the above, would be to allow the organizations a savings which would encourage them to know how much they use and how much they still have coming in money.

The ration savings, I feel they are very justly entitled to, but I never have been allowed to pay it.

Very respectfully,

GEO. W. SANDERS,

Capt. and Comsy. 53d Infty., I. N. G.

Clinton, Iowa, Aug. 23, 1909.

Colonel H. A. Allen, Des Moines, Iowa.

Sir:—I have the honor to herewith submit my report of the encampment of the 53rd Regiment for the year 1909, held at Independence, Iowa, from July 21st to July 30th, inclusive.

The location of the camp, from a sanitary point of view, was excellent, the land was just rolling enough to have carried off any rain that might have fallen, and it was far enough from the river so that the mosquitoes did not bother, while it was not too far from the river so that stream could not be used for bathing purposes. The bathing in the river near camp was excellent, and it was very necessary that some means be provided for bathing, considering the camp being of 10 days' duration and the weather being very warm, and the camp's nearness to the river provided this means.

The water furnished from the city water works was excellent, and, , with the exception of a very few times, was ample in quantity.

The nature of the soil was such that the post hole drain for the kitchen garbage would not work satisfactorily, otherwise the conditions about the kitchens would have been most satisfactory. The latrines did not work satisfactorily, and to make this system work it will be necessary to use some heavier material than cheese cloth for the screening of the latrines, and I would suggest the use of rubberoid for that purpose.

There were three matters of more than usual importance that were forcibly called to the attention of the medical officers at this camp and these are: First—That great care should be exercised by every one, and more especially by the Captain of the company, not to bring sick men to camp. It is extremely dangerous to the command to have sick men brought to camp, and I would suggest that each Captain question his men closely as to whether they are in their usual health before they start for camp, and if ary man complains, that he be sent to the local examining surgeon for an examination before he be taken to camp. This is of more importance providing the man complains of a fever, as he may be in the initial stages of typhoid fever, and we all know how dangerous this is in camp. There was a case of typhoid fever brought to camp with one of the companies this year, and, only for the prompt discovery of this case by one of the medical officers, we might have started an epidemic. This man was sick and did not feel able to go to camp before he started.

It is very evident to my mind that men are passed for the company that are not capable of doing all the duties of a soldier, and I would recommend that greater care be exercised in the selection of recruits.

I would recommend that the Surgeon of each Regiment be given a small amount of money to be expended for medical supplies under such restrictions as the Adjutant General may prescribe, the object being to make the command in every way independent and prepared to take care of themselves at all times.

We were considerably handicapped at this camp by a lack of medical supplies and hospital equipment, and if there had been any sickness it would have been necessary to get these things from Des Moines. This material should be kept by each Surgeon at his home station.

It is my opinion that it is best to get the sick away from the well as soon as possible, and to do this it is necessary that the local hospitals be made use of to care for the sick, and I would recommend that authority be given to the medical officers to make use of these local hospitals, when necessary, to get the sick out of camp.

I would recommend that the headquarters' mess and kitchen be screened. I do this from a sanitary point of view and that the life of the Colonel of a regiment may never be exposed to unnecessary danger, and I believe that the unscreened kitchen and mess is an unnecessary danger. I have noticed that the mess and kitchens of the officers in the regular service are generally screened.

I wish to commend the idea of holding camps near to small towns as the morals of the men seem to be so much better at such places. This year there did not seem to be the usual amount of drinking at camp and it was the only exception where there was not a single case of drunkenness treated by the medical officers.

The health of the command was excellent, and, with the exception of the three cases of sickness brought to camp that should not have been brought, there was no case of sickness in camp. Of course there were some trivial complaints and several cases of slight injuries due partially to the athletic contests that were held.

It is my opinion that this was one of the best camps that this Regiment has ever held and would bear repetition.

Respectfully submitted,

E. L. MARTINDALE,

Major and Surgeon, M. C., I. N. G.

REPORT OF THE CAMP OF INSTRUCTION OF THE 53d INFANTRY, 1909.

Chariton, Iowa, Aug. 10, 1969.

The Adjutant General.

Des Moines, Iowa.

Sir:—I have the honor to submit the following report upon the encampment of the 53d Regiment, Iowa National Guard, at Independence, Iowa, from July 21 to 30, 1909.

In accordance with Special Orders No. 122, your office, I attended the above mentioned encampment on the dates given.

The general order from Regimental Headquarters directing details of assembling and daily routine is inclosed herewith.

ARRIVAL AT CAMP GROUNDS.

The first company reached camp at 8:30 A. M., and the last company at 3:30 P. M. The tents were issued to companies immediately upon arrival in camp. Many of the companies had never used the conical wall tent, consequently the tents were pitched with great difficulty and with varying intervals so the camp did not present a regular appearance. Many of the companies were slow in drawing rations and it was late in the day before the men were served their dinner.

CAMP SANITATION.

An attempt was made to carry out Major Jepson's, 56th Infantry, method for disposal of kitchen waste (as described in Major Boughton's report for 1908) and in this instance proved unsatisfactory, the drainage was poor and in all instances the waste water quickly flooded the ground in the vicinity of garbage cans. Any system of this kind would undoubtedly cause sickness in a camp of long duration unless proper subsoil is reached. To be practical, any method adopted must not depend upon a certain kind of soil, which is undoubtedly the case in the Jepson method.

The latrines were also constructed on the Jepson model and were fairly satisfactory. The police of camp, kitchens, etc., was excellent, but, due to above mentioned trouble with garbage cans, a great deal of lime was used.

COOKS, RATIONS.

All of the troops had regularly enlisted cooks. I inspected the mess of the different organizations several times and found them excellent in every respect.

The rations were issued on regular returns but no savings were permitted. This seems to me to be a mistake as the use of the ration is important and the quartermaster sergeants and cooks should be trained in the proper handling of same.

ATTENDANCE.

The attendance of enlisted men at the camp was very small, one company having only twenty-eight (28) enlisted men present.

Consolidated morning report is inclosed herewith. Some method must be devised to increase enlistments and a greater interest in the Guard. It is important and the public must be educated to take an interest in the welfare of the Guard.

BAND:

The band had its full number of men present and is an excellent organization.

GUARD DUTY.

The first two formations for guard mount were ragged but after that the improvement was marked and the last two or three were well executed. The men do not understand the condition in which clothing, arms and equipment should be for mounting guard; the guns of the two first guards I inspected were all dirty; after being cautioned and instructed a much better appearance was made by the details.

The officers and enlisted men are very poorly instructed in guard duty. I did not find a sentry on post who thoroughly understood his orders and duties. More attention should be given to this instruction at home as there is not sufficient time to cover it all in camp.

DRILLS.

Considering that the regiment has been in maneuver camps for the past three years the drills were fairly well executed; a marked improvement was shown at the termination of the encampment. I personally instructed the officers of the three battalions while on drill and one correction was usually sufficient.

The greatest improvement was shown in ceremonies, however, too much importance is given to this part of the work required in camp. The companies should be in better condition for close order drill when they reach camp and proper work on the part of company officers would accomplish this.

The extended order work improved greatly, the men working with snap and ginger. In all work the men seemed to appreciate the value of cover and took advantage of same in all cases that came under my observation.

The officers also seemed to appreciate the value of cover and, with few exceptions, so moved their companies as to take full advantage of same.

In all of the work an attempt was made to get away from normal formations and I believe another camp will show a marked improvement in this respect. I wish to invite attention to one company, "E," which was mustered in June 9th, and in this short time had been put in excellent condition.

ARMS, EQUIPMENT AND UNIFORM.

Upon the first inspection most of the guns (with exception of "I" company) were in bad condition. Company Commanders' attention was called to this condition, and they were instructed to have the guns cleaned for a second inspection. Upon making the second inspection I found the guns in excellent condition and feel certain no further trouble will be experienced in keeping the arms in condition. Several rear sights broken with no spare parts on hand. Most of the equipment is new and all in good condition.

The officers were well and properly uniformed.

For the enlisted men, the dress uniform was in very good condition. Khaki uniforms were in good condition, but men did not seem to have enough to keep themselves properly cleaned, part of this is probably due to the fact that the men do not take care of themselves in camp.

Campaign hats were all in serviceable condition. The shoes worn by the men were of all shapes and sizes, and in a majority of cases the men's feet would be practically ruined after a march if shod as they were in camp. This is an important item in the proper equipment of a soldier and some method must be devised to remedy present conditions.

OFFICERS.

The majority of the officers were quite well instructed and all took great interest in their work.

Discipline, however, is bad. The men are exceedingly familiar with their officers and seemed to have no ideas as to the difference which must exist between commissioned and enlisted. This is a matter of education and if men are made to feel the absolute necessity of discipline I believe there would be no difficulty in this matter.

This work must first be taken up with the officers and they must be compelled to carry out their part, if this is done the men will quickly follow. The system of electing officers will prove a great handicap to any improvement in this line. The greatest weakness in this regiment is the lack of discipline.

Companies and battalions were very slow in forming after calls had sounded. I called attention to this slowness in school and at one formation after command was sent back to camp and call sounded again a decided improvement was shown.

There was too much noise in camp after taps; this should be stopped as men require full amount of rest when performing the arduous duties at camp.

PAPER WORK.

Under the present system in Iowa the guard receives very little instruction in paper work; most of this is done by representatives of the Adjutant General's Office. This system is wrong. The property should be invoiced to the Regimental Quartermaster and Commissary upon duly prepared requisitions and they should handle and be responsible for all property.

Pay rolls should be made out by Company Commanders and all paper work carried on the same as in the Regular establishment. In no other way can the Guard be properly instructed.

SCHOOLS.

During the encampment officers' and non-commissioned officers' schools were held each day and instruction given in the following subjects: Patrols, Orders, Advance and rear guard, Outposts, Combat, Camping, Sanitation, Map reading and making. This in addition to work carried on by the Colonel and Lieutenant Colonel.

MANEUVERS.

Four maneuvers and one tactical walk were held during this time. These consisted of advance and rear guard, outpost, combat and one night maneuver in which one battalion established outposts and the remainder of the regiment under command of Lieutenant Colonel Rowell first located the line and then attacked. The maneuvers were fairly well executed, field officers being required to give regular field orders and the subordinate then carrying out the provisions of said order.

The officers were assembled after each maneuver and after the commanders had stated problem and disposition, a discussion was held and different movements discussed, etc. The tactical walk was instructive and can be made of great value to the guard.

MILITARY EFFICIENCY FOR FIELD SERVICE.

I believe this regiment to be efficient for field service in most respects at present. A few days' hard work on the part of all concerned would quickly place it in condition for any work it might be called upon to perform,

Very respectfully,

CHAS. S. LINCOLN, Capt. 2d Inf. REPORT OF CHIEF SURGEON ON CAMP SANITATION OF 53D IN-FANTRY, 1909.

MEDICAL DEPARTMENT.

OFFICE OF THE CHIEF SURGEON.

CLINTON.

General Guy E. Logan, Adjutant General,
Des Moines, Iowa.

Sin: -In pursuance with General Order No. 14, I have the honor to state that I reported at the camp of the 53d Infantry, I. N. G. at Independence, July 28th and 29th, 1909, for Sanitary and Medical inspection. The character of this camp site was possibly the best that could be secured under existing circumstances, yet it could not be considered satisfactory. On account of its topographical relations, it formed a basin for the surrounding country to drain into, especially in the event of rain. Early in the evening a heavy fog fell over the camp and hung until driven out by the morning sun. This condition naturally would be very conducive to bronchial, intestinal, rheumatic and other disorders. The soil itself was thoroughly baked and impermeable, materially interfering with proper percolation as well as the powers of nitrification. Again, it would have been impossible to have formed satisfactory drainage around the tents and kitchens on account of the uniform grade. The general policing of the camp was good; while the picket line was too close to camp, it was kept clean.

The sinks and their locations were good except that too much lime was used; contents disposed of similar to the Jepson method. Urinal tubs were properly placed on Company streets; contents carefully disposed of and tubs disinfected. The water supply to the camp apparently was of very good quality although insufficient in quantity.

The clothing of the men was suitable, durable and in all, gave a very good appearance which also should be said in regard to the physical condition, intelligence and fitness of the men for service. Their habits were excellent, and the field day exercises and like amusements tended to form perfect contentment and interest to their camp life and military duties.

The character of the food was good as well as the efficiency of the cooks. Delivery of rations and wagon trains were usually prompt. Meals were served promptly on time and in good form. The kitchen refuse was disposed of into cans provided, one for solid and one for the liquids, and carted away with care so as not to soil the grounds adjacent, although the general refuse of the kitchen, as well as that of the rest of the camp was not carted sufficient distance and disposed of for perfect safeness.

The tents could not be rolled and the ground and bedding sunned until late in the day on account of the presence of this dampness.

The personal hygiene of the men seemed to be very good; they did not overeat or overdrink, so far as I could ascertain, yet I am unable to report upon the health conditions of this camp on account of the refusal of Medical Officer, Major E. L. Martindale, to comply with my official request made verbally and in writing to make a tabulated report of sick and injured. The conduct accorded this office and General Order No. 14 by this medical officer has been decided unmilitary.

The hospital service was inefficient owing to lack of supplies and equipment.

Respectfully submitted,

D. S. FAIRCHILD, JR., Lt. Col. and Chief Surgeon. REPORT OF THE CAMP OF INSTRUCTION OF THE 54TH INFANTRY, 1909.

Headquarters 54th Infantry, Iowa City, Iowa, September 10, 1909.

Adjutant General, Des Moines, Iowa.

Sie:—I have the honor to report that in accordance with G. O. No. 14, A. G. O. c. s. and G. O. No. 6, Headquarters 54th Infantry, I. N. G., this regiment assembled at Iowa City, Iowa, on August 23, 1909, all troops arriving practically on schedule time. Troops F and G of the Second U. S. Cavalry, in command of Captain Nance, arrived at about 8:00 a. m. and at once reported for duty and were promptly assigned to quarters.

The Camp (Camp Kirkwood) was most delightfully located just across the Iowa River from Iowa City on high ground with plenty of shade and plenty of open space for all drills, there being 157 acres in the tract. The drainage of the camp was perfect and the trees being trimmed high where the camp was located gave plenty of sun and free circulation of air. Just north of this tract of ground were thirty acres of open ground which we had the privilege of using and also sufficient space for the troop horses, mules, etc. The camp, being located on the interurban line between Iowa City and Cedar Rapids not only made it easy to get to Iowa City but also furnished direct connection with all railway lines at Cedar Rapids, which aided visiting officers and others greatly in reaching camp. Camp was fully established by 6 o'clock August 23d, and the Commissary Department had issued the regular rations. The Quartermaster's Department was able to furnish tentage and all other necessary supplies without delay upon the arrival of troops. No drill or ceremonies were had the first day except guard mounting and retreat in quarters.

August 24th was devoted to Battalion drill in close and extended order and Regimental Parade in the evening.

August 25th, a very hard rain in the morning prevented company problems from being worked out in the fields. Battalion commanders were, however, required to assemble the officers of their battalions and give them problems upon the map prepared by Captain C. W. Weeks, 28th U. S. Infantry, copy of which is submitted herewith. In the afternoon Battalion drills were held with regimental parade in the evening.

August 26th was devoted to Battalion drill in close and extended order and Regimental drill. At these drills Captain C. S. Lincoln, Second U. S.

Infantry, was present and acted as instructor. His services were fully appreciated by all.

August 27th, rain in the morning prevented drill and the officers were assembled at 9 a.m. and spent two very profitable hours listening to an interesting and instructive lecture by Captain Lincoln upon advance and rear guard work, outpost duty and map reading. Governor B. F. Carroll arrived in camp early in the morning and was present at the lecture and spent the morning meeting the officers of the regiment. In the afternoon he inspected the camp carefully and following this inspection reviewed the troops including the two troops of the Second U. S. Cavalry. General James Rush Lincoln was in command at the review. Regimental parade was held at the regular hour.

August 28th was devoted to an entirely new feature in the 54th Infantry. The forenoon was devoted to a competitive drill between the companies of the Regiment. Each company was required to take part in this drill and execute certain movements which had been previously furnished to the company commanders by a circular from Regimental Headquarters, a copy of which is herewith submitted. This competitive drill was judged by Captain Lincoln and was one of the most instructive as well as the most interesting events of the camp. In my opinion, this did the Regiment as much good as any thing done during the entire tour of duty. General Lincoln, being present, made notes of the mistakes made and immediately after the drill the officers were assembled and formed into a company and drilled by General Lincoln in the same movements used in the competitive drill and all were fully explained by him. I feel sure that the 54th Regiment will not make the same mistakes in these movements for sometime to come. In the afternoon the entire command was marched to the Fair Grounds about two miles from camp and the regular program of the Regimental field meet was pulled off. The program had been prepared by the Regimental Commander some weeks before and copies furnished to all companies. There were a large number of entries in each event. Medals were given to the winners of first, second and third places. This field meet was not allowed, in any way, to interfere with the work of the camp. The men took no time off preparing for it and very little was said about the meet. Three men were detailed in the morning to prepare the grounds and this was all the work that was done in reference to the same. Each man participating in the meet was required to march with the command to and from the Fair Grounds, so that it was strictly a soldiers' meet. No entrance fees were charged for any of the events, the prizes being provided out of the amount received from charging a 10 cent admission fee at the gate. The two Troops of the Second U. S. Cavalry put on bareback drills, saddle drills, roman standing race, rescue race and a saber drill, all of which were very interesting and in fact made the big hit of the day with the citizens of Iowa City. Medals were presented to the winners in the rescue race and the roman standing race. The command returned to camp at about 6:30 p. m. This was our first experience with a field meet and I am now in favor of continuing the event each year so long as it does not become detrimental to the Regiment. I am, however, in favor of putting in more events that require special training along military lines and then requiring each company to enter as was done in the competitive drill, and cutting out some of the other events.

August 29th was devoted to inspection in heavy marching order (as per circular No. 2, W. D. D. M. A.) by Captain C. S. Lincoln, Second U. S. Infantry, the officer detailed for that purpose. This inspection was very thorough and did the command a vast amount of good. The inspection was followed by church and the Chaplain of the Regiment is certainly to be congratulated on the success of the services held. Regimental parade at the usual time.

August 30th, a problem was worked out north of Iowa City, the same having been prepared by the Regimental Commander and submitted to the detachment commanders the evening before. Major Ball with his Battalion and one Troop of Cavalry were located at O on the map with proper outposts and were attacked by Colonel Holsteen with the second and third Battalion of the 54th and one Troop of Cavalry. This problem lasted from 8 a. m. until 11:30 and was very instructive, officers and men doing fine work. The troops were back in camp at 12:30 and the regular drills were held in the afternoon.

August 31st, the forenoon was devoted to a problem previously prepared by the Regimental Commander and submitted to the detachment commanders the evening before. Major Norton in command of the second Battalion and two companies of the first Battalion and one Troop of Cavalry was given the problem of reaching the point J upon the map from the point H. Major Hollowell in command of the third Battalion, two companies of the first Battalion and one Troop of Cavalry was given the problem of protecting the road between H and J and especially the point J. Troops left camp at 7 a.m., the problem was over and the troops back in camp at 11:30 a.m. The work done by all of the troops in this problem was exceptionally fine. The work of the Cavalry being extraordinarily good as there was some opportunity given this branch to display its usefulness. The afternoon was devoted to Regimental Drill and outpost duty by Battalions.

September 1st was devoted to breaking camp, the troops leaving camp upon schedule time.

Latrines were prepared in advance of the arrival of the troops under the directions of the Regimental Commander and Major C. S. Grant of the Medical Department. Same were covered with board frames and lids. A disinfectant secured from the Shrader Drug Co., of Iowa City, Iowa, was used in the latrines and to spray around the kitchen. This preparation is, in my opinion, the best that has ever been used by the Iowa National Guard, and I certainly recommend its use in the future. First Lieutenant H. L. Husted of the Medical Department was detailed as sanitary officer and had direct charge of the sanitary conditions of the camp. This officer proved most faithful in his attention to duty, and I take great pleasure in reporting that the sanitary conditions were first-class in all respects but one, and that one was the wet slops. The command was furnished with bucket screens and post-hole diggers for wet slops. This system was an absolute failure, the same might be used in sandy soil but, in my opinion, it will never be satisfactory in high, hard dry soil. I, therefore, recommend in the future that two cans be furnished each company, one for dry slop and the other for wet and that proper arrangements be made for the emptying of the same.

School was held regularly each afternoon at 1:15 as per schedule attached, and at the same time the Medical Department delivered lectures to the enlisted men of each company as to the use of first aid packets, sanitary conditions, etc. I find this a very satisfactory method of imparting desirable information to the enlisted men and I recommend a continuance of the same. This system of instruction was suggested by Major C. S. Grant of the Medical Department.

I find that the correspondence school which I have been conducting in this Regiment has greatly increased the efficiency of the non-commissioned officers, and I expect to continue the same during the coming year.

The discipline of the entire command was first-class in all respects. The men were allowed to leave camp every night and no particular restrictions were placed upon them, except, that they return quietly to camp at the proper time. No arrests were made by the police in Iowa City and none were made by the provost guard; absolutely no complaints were made by the citizens of Iowa City and the command has been invited to again camp at this place. In fact a number of citizens have asked what they could do to secure the encampment of the 54th Regiment next year.

The short service with the Regiment of Captain C. S. Lincoln, Second U. S. Infantry, was most helpful and fully appreciated by all. The only regret of the Regiment is that Captain Lincoln was not able to be with us during the entire tour of duty.

It was a pleasure to the officers and men of the Regiment to have the Brigade Commander, General James Rush Lincoln, in camp for a few days. His years of experience, study and thought along military lines qualify him fully for giving advice and making suggestions, and his help was fully appreciated by all of the officers of this Regiment.

I wish to express my appreciation of the many courtesies extended by you and by Colonel Lucas and others of the Adjutant General's office.

I wish also to express my appreciation of your efforts in securing Troops F and G Second U. S. Cavalry, for this tour of duty with my Regiment. I believe these are two of the finest Troops, both officers and men, that I have ever come in contact with, and regret that they are going to leave for the Island this winter, as I should like very much to have them in camp with my Regiment next year.

Respectfully,

R. P. HOWELL, Colonel 54th Infantry, I. N. G. REPORT OF THE CAMP OF INSTRUCTION OF THE 54TH INFANTRY, 1909.

Fort Leavenworth. Kansas. Sept. 11, 1909.

The Adjutant General,

Des Moines, Iowa.

Sir:—I have the honor to submit the following report upon the encampment of the 54th Regiment, Iowa National Guard, at Iowa City, Iowa, from August 25th to 29th, 1909.

In accordance with S. O. No. 122, your office, I attended the above mentioned encampment on the dates given.

The general orders from Regimental Headquarters directing details of assembling and daily routine are inclosed herewith.

The regiment went into camp on the 23d, while I was on duty at West Okoboji, and I am therefore unable to report upon this part of the work.

CAMP SANITATION.

The camp sanitation was very good.

The rears were enclosed with wood, and condition was excellent; absolutely no flies entering them.

COOKS-RATIONS.

Same as given in report of 55th Infantry.

ATTENDANCE.

The attendance at camp was the largest of any Regiment in the State, during the annual encampment. Smallest company had 31 enlisted, while four companies had over 50 men present. Consolidated morning reports are inclosed herewith.

BAND.

The band is an excellent one.

GUARD DUTY,

Guard duty was performed by details from the several companies; the ceremony was very well executed, but guns, clothing and equipment were in bad condition.

I did not remain long enough with the regiment to see whether any improvement resulted from my instruction as to the condition, etc., of said equipment.

DRILLS.

Company work in both close and extended order was very good.

The regiment is quite well instructed in regimental and battalion drills.

ARMS, EQUIPMENT AND UNIFORM.

My remarks in report on the 53d Infantry apply to this regiment.

OFFICERS.

This regiment has a splendid body of officers, well instructed, and all take great interest in their work.

DISCIPLINE.

The discipline in this regiment is excellent, by far the best in the Iowa National Guard.

With the exception of one day the companies formed promptly at assembly, and this attention to duty was shown in all cases that came under my notice.

PAPER WORK.

Same as report for 55th Infantry,

SCHOOLS.

See report on 56th Infantry.

I wish to call attention to method used by Colonel Howell in instructing the non-commissioned officers of the regiment during the winter months. A system of questions is gotten up at Regimental Headquarters and copy of same sent to each non-commissioned officer, who is required to submit answers to same, in his own handwriting, within a certain time. This seems to have produced excellent results. Copy of questions inclosed herewith

MANEUVERS.

No maneuvers were held during the four days I was in camp, but two were to be held on the 30th of August and 1st of September.

A tactical ride was held on the 27th, and the officers seemed to take great interest in it and entered into the spirit of it in a very commendable manner.

MILITARY EFFICIENCY FOR FIELD SERVICE,

This regiment is in good condition for field service, and any General Officer would be fortunate to have it in his command.

Very Respectfully,

CHAS. S. LINCOLN, Captain 2d Infantry. REPORT OF CHIEF SURGEON ON CAMP SANITATION OF 54TH IN-FANTRY, 1909.

MEDICAL DEPARTMENT. OFFICE OF THE CHIEF SURGEON. CLINTON.

GENERAL GUY E. LOGAN,

Adjutant General,

Des Moines, Iowa:

Sir:—In pursuance with General Order No. 14, I reported at the camp of the 54th Regiment at Iowa City, Aug. 27th and 28th, 1909, to make a sanitary and medical inspection of the Regiment on duty. The character of camp site was very good; while drainage was not of the best, the soil was extra good. The ground was very wet, however, due to heavy rains, and the general appearance somewhat influenced by unfavorable conditions. General policing maintained in a satisfactory manner; the picket line established at an ample distance from camp to avoid any possible danger, at the same time being well policed. The sinks were located at safe distance from Camp and contents disposed of according to Jepson method, but were not kept quite as clean as they should have been, and the contents were exposed to the outside through improper protection to the sides of the seats and insufficient quantity of dirt regularly thrown in to cover the ejecta. The water supply was sufficient in amount and of high quality.

Clothing was very suitable, durable, well fitting, giving a very fine appearance. Physical condition, contentment and habits of the men were excellent, and men were in excellent condition for service.

Character of food was suitable, cooking satisfactory, plenty of rations and delivered in order, hours of meals regular and prompt. The solids of kitchen garbage were carted away carefully and disposed of properly; the liquid of kitchen refuse poured into post holes and on account of the wet condition of the ground was not absorbed as readily as might be desired. Tent walls were raised, ground sunned and aired whenever possible.

Drilling in the hottest part of the day was prohibited. Sanitary instruction in this Camp was exceptionally good owing to personal instructions of Sanitary Officer, 1st Lieutenant, Assistant Surgeon H. L. Husted, who gave personal attention and a course of instruction on the personal hygiene, care of hands and feet, over eating or over drinking when heated or fatigued, eating over ripe fruit, drying clothing and blankets and such other matters to the welfare and health of the Command. The other medical officers of the regiment gave a personal course of instruction upon "First Aid" and medical subjects of interest to the men. The Hospital location, equipment, appearance, discipline, conduct and personnel was in every respect most excellent. Below is a tabulated report of the sick and injured in this regiment:

Respectfully submitted,

D. S. FAIRCHILD, JR., Lieut. Col. and Chief Surgeon. REPORT OF THE CAMP OF INSTRUCTION OF THE 55TH INFANTRY.

Headquarters 55th Infantry.

Des Moines, 10wa.

September 15, 1910.

Adjutant General,

Des Moines, Iowa.

Sir:—I have the honor to report that in pursuance with General Order No. 14, dated Adjutant General's Office, Des Moines, Iowa, June 29, 1909, and General Order No. 3, dated Headquarters 55th Infantry, I. N. G., Des Moines, Iowa, July 16, 1909, my regiment assembled in annual camp of instruction at Chariton, Iowa, August 5, 1909.

The camp was well located on a high field which was well dained and was about one and one-half miles from the city. The lake adjoining the camp grounds afforded excellent bathing facilities which were greatly appreciated by the command. The sanitary conditions of the camp were excellent but the water was poor and of limited supply.

Guard was mounted by companies, the officer of the day being the instructor of the Guard. Guard duty was generally well performed but some of the sentinels showed lack of instruction at their home stations.

Brigadier General James Rush Lincoln was a guest of the regiment and reviewed it on Sunday, August 8th.

Thursday, August 12th, the regiment was reviewed by the Commanderin-Chief, and at his suggestion, owing to the excessive heat, the command was reviewed in field service uniform. His Excellency inspected the camp and manifested much interest in every thing pertaining to the work of the regiment.

Captain Charles S. Lincoln, 2d United States Inf., was on detail with the regiment and rendered valuable service in the field work and also in the classes which he established in map reading. Considerable talent was developed and great interest was manifested in the map work.

During the week several problems in field work and in outpost and patrol duty were performed by the command which proved to be very instructive.

The residents of Chariton and vicinity were keenly interested in the work of the troops and were very courteous to the members of the regiment.

Troops H and E and a machine gun platoon of the 2d United States Cavalry were on duty during the camp; the gun platoon gave a number of interesting exhibitions and assisted in the field work of the week.

The enlisted men were comfortably and safely quartered in conical tents, but the wall tents were in bad condition and unserviceable in inclement weather.

I am keenly appreciative of the many courtesies shown my regiment by you and others in your department.

Very respectfully,

ERNEST R. BENNETT, Colonel 55th Inf., I. N. G. REPORT OF THE CAMP OF INSTRUCTION OF THE 55TH INFANTRY, 1909.

Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, September 5, 1909.

The Adjutant General,

Des Moines, Iowa.

Sir:—I have the honor to submit the following report upon the encampment of the 55th Regiment, Iowa National Guard, Lieutenant Colonel Bennett, Commanding, at Chariton, Iowa, from August 5th to 14th, 1909.

In accordance with S. O. No. 122, your office, I attended the above mentioned encampment on the dates given.

The general order from Regimental Headquarters directing details of assembling and daily routine is inclosed herewith.

ARRIVAL AT CAMP GROUNDS.

The first company to reach camp was from Chariton and had pitched camp and had mounted guard before I reached there. The remaining eleven companies reached Chariton on a special train, detrained there at 1:30 o'clock p. m. and marched about two miles to the camp site. Camp was made during a rain; the men worked rapidly and well, and in a very short time the men were under canvas. Rations were drawn promptly and the evening meal was served before dark.

CAMP SANITATION.

The camp sanitation was excellent; kitchens during the latter part of camp were as good as I have ever seen.

Some trouble was experienced with the rears but results obtained were very satisfactory.

COOKS-RATIONS.

All of the companies had regularly enlisted cooks. The mess of the different organizations was excellent. No savings were permitted as stated in report on 53d Infantry.

ATTENDANCE.

The attendance at camp was small, one company, "C," having only 28 enlisted present, and largest company 45.

Consolidated morning reports are inclosed herewith. My previous remarks as to attendance apply here.

BAND.

The band had its full number of men present. It is a new organization, and, considering the time it had to prepare for camp, was in very good condition.

GUARD DUTY.

Guard duty was performed by company. The ceremony of guard mount improved each day but men did not have arms, equipment or clothing in proper condition for inspection.

They were instructed as to this and some improvement resulted. The remarks as to manner of performing guard duty in my report on the 53d Infantry apply to this regiment.

DRILLS.

Company work in both close and extended order was ragged at first, but satisfactory improvement was shown during camp.

This regiment is very well instructed in regimental, battalion and extended order drill.

The troops made good use of cover in all deployments.

ARMS, EQUIPMENT AND UNIFORMS,

My remarks in report on 53d Infantry apply to this regiment.

OFFICERS.

The majority of the officers were well instructed and all took great interest in their work.

DISCIPLINE.

The discipline is very good, proper military courtesy being shown. There was very little mixing of officers and enlisted men at camp after their attention had been called to necessity of such separation.

Companies were slow in forming during first part of camp but this was also quickly changed after correction. There was very little noise in camp after taps.

PAPER WORK.

In this camp the Quartermaster and Commissary had the work of their departments to carry out and the work was done in a very satisfactory manner.

Pay rolls were made out by representatives of the Adjutant General's Department, as was the case in all of the regiments.

SCHOOLS.

See report on 53d Infantry.

MANEUVERS.

The regiment had the following maneuvers during camp: Attack and defense of position August 9th. Advance and rear guard action August 10th. Outpost and patrol work nights of August 11th and 12th. The maneuvers were fairly well executed, especially the outposts and patrol work.

Field orders were issued by the Commanders and the necessity for clear and concise orders being given was shown by the faulty dispositions which were made under the orders issued.

The officers were assembled after each maneuver, problems and disposition stated, and a discussion held covering errors, etc., made during solution of the problem.

MILITARY EFFICIENCY FOR FIELD SERVICE.

This regiment is in good condition for field service.

Very respectfully,

CHAS. S. LINCOLN,

Capt. 2d Infantry

REPORT OF CHIEF SURGEON ON CAMP SANITATION OF 55TH IN-FANTRY, 1909.

MEDICAL DEPARTMENT. OFFICE OF THE CHIEF SURGEON. CLINTON.

General Guy E. Logan,

Adjutant General,

Des Moines, Iowa.

Sir: - In pursuance with General Order No. 14, I reported at the camp of the 55th Infantry, I. N. G., Chariton, August 11th and 12th, 1909, to make Sanitary and Medical inspection of that Regiment. The camp site was excellent in every respect commanding an excellent view of surrounding country, afforded natural drainage by its gradual slope, fog and dampness did not occur. Beyond the distance of possible contamination from camp drainage and refuse, a lake supplied by deep natural springs offered great opportunity for bathing and swimming purposes, indeed of much benefit and value in maintaining health to the command. The natural condition of the soil was not good in its power of absorption and nitrification. General placing of the camp was excellent and the same degree of care exercised in establishing a picket line as was the disposition of the stable refuse. Location of sinks was at a suitable distance from the camp; the character and care around these was given very close attention; seats and all were scrubbed thoroughly and often with creolin; the plan and disposition of contents adopted being a slight modification of the Jepson method; too much lime, however, was used. The water supply was adequate, but of poor quality, it being filled with sediment, producing a great deal of gastro-intestinal disturbance, in fact, causing twice as much disability as all other diseases and accidents combined.

Clothing was suitable and durable, and under the circumstances, under the extreme hot weather, gave a very fair apearance. The men appeared in good physical condition, high degree of intelligence, contented, good habits and in the best condition for service.

The character and method of cooking was very good, due in great part to the course of lectures given by the medical men of this regiment and their efforts to see that their instructions were carried out. Rations were delivered promptly and the meals were served in good order on prompt time. Kitchens were furnished with two waste cans; one for solids and the other for liquids. Garbage was picked up carefully and carted at a safe distance and disposed of well enough for a camp of one week or ten days. Companies were not supplied with screens or mess tents. Tent walls were raised systematically and the ground sunned and aerated in a satisfactory manner.

Drills and marches were prohibited during the hottest hours of the day. Personal attention was given by the medical officers of the Regiment to the personal hygiene of the men, to the care of hands and feet, to over eating or over drinking when heated or fatigued, and the drying of clothing and blankets. Medical officers gave a course of instruction one hour each to all matters pertaining to personal hygiene, sanitation, first aid to the injured, and such other matters of interest as would be beneficial in keeping their health, as is shown by the following sick report made by Surgeon, Major Wilbur S. Conkling. Hospital Corps exteremely efficient, well drilled, excellent discipline, competent, well equipped mentally and physically to meet their requirements. Hospital, orderly, neat, clean and well equipped with supplies to meet any emergency which might arise.

The following are the number of sick in each Company: Co. A, 3; Co. B, 2; Co. C, 4; Co. D, 13; Co. E, 1; Co. F, 3; Co. G, 1; Co. H, 3; Co. I, 5; Co. K, 5; Co. L, 1; Co. M, 4; Hosp. Corps, 1.

Tabulated report of diseases: Gastro intestinal diseases, 35; heat exhaustion, 4; infections and accidents, 5; other diseases (pleurisy, coryza, etc.), 4.

Respectfully submitted,

D. S. FAIRCHILD, JR.,

Lieut. Col. and Chief Surgeon.

REPORT OF THE CAMP OF INSTRUCTION OF THE 56TH INFANTRY, 1909.

Headquarters 56th Infantry.

Fort Dodge, Iowa.

September 16, 1909.

The Adjutant General of Iowa, Des Moines, Iowa.

I have the honor to submit the following report of the camp of instruction of the 56th Infantry, Iowa National Guard, for the year 1909.

Pursuant to General Orders No. 14, dated A. G. O., Des Moines, June 29th, 1909, the 56th Infantry, Iowa National Guard, assembled for its tenday camp of instruction for the season of 1909 at Brownell Heights on West Okoboji Lake, Iowa, on August 18th. Regimental General Order No. 20, dated July 1st, 1909, was issued in pursuance therewith as a preliminary camp order No. 1 and travel order. A copy is hereto attached. General Camp Order No. 1 was then issued on August 18th, 1909, as a routine camp order. A copy is attached.

ATTENDANCE.

Allowing them a loss of legislation of four on band, seven on hospital corps and six orderlies, total seventeen, the attendance for the balance of the regiment was within thirteen of last year's record; the aggregate this year being six hundred and three. Apart from the Sioux City companies, H and L, which aggregated only sixty for the two companies, the average for the remaining organizations in attendance was much larger than last year. I am pleased to say that the companies are making an earnest and, I believe, successful effort to be all well within the minimum of 58 enlisted men required by next January.

THE SUPPLY DEPARTMENTS.

There was the usual confusion and uncertainty prior to the establishment of this camp, which occurs annually because of uncertain orders and responsibilities, as to Quartermaster and Commissary Departments particularly. Items, about which there should have been no question, were left until the last moment because of the confusion and uncertainty as to when, how or by whom they were to be provided. Moreover, as long as the Quartermaster is dependent upon prosperous Iowa farmers for the doing of this work and handling of his supplies, a regiment will always be more or less at the mercy of the whim of persons who know little and care less about the welfare of the soldiers in camp, who are then made dependent upon them. The only reasonable solution in this State it seems to me is the purchase of about eight army wagons and sets of harness so that a Regimental Quartermaster may hire horses only, and hire his teamsters at company stations, so that a man is not driving his own team, and so that he may deal directly with a wagon master whom he can hold responsible. Until something like that is done, I can see no escape from the repetition of similar troubles in greater or less degree at the various camps annually. There was again some trouble in obtaining sufficient water supply, without great labor, and it was only due to work done, in advance of the coming of the regiment, by Lieutenant Glenn, at my direction, that we were at all able to secure a sufficient water supply. This could also have been better if the Quartermaster's Departmen had furnished sufficient, clean water cans for the Regiment's use. To repair this shortage, cans were ordered made, and thereafter no trouble was experienced. In breaking camp the Quartermaster's Department, as I understand it, established a record for quick and orderly delivery of supplies. The report and recommendations of the Quartermaster are attached, and I ask that consideration be given his recommendations.

The work of the Commissary's Department is fully set out in the report of the Commissary hereto attached, and this officer is to be commended in the way his department was handled, particularly, as this was his first camp as Regimental Commissary. A part of his expedition and smoothness in handling his work was due to the fact that he provided himself with sacks, etc., so that the issue for each company was prepared and ready for use at issue call. The rations furnished were ample and of good quality. I ask that special attention be given to the suggestions and recommendations of Captain Starr as to the work of his department.

DISCIPLINE.

The general discipline of the command was excellent. A provost, in charge on alternate days of Captains Williams and Bailey, at the various points of attraction about the lake served as a complete deterrent to even boisterous conduct. The chief criticism as to the discipline this year must be as last, viz: the occasional lack of promptness on the part of some in the responses to calls, and this, I am sorry to confess, applies more to officers than enlisted men. Unless our guard officers can effectively mend their ways in this, the guard will never exist as a thoroughly disciplined organization, and sooner or later such officers are bound to reap exactly what they sow. It must be understood that this criticism does not apply to all officers, for there are many free from this fault.

THE CAMP.

The tentage was ample and good. The camp was located on rolling ground, easy of drainage if there had been rain, which there was not. The camp was also within a quarter of a mile of an excellent bathing beach of which the men took advantage daily, so that, even with a hard program of work, I believe the men came away better physically for their tour of duty. Major Jepson being absent in Europe as a delegate to the International Association of Military Surgeons convention, the medical and sanitation work was directly in charge of Captain F. J. Murphy, who was the assistant surgeon of this regiment during the Spanish-American War, and who, therefore, understood well the care of the men and the general camp sanitation, to which he gave continual attention. Leaky garbage cans made more care necessary, but I believe it is fair to say that the camp from beginning to end was thoroughly clean. I personally rode the rounds of the kitchens several times a day, often immediately after mess hours, and, even then, they were so well cared for that I think it is a fair comment to say that the company quartermaster sergeants and cooks of our guard are to be commended for the steady improvement shown in this line.

CARE OF THE MEN.

That the company commanders, nearly all of whom have had less than two years' service as such, are beginning to appreciate fully what I have always considered to be the first duty of a company commander, namely, the care of their men, was very apparent in this camp by the watchfulness exhibited by them at all times. One gratifying circumstance which showed the acquirement of this important knowledge, as well as foresight on their part, was the fact that ten of the eleven company commanders who might have had possible need for rations on their travel to camp had so provided their companies. There had also been more attention to the question of shoes, and from the complaints of sore feet here and there throughout the regiment, which, when traced down, were found to be entirely the result of improper shoeing in disregard of such advice, it was evident that less care in this one thing by the company commanders would quickly have made that matter a serious proposition. A promised shoe allowance before another camp should entirely relieve the company commander of that one care.

CLOTHING.

A particularly bright spot in the care of clothing appeared in this regiment this year, when Company B appeared, to a man, at the last evening's parade, with their khaki clothing thoroughly cleaned and scrubbed. The excelent example set should be followed by the men of every company. With two pair of khaki breeches now available for every enlisted man of the guard, by isue, and with plenty of soap and water available for cleaning the leggings, there is no longer any reason for guard troops appearing at any time on parade or inspection in a field uniform that is not clean.

On the Sunday morning inspection two companies only had practically every man in a clean outfit, and the remainder ranged from that to nearly all in dirty clothing. The latter is a condition for which the officers of the company cannot escape responsibility.

I believe the continual complaint of Major Martin, the Regular Army inspecting officer, of last winter should be heeded, and the guard supplied with olive drab uniforms and overcoats at the earliest possible moment that the sum can be spared from the available appropriations. Until that happens, we are not equipped for service in cold weather, and if this regiment is called upon to go to the maneuvers at Fort D. A. Russell in the high altitude of Wyoming, in September or October of next year, there will be suffering among the men unless so equipped.

ARMS.

The result of the rigid inspections of the winter as to the condition of the arms, and the additional inspection by the regimental inspector of small arms practice in the spring, was plainly apparent in the general condition of the rifles at camp. They were reported by the inspectors to be in good serviceable condition throughout. It is to be hoped the company commanders follow up that condition with vigilance after returning to their home stations, because the use of the rifles with blank cartridges during the maneuvers at camp will otherwise quickly ruin them. I believe the officers, particularly, are beginning to understand not only the importance of keeping the rifles in good condition, but also the difficulty of doing so with the present arms; a knowledge of this problem spells its solution.

BOUTINE OF WORK.

It is my conclusion that a ten day camp is the limit of what might be called a "high pressure" camp, and this notwithstanding the fact that I was formerly of the opinion that we ought to have twelve days or two weeks. What I mean is this: I don't believe the men can stand a longer tour of duty than ten day camp, with a routine as fatiguing as the one put up for a ten day camp. If the camp were longer the daily programs would have to be eased up or the men would not come out with either military or physical profit. Moreover a ten day camp provides a first day for the company officers to get their camp company whipped into line under their control, a day for battalion work in close and extended order drills, a day for regimental work, a day for formations for attack and advance and rear guard work, two days for contact problems, and a day for closing the camp work with the competitive drills which show the progress made. The daily evening parade, for which the army regulations provide, gives the added needed toning to preserve the esprit de corps.

This regiment tried, for the first time, the proposition of doing the regular drill work all before noon, beginning the first drill at 6:00 a.m., and I believe it is the general verdict that it is satisfactory and that the work accomplished is fully as good. The drilling in the hottest hours of mid-afternoon is thus avoided. My fear in undertaking it was that the men, released for such a long period, would break restraint, but this proved groundless.

INSPECTIONS AND INSTRUCTION.

Captain Charles S. Lincoln, 2d Infantry, U. S. A., and Captain E. A. Kreger, acting Judge Advocate, U. S. A. (both former members of this regiment), were the Regular Army Officers detailed as inspectors and instructors. Both officers worked early and late, and the instruction imparted was exact and therefore especially valuable. The advance and rear guard actions and the maneuver problem on Tuesday and Wednesday, the 24th and 25th, were prepared by them. An officer's tactical ride under Captain Lincoln was especially valuable, and Captain Kreger's work with the guard is appreciated. I am glad to be able to say that Captain Kreger pronounced the guard duty, with possibly one or two exceptions, well performed. The regiment, then, is fairly entitled to credit for progress in this important work.

REGULAR TROOPS.

Troops E and H of the 2d U. S. Cavalry, and a machine gun platoon were ordered to West Okoboji at the same time as the Regiment's camp tour, but I think it is the general opinion, both on the part of the Regulars and the guard officers, that unless regular troops are ordered for service under more definite orders than those under which these troops were sent, the value of having such troops near at hand is nominal. The presence of a machine gun platoon had value because of the likelihood that the guard is soon the be supplied with machine gun companies. Particularly was the machine gun platoon valuable in the maneuvers attempted, because it is apparent at once that there will be no condition of actual service when the disturbing and uncertain element, added by their presence, must not be considered. Their effect upon general conditions and dispositions and action was very apparent and the opportunity of taking their presence into account provided practice of the right sort.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

First.—I respectfully urge that the earliest possible permission be obtained for such organization, and then, that there be organized, immediately, a machine gun company for each regiment.

Second.—That the olive drab service uniforms, including overcoats, be obtained for the guard at the earliest possible moment when appropriation therefor is available, and particularly for any regiments that may be ordered to maneuvers in high altitudes next season.

Third.—I repeat the recommendations of last year for definite and complete regulations covering the relations of lieutenants to company commanders and the work to be done and the method of its doing, both when the company commander is present and when absent.

Fourth.—That at least eight army wagons and the same number of sets of harness be purchased by the State for shipment, knocked down, to each camp. I believe that such purchase will be economy, or not, it will certainly promote the efficiency of the service.

Fifth.—I recommend that the Regimental Quartermaster be ordered to the place of encampment several days ahead with authority to make the necessary contracts for horses and other equipment and supplies needed for the camp, and I also recommend that when a requisition is made by an officer, that it shall be honored or the officer be immediately informed as to what part thereof will be honored, and as to what part will not be honored, and as to what provision will be made, if any, for the parts not to be furnished, and exact knowledge given as to what other things, if any, will be furnished, stating the reasons for not honoring the requisition, if they may assist the officer in any way. I am satisfied that if our Regimental Quartermaster had been permitted to go ahead of the regiment with such authority he could have obtained the horse supply under more perfect control by himself, and could have obtained it for more than enough less to have more than paid his additional per diem and expense, besides giving the Quartermaster the training to which he is entitled in such an emergency, and thereby promoting the efficiency of the service which is the only object of the encampment.

Sixth.—I again recommend the purchase or control, by long time lease, of enough suitable ground on some northern Iowa lake so that one or more of its regiments may camp there, whenever desirable.

Respectfully submitted,

WM. T. CHANTLAND,

Colonel 56th Infantry, I. N. G.

OFFICE OF THE QUARTERMASTER OF THE 56TH INFANTRY.

Sioux City, Iowa. September 16, 1909.

Commanding Officer 56th Infantry, Fort Dodge, Iowa.

Sir:—I have the honor to report that acting on General Order No. 20, dated at Headquarters, 56th Regiment, I. N. G., I proceeded to West Okoboji, Iowa, on August 16, 1909, arriving at 5:30 p. m., August 16, 1909.

I immediately reported to Colonel Wm. T. Chantland. On Tuesday at 7:00 a.m. nine members of the Third Hospital Detachment reported to me and did excellent service in unloading supplies and arranging camp. Corporal Paulson also reported and was detailed by the commanding officer to assist in laying out the camp.

I found the water supply in bad shape, but finally well taken care of by strenuous effort on the part of Lieutenant Glenn. Owing to the breaking down of one of the hay racks we were delayed somewhat in getting the canvas on the camp grounds. I performed the numerous duties pertaining to the Quartermaster's Department for the rest of the tour of duty, and was greatly assisted by the Regimental Quartermaster Sergeant, who is to be highly praised for the manner in which he performed the duties assigned to him.

I take the liberty to offer a few suggestions that, in my judgment, would be for the betterment of the Guard. I suggest that the Quartermasters be present at the loading of the cars of supplies and take entire charge of them from that time until they are reloaded for return to the state store house.

The garbage cans were in a very bad state and should not have been shipped in such condition. It required a lot of hunting around to find the tents and other articles which were to be used first, and therefore delayed us so that we could not have taken care of our canvas in proper shape if we had had a storm. Would also suggest that Quartermaster Commissary officers be in camp at least one day ahead of the Regiment, and that the detail of ten men be increased to twenty; while the ten men who were on duty did all in their power, there is, I think, work enough for ten more. That the Quartermaster or some officer of the Regiment, suggested by the Commanding Officer, proceed to the vicinity of the camp long enough ahead to make the desired contract for officers' mounts and that he personally see them, and, if necessary, try them so that the officers who are to use them do not have to break them and endanger their lives by riding outlaws. Three of the horses were condemned by the Quarter-master at this camp and it caused some delay, and one horse might have caused a serious accident. The great trouble, however, is that the average horse is not used to the curb bit which is used on the army bridle. I believe the State of Iowa could save money by making contracts for teams, drivers and saddle horses direct with the owners. That the State of Iowa purchase six army wagons or drays, to be approved by the Department, to be used in our camps, and that we only hire the teams and drivers separately for same.

The hay racks we used at camp were the best thing available but it is a very hard matter to get baggage in and out of them. Would suggest that the State of Iowa also purchase one small wagon for the Quarter-master's use which will save the necessity of keeping an extra team on duty at camp, as there are a great many small articles coming in and going out of camp all the time for which this wagon could be used.

Also suggest that Regimental Quartermasters be sent, for a short period of instruction, to some regular Army Post, where they can be instructed in their duties in the field. This, I think, a very important department and should be made as efficient as possible.

That company commanders be instructed to make all their boxes in size according to the regulations. Some of the boxes which were handled at camp took six or eight men to handle them.

Respectfully submitted,
FREDERICK J. TAYLOR,
Capt. Q. M. 56th Infantry.

OFFICE OF THE COMMISSARY OF THE 56TH INFANTRY.

Mason City, Iowa, September 10, 1909.

Colonel Wm. T. Chantland, Fort Dodge, Iowa.

Sir: -I have the honor to submit the following report with observations and comments as Regimental Commissary of the 56th Infantry, I. N. G., in Camp "Thomas F. Cook," August 18th to 27th, 1909, inclusive. The Regimental Commissary, with the Regimental Commissary Sergeant, per G. O. No. 14, c. s., proceeded to Spirit Lake, August 17th, 1909, arriving in camp at about 4:30 p. m. Such commissary stores as were immediately available were ordered into camp at once, and the first issue was made August 18th, at such time as the various companies successively arrived in camp and requested rations. The refrigerator meat car arrived one day late, necessitating the inconvenience of an additional purchase, as per your order of 225 pounds of bacon for immediate issue. Each issue of fresh beef was taken from the refrigerator car either after 9:30 p. m. or before 4:30 a.m., weighed, cut up and issued to the companies during the very early morning hours before it was menaced by either the sun's heat or the fly pest. The balance of the issue was made daily, with one exception, in the afternoon. With the hearty and efficient assistance of the Regimental Commissary Sergeant and a special detail this Department was able to complete the afternoon daily issue in from nineteen to twentythree minutes after issue call. This rapid issue was in part rendered possible by the use of heavy paper bags labeled with the respective company letter, in which, prior to the issue call, was weighed and sacked the various quantities of beans, rice, prunes, coffee, sugar, etc., entitled to be issued to each company. This rapid method of issue obviated the necessity of some 60 or more men waiting for an hour or two in the hot August sun in the vicinity of the Commissary tent while all of these articles were measured and weighed; and furthermore permitted the Company Quartermaster Sergeants to convey to their respective quarters these various stores in perfect condition, free from contamination either by flies or dust.

Briefly, I may say that the quality of the commissary stores was very satisfactory, which opinion was concurred in by practically all of the company commanders and Company Quartermaster Sergeants. The difficulty experienced in daily ordering and attempting to obtain soft bread from the Des Moines Bakery might have been obviated by contract with same nearby bakery, two of which, to my knowledge, have ample capacity to meet the daily demands of 600 or more men.

In my judgment these camps of instruction should be truly Camps of Instruction in fact, as well as in name, for all departments. The "Modus Operandi" at these camps should differ as little as possible from that which would prevail were this regiment in actual service in either friendly or hostile territory. The state annually expends vast sums of money for the avowed purpose of qualifying every man in the organized militia to perform the duties which should be his in time of war, hence by what line of argument or upon what economic principle is the state justified in curtailing the powers of Department Chiefs at these Camps of Instruction and by so doing prohibit them the attainment of that high degree of efficiency to which they are entitled? The efficiency of the actual fighting force of a command must necessarily depend upon several factors-not the least among which is the sufficiency and quality of their subsistence and the degree of regularity of their meals. Under present method the Commissary is shorn of authority and burdened with responsibility. He is deprived of performing that very essential part of the Commissary's duty in actual service, i. e., the purchase of subsistence stores, nor is his requisition to the State honored. He arrives at one of these so-called Camps of Instruction in partial ignorance of many of the supplies he is supposed to issue and with no definite authority to rectify any chance breach of contract with any supply house or modify any existing prearranged plan, cause for which might, at any time, through unforeseen circumstance, suddenly develop. In my judgment, the Commissary is entitled to practical training and experience attendant upon the purchase of supplies, as well as upon the issue of same. By the withholding of that authority and power which rightfully belongs to this Department there is also removed the stimulus and opportunity for the Commissary to attain to that high degree of efficiency which should especially characterize this very important Department.

Euring the Spanish-American War the American nation pointed the finger of shame and sorrow at the inefficiency and incompetency of various departments of the Army. To successfully obviate a repetition of such conditions these National Guard Camps should be made in fact thorough, comprehensive Camps of Instruction for all Departments. Give the Commissary full power and make him absolutely responsible, and then, if found inefficient or unwilling, or incapable of becoming efficient, replace him with a better man.

I desire to say that much of whatever credit to which this Department may be entitled, is due to the efficient co-operation of my assistants here-tofore mentioned in this report.

Respectfully

C. F. STARR, Captain Commissary 56th Infantry.

MEDICAL DEPARTMENT.

OFFICE OF THE ASSISTANT SURGEON.

Sioux City, Iowa. September 17, 1909.

Colonel W. T. Chantland, Commanding 56th Infantry, Fort Dodge, Iowa.

Sir:—I have the honor to submit the following report of the health and sanitary condition (with remarks) of the 56th Regiment, I. N. G., during its stay at Camp Thomas F. Cooke, Hayward, Iowa, from August 18th to August 28th, 1909. Not a single case of serious illness developed in the Regiment during this time. Six cases were detained in the hospital over night, all suffering from gastro-intestinal irritation (vomiting and diarrhoea). These cases would probably have been as well off in their quarters, but the transient fever and griping abdominal pain was the source of alarm to officers and men who did not recognize its significance. Thirty-two other cases, including two officers, were treated in quarters for the same trouble. The sudden change that a tour of camp duty means to many guardsmen from a sedentary occupation to an active outdoor life, with resulting increase of appetite and change of food, would account for the prevalence of these disorders.

A number of these cases developed in soldiers who were not physically fit for military service. In this connection let me state that it is my opinion that physical examinations as now conducted in some of the companies are not as thorough as required by regulations. I see only one way under present conditon that we can keep our National Guard organization recruited up to the required standard, and that is to carry on officers' schools throughout the year. In this way, only, may we hope to promote interest and enthusiasm for the service. Imbued with such a spirit, officers would go and solicit the right kind of enlistments. With one or two exceptions I believe the sanitary arrangements of this camp were excellent. The latrine system introduced into this regiment last year by Major William Jepson of the Medical Corps was carried out with some modifications made by himself. In addition the urinal tubes devised by Major Martindale of the Medical Corps were set up. I believe this combination disposes of this problem in a satisfactory manner. The food was good, and its manner of preparation and care was the best that I have seen at any National Guard encampment. I appreciated the zeal and enthusiasm and co-operation of the Commanding officer of this regiment in the matters pertaining to sanitation, as well as the personal welfare of his command. His Chickamauga experience taught him that contagion spreads through the stools, and that flies are probably the chief medium. His officers were kept alert that food should not only be properly preserved and prepared, but also protected from flies. In the case of the officers' mess only, this was not so thoroughly carried out.

Regarding the disposal of kitchen waste, I believe the system adopted this year defective. Small post holes were bored out and large cans with perforated bottoms set over them. The holes were not large enough and the ground about soon became saturated and muddy. I believe such soil would become a source of danger in time as breeding ground for dysentary bacilli and other pathogenic bacteria. To overcome this defect, I would recommend that proper cess pools of sufficient size should be provided and covered, or else closed cans provided, which would permit the carrying away of all fluid and solid kitchen refuse.

Respectfully submitted,

FRANK J. MURPHY.

Captain Medical Corps, I. N. G.

OFFICE OF MAJOR 56TH INFANTRY.

COMMANDING FIRST BATTALION.

Boone, Iowa. September 3, 1909.

Colonel W. T. Chantland, Fort Dodge, Iowa.

Sir: -In compliance with your request I have the honor to report on the various tours of duty assigned to me at Camp Cook, as follows:

First.—As to the march from Camp Cook to Lakeside Farm, the bivouac and the following day's maneuver. With the first Battalion under command of Captain Bailey and the third Battalion under command of Major Johnston, we left Camp Cooke at 3 o'clock, marched through Spirit Lake and arrived at Lakeside Farm at about 4:45. The men appeared in first class condition during this march and kept up a good gait. I issued a halt order providing that Major Johnston with two companies of the third Battalion should establish an outpost protecting the command from an imaginary enemy in camp, at Camp Cooke, the outpost to be established covering the Colonel Humphrey-Spirit Lake road and two roads leading from Camp Cooke towards Spirit Lake. This outpost was established and about 10 o'clock that night I directed Major Johnston to call off the pickets on the outpost and sent the men to bed. And I am advised that this was done and the men all got a night's rest.

The remaining six companies of the command went into camp at Lakeside Farm and the work of establishing the camp was done very promptly, and in a few minutes after arriving at the camp site the companies were nicely situated for the night. Sinks were promptly dug and a small guard established to prevent disorder.

The same hours of service were observed as at Camp Cooke. The men were allowed to leave camp with instructions that they were to be all in their tents by taps. A number of them went to Spirit Lake, where they behaved themselves well as I am advised, and about 9:30 two officers rode down and rounded up the few that remained at that time and sent them back to camp.

THE MANEUVER.

At 6 o'clock in the evening I received order from the Umpire reporting the general situation of the Brown forces. I prepared an order assigning the advance guard to Captain Bailey with two companies of the first Battalion. The Cavalry were directed to cross the narrow neck of land north of Center Lake and take a position from the heights beyond to protect the advance of the Infantry. I directed the machine gun to go with the Cavalry. The Cavalry left promptly at 6:30, the advance guard followed about ten minutes later, and the main body followed it about eight hundred yards. The two companies on the outpost joined the column as we marched toward Camp Cooke. Firing was first heard at 7:15. The reports sent back by Lieutenant Garitty of the Cavalry indicated the position of the enemy and his own position; also received frequent reports from Captain Bailey in command of the advance guard, indicating that the enemy were occupying the ridge west and north of Center Lake, and with field glasses we judged that their heaviest forces were on their left. At the grove west of Cemetery Hill I directed Major Johnston to take his Battalion and march around the Lake to the north of the railroad and make the main attack on the enemy's left while the secondary attack would be made with the remaining companies on the right. At the same time I directed Captain Gantt to take the remaining two companies of the first Batalion and skirt the field south of the road and come in on the right of the enemy. My intention being to use these two companies in the attack at that point and use the two companies that had been in the advance guard as reserve. Captain Gantt made too wide a detour and actually came into Camp Cooke from the southwest so that these two companies would have been of use in the battle. The companies in the advance guard were pushed forward across the neck of land north of Center Lake in time to join the attack that Major Johnston was making. When the final attack came I held one company in reserve.

THE REAR GUARD ACTIONS.

First Action.—The first Battalion acting as rear guard with Captain Bailey's company furnishing the support and rear party, and the machine gun made its first stand at the heights east of Camp Cooke. One company and our platoon was placed in the field north of the grove east of these heights to cover their retreat and one platoon was sent to the south of the road. By the end of the problem Captain Bailey had withdrawn and was occupying a position under cover just east of the little lake of slough north of Center Lake.

Second Action.—In this, the movements were very promptly executed and the officers did not show the disinclination to leave a good position that they showed in the first action and they retired from position to position quite promptly, except, in one instance, and in that instance the blame, if any, for the delay rests upon me. Having gone quite a distance from camp, I ordered the companies to halt at a hill about two miles northeast of Camp Cooke, and from that on I assumed all the movements that we would make.

REPORT AS INSTRUCTOR OF THE GUARD.

Third.—In this matter I have very little to say except that I found the guard fairly well instructed in most cases. From an examination of the men I found that all had made an earnest effort to learn the general orders for a sentinel, and considering the guard we have had at other camps during the past few years, will say that there has been a marked improvement in this line, and it is also especially true that the officers of the guard were very active in the performance of their duties, and on the whole the guard work was well done considering the fact that most of the men that I ran across had never been on guard before.

Fourth.—I would respectfully recommend that the new plan of having all the drilling in the morning be continued with a little longer time of rest between the first drill and the second, and that the first drill be shortened somewhat. In every respect I think this camp has been one of the most successful ones, if not the most successful, that I have ever attended.

In talking with officers and men from different companies I find that the men were well pleased with the arrangements, and, while there was the usual kicking that is part of the guardsmen's daily routine, I believe that there was less cause for it and less of it this year than for any year for some time.

In this connection I have to say, that so far as my own Battalion was concerned, the officers and men performed the duties assigned to them promptly and cheerfully and seemed to have an enthusiasm about their work that was decidedly pleasant to witness. While allowing for the usual mistakes that we were at camp to correct, I think that they did good work throughout, and can say the same of Major Johnston's Battalion while on maneuvers with us.

Very respectfully,

T. J. MAHONEY,

Major 56th Infantry, I. N. G.

REPORT OF THE CAMP OF INSTRUCTION OF THE 56TH INFANTRY, 1909.

> Fort Leavenworth, Kansas. September 7, 1909.

The Adjutant General, Des Moines, Iowa.

SIR:—I have the honor to submit the following report upon the encampment of the 56th Regiment, Iowa National Guard, at West Okoboji Lake, Iowa, from August 18th to 24th, 1909.

In accordance with S. O. No. 122, your office, I attended the above mentioned encampment on dates given.

The general orders from Regimental Headquarters directing details of assembling and daily routine, are enclosed herewith.

ARRIVAL AT CAMP GROUNDS.

I reached camp about 11:30 a.m., August 18th, and found one company in camp, the remainder of the regiment commenced to arrive about 12:30 p.m., the last company reaching camp during the night of August 18th-19th.

The companies, with two exceptions, were very slow in making camp and in preparing the first meal; the latter was due to the distance company baggage had to be hauled.

CAMP SANITATION.

The Jepson sinks were used and proved fairly satisfactory. The same trouble was experienced with garbage cans as stated in my report on the 53d Infantry.

The police of camp and kitchen was very good.

COOK-RATIONS.

See report on 53d Infantry.

ATTENDANCE.

The attendance at camp was very good with the exception of two companies (H & L of Sioux City); these two companies were very small and if better attendance cannot be secured from that place it would seem wise to muster out one of the companies and let some other town have the advantage of a Guard company.

Consolidated morning reports are inclosed herewith.

BAND.

The band had its full number present and is a good organization.

GUARD DUTY.

The formations for guard were very well executed. Condition of guns and equipment same as given in my reports on the 53d and 55th Regiments.

Capt. J. A. Kreger, J. A. Dept. U. S. A., took charge of the instruction in guard duty in this regiment.

DRILLS.

The companies were well drilled in close order but not so well instructed in extended order work. However, a great improvement was shown in the latter during the encampment.

The regimental and battalion drills were not as good as the company drills would indicate but a satisfactory improvement resulted during the week.

Remarks as to the use of cover, etc., in report on 53d Infantry apply to this regiment.

ARMS, EQUIPMENT AND UNIFORM.

The guns and equipment of this regiment were in very good condition, much better than in the other three regiments I inspected.

Two or three companies were supplied with good marching shoes; the other companies were in same condition as 53d Infantry.

OFFICERS.

The majority of the officers were fairly well instructed but in several cases did not seem to take kindly to correction and discipline.

Some of the officers were not prompt in the execution of orders, and this slackness was reflected in most of the companies. Details were sent for to do certain work; they were, with few exceptions, slow in reporting, and in some cases left without performing the duty directed.

The discipline is bad, no attention was paid to military courtesy in most cases, and the enlisted men were very familiar with their officers.

I talked to the officers about the necessity of discipline but did not notice much improvement.

Certain reports were called for during camp and it seemed almost impossible to obtain same.

Companies were slow in forming after assembly had sounded. This was the case up to the day I left camp.

There was considerable noise in camp after taps.

PAPER WORK.

Same as given in report on the 53d Infantry.

SCHOOLS.

During the encampment officers' school was held and instruction given as stated in report on 53d Infantry.

One non-commissioned officer from each company was instructed in patrol work.

MANEUVERS.

Three maneuvers were held during my stay in camp; the first two were only fair in execution, the third was excellent in all respects, officers and men carrying on the work in splendid shape.

These maneuvers covered the same ground as those of the 55th Infantry.

One tactical ride was held and it seemed to interest the officers. The results obtained from it were very satisfactory.

MILITARY EFFICIENCY FOR FIELD SERVICE.

If discipline is improved in this regiment I believe it would quickly become a very efficient regiment and able to perform excellent field service.

Very respectfully,

CHAS. S. LINCOLN, Capt. 2d Infty. REPORT OF CHIEF SURGEON ON CAMP SANITATION OF 56TH IN-FANTRY, 1909.

MEDICAL DEPARTMENT. OFFICE OF THE CHIEF SURGEON. CLINTON.

General Guy E. Logan, Adjutant General,
Des Moines, Iowa.

Sin:—In pursuance with General Order No. 14, I reported at the Camp of the 56th Infantry on duty at West Okoboji, Aug. 24th and 25th, 1909, to make a medical and sanitary inspection. The camp was laid out on high rolling ground draining itself in all directions into the lake. On the west border line and extending for several yards was a thickly wooded piece of land covered with brush harboring mosquitoes much to the discomfort of the men and horses as well as objectionable to their health. A few companies in proximity to the condition were the greatest sufferers. The condition of the soil was only fair for absorption, although the ground easily drained. General policing was good; picket line was sufficient distance from the camp, and the natural conditions gave opportunity for disposal of stable refuse, but on account of mosquitoes and flies, horses were greatly worried.

Kitchens and tents were easily drained; location of sinks were in ample distance and were kept in excellent condition and contents were disposed of in a very satisfactory manner, in accordance with the Jepson method. The water supply was sufficient for all purposes and of a very good quality. Bathing and swimming facilities were exceptionally fine which were indulged in with beneficial results.

The clothing of the men was suitable and durable, and all men gave a very good appearance; the physical condition, contentment, habits and intelligence of the men were all very good and the men were in the best of condition for active service.

Character and method of cooking the food was satisfactory as well as the efficiency of cooks. Rations were delivered promptly; the hours of meals of men were called promptly ten minutes ahead of officers' mess call, affording Company commander opportunity to give personal attention to the conduct of the mess of the men, improving the service. Two refuse cans were furnished; one for solids and the other for liquids. The garbage was carted away to a safe distance and disposed of, care being taken not to soil the ground in transit. There were no mess tents for the men. The kitchens were situated at the opposite end of company streets from company commanders. Walls of the tents were raised, ground sunned and aired in the usual manner.

The personal hygiene of the men was good; they did not over indulge in eating or drinking when heated or fatigued.

Hospital detachment on duty was good, attentive to duty, willing, and showed disposition to render good service. Hospital location was extremely poor and was inaccessible to transportation facilities. It stood on a very rocky elevation, making it almost impossible to reach by ambulance, and only after a most laborious physical effort, the patient could be transported by litter. The hospital itself had no equipment, except a few cots and a limited supply of drugs, and on the whole unfit for service. It was claimed by the medical officers on duty that the equipment was lost in transit. A report of sick and injured was not furnished this office.

Respectfully submitted,

D. S. FAIRCHILD, JR., Lt. Col. and Chief Surgeon.

APPENDIX B.

Reports of Commanding Officers, Inspectors and Officers of the Medical Department on the Encampments for the Year 1910.

REPORT OF THE CAMPS OF INSTRUCTION OF THE IOWA NATIONAL GUARD, 1910.

Headquarters 1st Brigade, I. N. G.

Ames, Iowa,

November 10, 1910.

To the Adjutant General of Iowa,

Des Moines, Iowa.

Six: I have the honor to submit the following report for the current year:

In a former report I have given the results of the Correspondence School for Officers of the Guard. At an early date I gave instructions to the commanding officers of the several regiments to prepare plans for the protection of all the large railroad bridges within the districts assigned to them, the State being divided into four districts for this purpose, such protection required was for the purpose of guarding the property from damage or destruction in case of war. Colonel Chantland and Colonel Howell have each submitted well digested plans and in case of war their preparation for a very important duty will, it is believed, prove of very great value in keeping open lines of communication crossing our State.

Pursuant to G. O. No. 11, A. G. O., of June 4, 1910, the 1st Brigade, less the 54th Regiment of Infantry, went into camp near Sparta, Wisconsin, for a tour of duty from August 11th to August 20th inclusive. With my staff, I preceded the Brigade and reached Camp Bruce E. McCoy on August 9th, and arranged for supplying the regiments with tentage and needed supplies immediately upon their arrival upon the ground. The service of the railroads in transporting the troops was of the poorest character possible, both as to promptness of moving and accommodations furnished the troops.

The regiment reached camp so late on the 11th of August as to render it impossible to complete their camps as intended, upon the day of their arrival, and a half day was lost from instructive work by their being required to perfect their camps on the second day, the 12th of August.

The work of the entire tour of duty was in maneuvers and tactical walks.

Considering the fact that perhaps one-third of the officers and men were new to their positions and the service, much better results could have been reached by preliminary work in preparation for the so-called "Problems" which were to follow. The work was fully outlined for the Brigade before we reached Camp McCoy, and without any knowledge of the needs of our troops, or advising with those supposed to know the conditions existing, as to the fitness of the regiments to take up the work to be required. United States Army Officers were detailed to assist in the instruction of the troops, and they were an able, industrious, energetic body of men, doing all in their power to help along the work in every way possible, and any failure to reach the required results was alone on account of a faulty system and method.

The one "Problem" in which the Army was pitted against the Iowa Guard, like all the other "problems," stopped just at that point which requires the greatest talent, skill and experience in the officers, and discipline in the men, to attain results. The one was about to retire from its position, the other to complete a turning movement which might give results, when the recall was sounded and the troops taught by this method, that at the critical point of a battle all effort is relaxed and picnic conditions allowed to exist.

Such "problems" may show their instructive weakness some day at a great loss to the army as well as to the country. A true problem, to be of value, should show how best to improve a victory and gain results, as well as how to withdraw the defeated army from the fight without it suffering complete destruction, two points not considered in working out these "problems."

The entire tour of duty was one of hard work faithfully performed by the troops, and it is hoped much good may result from the experience. The command was fed promptly and the rations were of good quality; the only failure being in the issue of potatoes, the railroads failing to deliver on time.

The Post Commissary, Captain D. Settle, was most helpful and accommodating in every way possible.

The Post Quartermaster, Major J. T. Davidson, United States Army, a former officer of the Iowa National Guard, was anxious to do everything possible to assist and his faithful work was fully appreciated. The only shortage to be complained of was in the matter of straw, which was not received in proper quantity. It seems strange that such an article should be permitted to detract from the success of a camp, for when men can rest and sleep comfortably they will work harder and with far better spirit. And in this same line a full supply of blank ammunition in these problems, by giving greater practice in demonstrating the work and enforcing fire discipline, would be of the greatest good, and yet the whole instruction was limited and the good accomplished lessened by a shortage of ammunition, a very small part of the expense of one of these camps of maneuver.

The sanitary arrangements were as near perfect as possible to be, and with a small amount of care on the part of officers almost ideal conditions existed.

From General Walter Howe, the commanding officer, on down through all grades, to the rank and file of the army, all were anxious to assist and do all in their power for our instruction and comfort. They ably carried out the work prepared for them, and had more discretionary power been given, the Commanding General could have undoubtedly added much to the success of the work.

The health of the men was excellent, the few minor troubles being easily handled. The behavior of the men was most soldierly at all times, not a single case worthy of criticism came under my observation, and Iowa can well be proud of the character of her young soldiery. Guard duty and the observance of military etiquette could have been much improved had time been available for more work along these lines. The close observance of the rules of military etiquette is apt to be neglected on these maneuvers, as well as on the rifle range, and officers should carefully look after this matter. The loading of the camp equipage at Des Moines was of such a character as to necessitate the double handling of almost every article. This should be avoided by a proper system of loading; unnecessary and serious delays could be avoided by loading last that which will be needed first.

The arrival of the 56th Regiment before dark, although far behind its time for arrival, owing to bad management on the part of the railroads, gave an opportunity for having the Quartermaster's supplies prepared for issue upon the arrival of the other regiments.

While requests to return home before the close of the tour of duty were few from the enlisted men, several officers returned to their home stations before they were able to perform any duty of value. This is an evil that should not exist. It is hardly probable that business causes will interfere that were unknown upon leaving home. Sickness may come, but should be considered only when in the immediate family.

Medical officers should be the last to ask for a relief from duty as it is impossible to tell when their services will be needed.

Our surgeons, as a body, are an earnest, hard working body of men of known ability and experience in their profession, and anything that can detract from their known excellence should be avoided.

This tour of duty proved that some of the examining surgeons, at the home stations of the companies, do not appreciate the importance of these examinations and permit the enlistment of men unsuited for military work. In one instance a man was brought to camp who endangered the health, if not the life, of an unknown number of his comrades.

It is the duty of company commanders to guard their men from contamination by being compelled to associate with unworthy men. The return home of the command was delayed in entraining, delayed enroute, and made an extra hardship by the miserable management of the railroads; Company Lt, 55th Regiment, being sent back to its home station from Omaha, not being allowed to disembark upon passing through Council Bluffs. A foreign foe, from across the seas, could transport to our shores and land troops faster, and in greater numbers, than our railroads could carry our own troops to meet and prevent their securing a foot-hold. When 2,000 men cannot be carried from Iowa to southwestern Wisconsin, within 24 hours, we have a serious problem in transportation to consider right at our own doors. We may yet be compelled to fall back on the Missouri mule for rapid transit. If it is a fact that our Guard needs details from the Regular Army to prompt our officers in their work in camp and maneuvers, then we must admit our own weaknesses and unfitness for our positions as officers. We do need such details however for instructors prior to going to camp.

The camp should try out the officers, prove the efficient and inefficient, and then weed out the inefficient at once.

In our camps, these United States Army details should be observers, noting the weaknesses of the officers, and the duties in which the men show lack of training, to enable them to perform them properly, and thus be able upon return to the home stations to correct errors and be able to instruct to greater advantage. An officer who has a prompter at his elbow will soon become worthless and afraid to attempt to do anything.

Self reliance is the strongest and best virtue an officer can possess, and we should not permit methods which will tend to destroy it. If we cannot fill our positions in the field, when on duty, in the apt words of a politician, "what are we here for?"

Would recommend that our next year's tour of duty be in camps in Iowa, the work to be in Discipline, Drill and Sanitation, with two day's work in the service of Security and Information, with one formation, using blank cartridges, for the attack of a position, and one formation for the defense of a position. I believe such a tour of duty will result in great improvement to the entire Guard. Would recommend that troops be paid off after their return home, as too much time is lost for this purpose while in camp that could be used to much greater advantage for instruction.

On this tour of duty at Sparta, 2 1-2 days were used in going to and returning from camp, 1-2 day for payment of the troops, 1 Sunday, leaving 6 days out of the 10 for instructive work.

It should be possible at least inside the state, to carry troops to their camps before noon of the first day of duty, and returned to their home stations the afternoon of the last day of duty, leaving camp after noon.

The matter of mounts for officers is a very serious one, far too large a part of a mounted officer's pay goes to his horse expense. For a tour of 10 days' service he cannot provide himself with a mount for the same proportional amount he could for a month or a year's service. So what is a fair allowance in the Army is far from adequate in the Guard. If an officer in the army was called upon to pay at the rate of $730.00 a year for his mount, he would very much prefer to remain dismounted. The horses procured for use from Minnesota far out-classed the horses taken from Iowa, some few of the Iowa horses being a disgrace to the stables they represented, if not a disgrace to the citizens of Iowa.

On this tour of duty the Brigade Commander had no discretionary power, or control, over the character of work of his command and does not believe the tour of duty was worth the effort and expense. The Brigade has never yet been assembled for instruction as a brigade and prepared for maneuvers so each regiment might be able to support the other properly when under fire or in action. Major General, Sir D. Haig, of the British Army says: "Throughout all tactical operations it is the task of each brigadier to combine his three regiments and his brigade machine gun unit; that of each regimental commander to get the maximum cooperation between his three squadrons (or battalions). The proper chain of responsibility must invariably be adhered to, i. e., brigadiers must deal with regiments, regimental commanders with squadron commanders, squadron commanders with troop commanders, and so forth." And yet this co-operation of our regiments and battalions was expected in a command in which the Brigade had never maneuvered or drilled as a brigade, and the regiments of the brigade had not been assembled or drilled for a year. To say the least, it was an unreasonable method for the training of troops for war. All the officers and men of the brigade worked earnestly and well for the improvement and honor of the brigade and the errors and mistakes that were made were not intentionally committed, or committed from lack of interest in the work, or a desire to correctly perform any duty required.

I deeply apreciate the faithful work of my staff, who were present, for they one and all rendered most satisfactory assistance whenever called upon for duty.

The absence of the Signal Officer would have been a serious handicap on the last maneuver but for the fact that Colonel Allen, from his 53d Regiment, supplied me with Signal men who rendered most useful and efficient service with the naval flags and code, and enabled me to communicate with the flanking parties with certainty and great promptness. Capt. E. A. Sirmyer, 8th Cavalry, United States Army, rendered most efficient service and his relationship with all was most agreeable and helpful.

Colonel Lucas, Assistant Adjutant General, performed his duties in camp in a manner to interfere as little as possible with the work, and was helpful in every way in his power.

As to the tour of duty performed by the 54th Regiment I have no knowledge, as I was unable to be present during their camp, and have received no report of their tour of duty. I inclose reports from Colonel Allen, Colonel Chantland, Major Lambert, Major Hadley, and Capt. L. P. Elliott, Co. "I." 54th Inft., all of which I consider worthy of consideration. No report has been received from the 55th Regiment. With appreciation of the assistance and many favors I have received at your hands, I remain,

Respectfully,

JAS. RUSH LINCOLN, Brig. Gen. 1st Brig., I. N. G.

OFFICE OF THE BRIGADE QUARTERMASTER.

Newton, Iowa, August 22, 1910.

General Jas. Rush Lincoln, Ames, Iowa.

SIR:—I have the honor to submit the following report and suggestions on the recent tour of duty at Camp Bruce E. McCoy near Sparta, Wisconsin.

All troops and horses were late in arriving at Camp which necessarily made the issuing of quartermaster stores very slow and somewhat confusing. No stores were unloaded from cars until after the 56th Regiment arrived in camp. Quite a number of details reported for duty with the different Regimental Quartermasters, and it was very hard work to keep the details from handling the stores before they were checked. However, the stores were finally issued to the Regimental Quartermasters and receipted for.

The straw allowance seemed to be short on account of the fact that according to our weights the bales did not weigh as much as they were tagged by the Chief Quartermaster's department. I am not in position to state positively as to these weights as I had no scales, but the Quartermaster of the 55th and 56th Regiments did weigh some of the bales of both hay and straw and reported to me that they weighed short of the registered marks. This apparent shortage necessitated the issuing of more than our regular allowance of straw to the amount of $26.90 which amount was adjusted through the Adjutant General's Department.

There was an order issued from Brigade Headquarters stating the time when the Regimental Quartermasters should commence to turn in their stores. The Quartermasters of the 55th and 53d Regiments complied with this request promptly, but the Quartermaster of the 56th Infantry informed me that his Commanding Officer would not allow him to roll his canvas until it was too late to comply with the order. I know this to be true as Colonel Chantland called me personally by phone and remarked that "it was a little old-maidish to commence to take down the canvas so early and allow the men to be in the sun so long." As the result of the disobeying of this order Colonel Chantland's Regiment left camp two hours late. I found two kitchen ranges which were left in the territory of the 56th Regiment. I had them placed in the car to be returned to Des Moines with the rest of the quartermaster stores.

The garbage cans in the 55th Regiment were left outside of the kitchens. There had been an order issued requesting that all of these cans be placed in the company kitchens.

What quartermaster stores that were left unloaded until the morning of the 20th in the 53d Regiment were loaded in short time and the Regimental Quartermaster furnished plenty of details to make the labor light for all the men.

The company baggage was handled very rapidly and very orderly. This train would have departed on time if it had not been for a misunder-standing as to the baggage cars to be used and the fact that the train crew had to take the cars away while they made a switch.

I traveled with this section of the command and returned home via Davenport, arriving at 3 o'clock a. m. Sunday, the 21st.

I desire to take this opportunity to thank the Regimental Quartermasters and all the Officers with whom I came in contact for the many courtesies extended and for their untiring efforts to make the work in my department a success.

Very respectfully,

E. E. LAMBERT,

Major and Quartermaster 1st Brigade, 1. N. G.

OFFICE OF THE BRIGADE COMMISSARY.

Nevada, Iowa. October 8, 1910.

General James Rush Lincoln.

Ames, Iowa.

Sir:—I have the honor to report in regard to the commissary work in the First Brigade of the Iowa National Guard at Camp Bruce E. McCoy, Sparta, Wisconsin, as follows:

- 1. The three regiments of the Iowa Brigade were issued subsistence supplies through the Chief Commissary at Camp Bruce E. McCoy. Supplies were drawn against a cash allowance equal to twenty-two and twenty-four one-hundredths cents per man per day during the time spent in camp and on the return journey of the troops to their home stations. Against this cash allowance Commissaries were permitted to draw any amount of any article or articles supplied by the subsistence department, the only restriction being that the total amount of subsistence supplies drawn did not exceed the amount of the cash allowance.
- 2. This system as there used had the advantage of being simple and of permitting supplies to be issued with rapidity. Within an hour after the troop trains reached camp each of the organizations of the Iowa troops had been issued rations. To some extent, however, this was due to the efficient and capable work of the Regimental Commissaries of the Iowa Brigade.
- 3. So far as this system was concerned generally at Camp Bruce E. McCoy it was satisfactory. For five days there was a shortage of potatoes and two of the Iowa Regiments, the 55th and 56th, were seriously inconvenienced thereby. The 53d, having drawn a considerable supply of potatoes on the second day after arrival in camp, was not affected. Whether this shortage in potatoes was due to unexpected calls for that commodity under the system of issue used, I am unable to state. The quality of the subsistence supplies issued generally to the Iowa troops appeared to be good. Practically no complaint came to me in this regard.
- 4. As affecting the Iowa National Guard my opinion is that the system under which supplies were issued at this camp, is of little value to the Guard. It must be evident that the system can only be successful where there is an unlimited supply of each article to be issued. National Guard troops in State camps or troops generally in active service in the field would necessarily have to give up this system for one wherein the ration issued would consist of certain components for each man. Another criticism that may be stated against this system, as in operation at Camp Bruce E. McCoy, is that as supplies drawn under the system could not in any event be returned and as the organizations could not receive the benefits of any savings they might make there was of course nothing to encourage savings and no efforts along that line were put forth by them although some of the organizations at least came to camp with the intention of making an effort in this direction but did not do so on learning they would not receive the benefits of any savings they might make.

- 5. In this camp the Iowa troops were well subsisted, except for the scarcity of potatoes, on the amount of the cash allowance which as above stated did not exceed the sum of twenty-two and twenty-four one-hundredths cents per man per day, that being the cash value of the ration at that time, In my investigation of the commissary work I found this to be considerably less than had been necessary to subsist other National Guard troops that had been in this camp before the Iowa Brigade.
- 6. The officers of the United States Army in charge of the Commissary Department at Camp Bruce E. McCoy extended to the officers and men of the Iowa Guard every courtesy possible and wherever and whenever possible gave us the benefit of their knowledge and experience.

HERBERT E. HADLEY,
Major, Commissary 1st Brigade, I. N. G.

REPORT OF THE CAMP OF INSTRUCTION OF THE 53D INFANTRY, 1910.

Headquarters, 53d Infantry,

Des Moines, Iowa.

August 29, 1910.

To the Adjutant General,
First Brigade, Iowa National Guard,
Ames, Iowa.

SIR:—Pursuant of orders from the Adjutant General's Office and Headquarters of the 1st Brigade and the Headquarters of the 53d Regiment of Infantry, my Regiment went into Camp Bruce E. McCoy of Sparta, Wisconsin, August 11, 1910. We arrived in camp after dark, and, with the exception of two companies already there, pitched our shelter tents for the night. We drew our canvas and made camp the next morning. August 12, 1910.

The program as laid down in General Orders was closely followed, this Regiment taking an important part in all maneuvers and problems. The sanitary arrangements of the camp could not be excelled. The screened kitchens were an inovation that was very much appreciated. The incinerators are a great improvement over anything we have ever had in the past. The camp grounds were fine except for the lack of sod. The rations were ample and the quality good. We experienced a good deal of trouble in getting our amount of straw and in fact never did get anyways near our allowance. The problems and maneuvers seem to be especially designed to show our needs and weaknesses and were certainly a great help to my Regiment. The regular officers detailed with the Regiment, Captain Fiske and Lieutenant Cox, are certainly deserving of great credit and thanks for the interest they took and the hard work they did. Their attitude towards the work was of extreme satisfaction and of great benefit to my Regiment and many improvements which were made are attributable to their labor and efforts.

The railroads in handling the transportation were unable to maintain their schedule at any point in getting to Sparta. They put on a car for the use of Company H at Clinton that was unfit for use as it did not have one-half dozen complete seats in it. This car we refused to accept and they afterwards switched in another after a delay of about fifteen minutes. The cars furnished were old and small, with one exception, and the water tanks or coolers were small and not one really adequate for the trip and at least one that would not hold water.

This same condition obtained on the return trip, one car not having tanks of any kind. On the return trip our Regiment was ready at least twenty minutes before the scheduled time for leaving but the train was not in position for loading for over an hour afterwards.

The conduct of the men enroute to and on return from the camp and during the entire period of the camp could not be improved upon. There was very little sickness, nothing of importance whatever.

The matter of mounts for the mounted officers is one of serious trouble and a very expensive proposition for the State. I would endorse most heartily General Lincoln's suggestion of some years past recommending that the State buy sufficient horses to mount all those requiring it. No man who has a horse that is any good cares to let him be shipped over the country and be tethered to the picket line and eat his feed off the ground as is necessary for the officer's mount at most camps.

The condition of the camp ground made it entirely impossible for the men to keep their uniforms in a presentable condition for the first few days at Camp or until after the rains came.

The weakness developed in our training leads me to believe that more time should be spent on the close order drills, for I believe if the men are thoroughly trained in close order drill they will very readily pick up the extended order work in a few drills. I believe that one year in three would probably be enough to go into maneuver camps. There were many things to commend in the work of the Regiment this year and such corrections or suggestions as were made were promptly complied with and the same fault or error never had to be corrected the second time with the same officers.

There seems to be a gradual improvement in the enlisted cooks and a little more familiarity with Army rations would do wonders. There is a decided improvement in the physical appearance of the men. The work of the various staff departments was entirely satisfactory, and, with the single exception of straw, we got all we were entitled to and got it promptly. In tours of duty of this kind our time is much too limited to get all the good we could out of it, everything is done in a hurry and the officers' time is so fully occupied that outside of the time actually spent in handling their companies they have very little time with them. We should have more time to look after the details.

Without specifically mentioning anyone, I want to express my appreciation of the work of every officer in the Regiment. Each one seemed to be impressed with the responsibilities of his position and endeavored and did perform his duties with credit to himself and honor to the Regiment.

My thanks are due the Brigade Commander for his many suggestions and good advice, not only during this tour, but at all times. I am under obligations to the Adjutant General for his help and extreme courtesy at all times.

REPORT OF THE CAMP OF INSTRUCTION OF THE 55TH INFANTRY, 1910.

Headquarters 55th Infantry

Des Moines, Iowa,

November 18, 1910.

Commanding Officer, First Brigade,
Iowa National Guard,
Ames, Iowa.

SIR:—In compliance with General Orders No. 11, dated Adjutant General's Office, Des Moines, Iowa, June 4, 1910, General Orders No. 4, dated Headquarters First Brigade, Ames, Iowa, July 1, 1910, and General Orders No. 2, dated Headquarters 55th Inf., Des Moines, Iowa, August 1, 1910, copy herewith, my regiment participated in the maneuver camp at Camp Bruce E. McCoy, near Sparta, Wisconsin, August 11th to 20th, 1910.

The companies left their home stations on the afternoon and evening of August 10th and proceeded to the maneuver camp in two special trains, the first section arriving at camp at 5:30 p. m. and the second section arriving at 6:00 p. m. on the afternoon of August 11th. The train service was very poor and in consequence the regiment arrived in camp some four hours behind scheduled time and too late to pitch camp on the day of arrival. Poor service seems to be the rule of railroad companies in transporting National Guard troops. The service rendered by the Rock Island and the Milwaukee railroads was especially poor. On the return trip the troop trains arrived at their home stations from eight to twelve hours behind scheduled time. The Rock Island was from six o'clock in the morning until after three o'clock in the afternoon running from Rock Island, Illinois, to Des Moines. By reason of the late arrival at Camp Bruce E. McCoy the prescribed schedule could not be carried out by the regiment on August 12th. It seems that there should be some means to remedy such service by the railroads.

The regiment reported for duty with forty-nine officers; one officer being absent and he was convalescing from typhoid fever. Of a total enlisted strength of 742 there were 622 present, making an aggregate strength for duty of 671. The first detachment of the medical department reported with three officers and seventeen enlisted men. All officers and men, excepting one medical officer, who on account of sickness in his own family, was given leave, remained in camp for the entire tour of duty.

The regiment participated in all the work prescribed by the program issued from the Division Headquarters, excepting on August 12th. The work as laid out gave plenty of opportunity for work in the field with additional work for the officers.

The camp was nicely located with the exception that there was very little shade and an absence of sod. It was extremely difficult for the men to maintain a neat appearance in as much as the soil contained a large per centage of soot due to the frequent burning of the low shrubbery. I would recommend that if the funds of the State permit that the clothing allowance for the enlisted men be increased to include three pairs of khaki breeches. The kitchens erected for the use of the companies were a great convenience and conducive to maintaining nearly perfect kitchen and food sanitation. The rations were good except for a shortage of potatoes, which was reported to brigade headquarters. There was also considerable difficulty experienced in getting sufficient straw, but this was remedied after the second day.

There was very little sickness during the tour of duty and none of any serious consequence.

The officers and men all entered into their work with a great deal of zeal and I believe with great benefit to themselves. The non-commissioned officers of the Regular Army detailed for duty with the several organizations were a soldierly set of men and performed their work satisfactorily and with no complaint from the company commanders. On two afternoons while the officers were absent on tactical walks they were permitted to drill the companies in close order and in the school of the squad.

The discipline of the regiment was of the best. The situation of the camp, remote from a city or town, was certainly conducive to thorough military work. In my judgment the State should, if possible, choose sites for camps as far removed from social centers as possible.

The mounts furnished this regiment this year were arranged for by the Adjutant General of the State, being horses secured by contract which were properly trained for military purposes and were a vast improvement over the mounts secured in previous years. This goes to demonstrate that General Lincoln's recommendation that the State should purchase horses and properly train them should, if possible, be complied with. An officer should not be compelled to pay the exorbitant price charged for a mount by private contractors and then be furnished a horse not suited to military purposes.

Payment of troops was made by Colonel Lucas, Disbursing Officer, immediately prior to the regiment leaving camp. I desire to commend the payment of troops in camp and I know that as good order and discipline was maintained after the men received their pay as would have resulted had it been delayed for an indefinite period after the companies had reached their home stations.

Experience gained at this year's camp leads me to believe that my regiment most needs a return to a close order camp. If next year it would be possible to have a regimental camp it would be my desire to spend much time on company and squad work with due attention to the ceremonies and military courtesy and discipline. Such a camp would also permit of special work for the non-commissioned officers which to my mind is seriously needed in several organizations.

I wish to acknowledge the services rendered the regiment by Captain Charles S. Lincoln, 2d United States Infantry. Captain Lincoln's work was highly satisfactory and resulted in much good to the regiment. His personal interest was much appreciated. He has unusual qualifications as an instructor and his firm, yet kindly, methods resulted in real benefit to both officers and men of the command.

The officers of my regiment performed their duties faithfully and well. I express my gratitude to the Brigade Commander for valuable instruction and assistance, and to the Adjutant General of the State for his progressive policies tending to the general improvement and uplift in the work of the Iowa National Guard.

Very respectfully,

ERNEST R. BENNETT, Colonel 55th Inf., I. N. G. REPORT OF THE CAMP OF INSTRUCTION OF THE 56TH INFANTRY, 1910.

Headquarters 56th Infantry, Fort Dodge, Iowa, September 26, 1910.

General James Rush Lincoln,

Commander First Brigade, Iowa National Guard,

Ames, Iowa,

Sir: -Pursuant to General Orders No. 11, dated A. G. O., Des Moines, Iowa, June 4th, 1910, General Orders No. 4, dated Headquarters, First Brigade, Iowa National Guard, Ames, Iowa, July 1, 1910, and General Orders, No. 8, these Headquarters, issued July 19, 1910, a copy of which is attached to this report, this regiment participated in the joint maneuvers and camp of instruction at Camp Bruce E. McCoy, near Sparta, Wis., August 11th to 20th, inclusive, leaving home stations per written instructions from the Adjutant General's Office on the afternoon and evening of August 10th, arriving at Sparta much behind the proposed railroad schedule, at 11:30 a. m. and 3:30 p. m., August 11th. Transportation equipment furnished by the railroad company was entirely ample, but the lack of motive power, or other cause unknown, prevented the schedule being maintained even for such a comparative short distance. Returning, the situation was the same, and such inability to handle even a few troops does not argue well for any speedy chance emergency concentration that might be necessary or attempted.

This regiment becoming a part of your brigade on its arrival at the camp, I know of no reason calling for any extended or particularized report on my part, and I shall therefore make the report general, except as to two or three matters.

The general health of the command was splendid. I have never attended a camp where the sanitary conditions were better, the sandy and easily drained soil being not the least feature to help in this regard. The screened cook shacks provided, should, I believe, be adopted by the State for all its semi-permanent camps. The expense is small compared to the benefit derived in the way of keeping the flies away from the food in storage, cooking and serving.

With the exception of the utter failure of the Camp Commissary to furnish potatoes (a thing which our regimental commissary was able to remedy in three hours after General Logan, our Adjutant General, arrived and gave permission to purchase for the needs of the troops), the commissary supplies furnished were ample and satisfactory. The attempt to compel the regiment to use the haversack ration as an experiment seemed useless when more and better supplies could be had in this camp at less price. There is nothing in the haversack ration calling for experimentation and troops having to take the field will have no trouble in using it without preliminary training when it becomes necessary, and for such purpose the ration seems excellent, both in quality and compactness.

The Quartermaster's transportation arrangements on the arrival at camp were good. For departure they could not well have been worse. Where the blame lies, I do not know. I only know that wagons promised us at 3 p. m. did not arrive until after dark, and then in insufficient numbers, though repeated demands were made. Baled hay and straw were attempted to be foisted upon our Regimental Quartermaster by the Camp Quartermaster at 100 pounds per bale, when it is common knowledge to all persons in or out of the military service that they actually weigh 20 or 40 per cent less. The point I make on this is, that it is a short sighted policy for the government to permit opportunity for criticism because of such minor matters, and thereby spoil much of the moral effect of a tour of duty and arrangements, otherwise excellent. The loss to the government is all out of keeping with its gain. The Quartermaster's Department failed to remove the garbage as per its proposed schedule.

During my entire experience as a guardsman, I have never attended a camp where the officers were kept busier in actual work beneficial to them, and the fact that in addition to the regular morning work, in which the men took part, the officers then had their tactical walks, and other work for the afternoon, made the men understand that the officers were doing all that their time would permit, with the result that the enlisted strength generally came away from this maneuver camp in much better spirit and feeling toward the entire maneuver proposition than is usually the case. Many expressed themselves as desirous of having the tour extended. In this connection I submit herewith a copy of the report of Captain Elliott, Company I, 54th (attached to my regiment by detail), made by him at my request, on the general effect on the command of the performance of a double tour of camp duty in one summer. It is interesting to know that it was apparently no more difficult for Captain Elliott to get his men away from their work for the two tours of duty than any other company for one. It is also interesting to know the feeling that the men gained rapidly in their ability to take care of themselves and to do camp routine easily.

In point of instruction, I consider this tour one of the best, for both officers and men, that I have ever had the the pleasure to attend. Captain H. A. Hanigan, United States Army, who was detailed as special inspector with our regiment, is a very valuable officer. I believe by his continued insistance thereon that he personally imbued our officers with the inexorable truth that it is the Infantry's duty to fight, fight, losses or no losses; and that to fight successfully the Infantry must also shoot, shoot, shoot—that is, acquire, at the first stage of the action, superiority of fire and never to permit this to be lost at any stage of the advance.

The work of this tour shows clearly that the weakest point in the Guard as a fighting machine is the lack of control of officers and non-commissioned officers over the men in combat exercises, and, as I regret to say, this deficiency seemed to result from inefficiency on both sides, that is, lack of ability to command on the part of the officers, and lack of training in obedience on the part of the men. The discipline under fire was decidedly poor.

The next point of criticism is the same which this regimental commander has mentioned in his previous reports, namely, the lack of prompt ness on the part of both officers and men in obeying calls and orders. This is a serious stricture on an organization as a military body, but it is unfortunately, nevertheless, true.

In mentioning the criticism above I do not mean that the work is not performed willingly, because I believe it is, in fact I know it is, or there would be no guard at all, but if a means could be devised by which the same duty could be performed with entire promptness it would be a marvelous improvement. Having criticised it is only fair to add that after all when the continual rapid changes in personnel of both officers and men is remembered, it is wonderful that the organizations show the efficiency which they do, and that fact is the best possible evidence of the kind of a fighting force which would be developed in even a short campaign of actual warfare.

The number of officers and men present in this regiment in this tour of duty, to wit: fifty officers and six hundred and five enlisted men, is the largest number which have ever participated in any of its tours of duty.

Respectfully submitted,

WM. T. CHANTLAND, Col. 56th Infantry, I. N. G. Armory, Company "I", 54th Infantry, Iowa City, Iowa,
August 22, 1910

Colonel William T. Chantland, Commanding 56th Infantry. Fort Dodge, Iowa.

Sir:—I have the honor to make the following report upon the second tour of camp duty performed by this company at Camp McCoy, according to your request.

- I. Discipline improved very noticeably in the second camp, even the new recruit taking duties assigned to him with practically no grumbling and as a part of the work. The privates attached more importance to the position and authority of the non-commissioned officers than at any time previously.
- II. The men, with one or two exceptions, had learned by experience at the first camp to be careful about their eating and drinking and to observe carefully the rules of camp sanitation and hygiene. During this camp there was only one man assigned to quarters, and he was not very seriously ill, while we had eight men at the first camp who were seriously ill.
- III. As a whole the health of the company was better at the close of the camp than at the beginning, and upon return to the home station the majority of the men would have been glad to go back for another ten days.
- IV. On the firing line the men went at it with a great deal more coolness and at the same time displayed more enthusiasm and interest in the problem at hand. They had passed the point where the firing of blank ammunition was the main thing and were more interested in the solution of the problem.
- V. In short, I think that a second camp was of great value to the company and the experiment of two camps in the same season was a decided success.

 Respectfully submitted,

LEROY P. ELLIOTT, Capt. Co. "I," 54th Infty., I. N. G. REPORT OF THE CAMP OF INSTRUCTION OF THE 54TH INFANTRY, 1910.

Headquarters 54th Infantry, Iowa City, Iowa. August 15, 1910.

General Jas. Rush Lincoln, Commanding First Brigade, Ames, Iowa.

Sir:—I have the honor to report that in accordance with G. O. No. 11, A. G. O., c. s., and G. O. No. 3, Headquarters 54th Infantry, I. N. G., this Regiment assembled at Iowa City, Iowa, on July 18, 1910, all troops arriving on scheduled time. Troops "C" and "D" of the 6th U. S. Cavalry, in command of Captain Byram, arrived at 10 a. m. and were assigned to quarters.

"Camp Logan" was located in the same position and practically upon the same ground as "Camp Kirkwood" of the year 1909. The drainage of the camp was perfect and the trees being trimmed high where the camp was located gave plenty of sun and free circulation of air and at the same time plenty of shade for both men and horses. I am under many obligations to the C. R. I. C. Ry. Co. for the many courtesies extended to me in placing tanks, lights, etc., for the benefit of the camp. Two water works systems were installed and ample water was furnished, not only to all the men, but to all the horses as well. Camp was fully established by 5 o'clock July 18th, and the Commissary Department had issued the regular rations. The Quartermaster's Department was able to furnish tentage and all other necessary supplies without a moment's delay upon the arrival of troops. No drills or ceremonies were had the first day except guard mounting and retreat in quarters.

July 19th was devoted to Battalion Drill in close and extended order and Regimental Parade in the evening.

July 20th was devoted to outpost duty and to patrol work. For this work a number of companies and detachments were sent out early in the morning with instructions to establish an outpost for a given body of troops located at a certain point, the sizes of the support and reserve being fixed in advance by the Regimental Commander. Then the rest of the Regiment was divided up into officers' and non-commissioned officers' patrols, consisting in most cases of eight or nine men. They were then given military maps of the territory in which the outposts were located and informed that there were a number of troops located some place within the territory covered by the map which had established outposts protecting their positions, that the support and the reserve of a brigade would consist of six men each, of a regiment of five men each, of a battalion of three men each, of a company of two men each, in order that the patrols might be able to tell definitely the size of the command protected by the outposts. These patrols were instructed to locate these troops and gain information as to their size, their exact position, the position from which they could be attacked, the roads leading to the positions, the bridges and character of bridges, and to make maps or mark upon the maps, which they had, the exact position of these troops and make reports in writing imediately upon their arrival in camp. All of the troops were instructed to take lunch with them, and the entire day until 5:00 p. m. was devoted to this work. The work done by the patrols as in most cases satisfactory, although some men located five or six times the number of troops that were actually outlined by the outposts. The positions taken by the troops sent out for outpost duty were excellent in every case, and I feel that this was one of the best, if not the best, day's work this Regiment has ever had since I have been connected with the same. The officers and men were all enthusiastic over the work and had we had the time I should have repeated this problem later in the camp.

July 21st was devoted to Battalion Drill in close and extended order in the morning and Regimental Drill during the afternoon.

July 22d was devoted to Competitive Drill between companies and the Regimental Field Meet, copies of Circular No. 3 from these headquarters, dated June 8, 1910, covering the Competitive Drill and Regimental Field Meet have already been furnished to you. These events were very successful and most satisfactory from a military standpoint.

July 23d was devoted to a problem in which all of the troops took part. The work was over the same ground that was covered by the patrols on July 20th. Without going into details this problem was worked out in a most satisfactory manner and the troops went into action in better shape than I have ever seen them. The scouting duty was well performed and correct information was furnished to the commanders on each side.

July 24th was devoted to inspection and muster with church at 11 o'clock and Regimental Parade in the evening.

July 25th another problem was tried and while I was not personally present at this problem, the reports to me show that the same was most satisfactory in every particular.

July 26th was devoted to inspection in heavy marching order, being made by Lieutenant Turner of the 6th U. S. Cavalry, who had been detailed by the War Department to make an inspection of this Regiment. In the afternoon the troops were reviewed by the Governor and his staff. Regimental parade in the evening.

July 27th was devoted to breaking camp. All troops were able to leave at the proper time and the camp grounds were thoroughly policed before the troops left.

Latrines were prepared in advance of the arrival of the troops under the directions of the Regimental Commander and Major C. S. Grant of the Medical Department. Same were covered with board frames and lids. A disinfectant secured from the Shrader Drug Co., of Iowa City, was used in the latrines and to spray around the kitchen and also in the tents. This preparation is, in my opinion, the best we have ever used, as it keeps away flies and at the same time has no distasteful odor.

First Lieutenant H. L. Husted of the Medical Department was detailed as sanitary officer and proved most valuable in his attention to duty, and I take great pleasure in reporting that the sanitary conditions were first class in all respects.

School was held each afternoon at 1:15 o'clock and very satisfactory results obtained.

The discipline of the entire command was first-class in all respects. The men were allowed to leave camp every night and no particular restrictions were placed upon them except that they return quietly at the proper time. Absolutely no complaints were made by the citizens of Iowa City as to the conduct of the men, and while two camps have been located here, yet the command has been invited to again camp at this place.

It was a pleasure to the officers and the men of this Regiment to have Troops "C" and "D" of the 6th Cavalry in camp with us. The officers of these two troops are men of experience and ability, and we are very grateful to them for the many courtesies extended to us during the tour of duty with this Regiment. I hope that they may again be detailed for service with us.

Lieutenant Turner, as inspecting officer, made many valuable suggestions to the officers of the Regiment which were kindly received and I feel that he did the Regiment a great deal of good.

I wish to express my appreciation of the many courtesies extended by yourself and Colonel Lucas and others of the Adjutant General's Office.

I wish also to express my appreciation of your efforts in securing Troops "C" and "D" of the United States Cavalry for this tour of duty with my Regiment.

I am more than pleased with the showing made by the 54th Regiment this year and feel that this tour of duty was a most profitable one to all concerned.

> R. P. HOWELL, Colonel 54th Infantry, I. N. G.

APPENDIX C.

Reports of Various Officers Regarding Military Duty Performed
During Biennial Period.

REPORT OF THE CAMPS OF INSTRUCTION OF THE IOWA NATIONAL GUARD, 1909.

Des Moines, Iowa, September 9, 1909.

Adjutant General,

Des Moines, Iowa.

Sir:—In complience with your instructions I visited the camps of the four Regiments of the Iowa National Guard, this year, and have the honor to render the following report on the same:

I carefully checked the men at drill, both forenoon and afternoon, by count, as well as by the reports of the battalion adjutants and the company commanders, and got from the 1st sergeants a list of the men absent, by name, and the duty they were on.

The absentees were all properly accounted for. The Regiments had large daily guards, six to eight posts, which accounts for the small percentage at drills, as both the new and old guards were excused, as were also some few men on necessary detail, cooks, musicians, kitchen police, one in each company in charge of quarters, fatigue, special duty at Headquarters, in arrest, company clerks (occasionally only), on pass, sick, with band learning music, sanitary details for latrines, etc.

Captain Lincoln informed me he had been requested by you to inspect each regiment, and report to you on the same, of the arms, clothing and equipment. As he will undoubtedly render a full report on this subject, it is not necessary for me to duplicate it here. I accompanied him, and the inspections were very thorough.

In camp at Independence, Iowa, July 21st to 30th, inclusive. Average drill attendance for the ten days, 62.9 per cent. Same by company:

A. 70.7	B. 68.7	C. 55.6
D. 57.5	E. 55.6	F. 65.0
G. 67.6	H. 55.8	I. 70.6
K. 56.8	L. 70.2	M. 61.8

The company garbage cans all had wet, sloppy ground about them constantly covered with flies, that were a menace to the health of the command. The "hole in the ground" system is not a good one in Iowa. Our soil is not porous enough to absorb the water used in an ordinary camp.

I would recommend the burning of all dry waste, and the putting of the wet in a trench to be disinfected with what is known as the "creosote solution," and then covered, three times a day, with dry earth.

The new system of latrines is not good. The cloth being flimsy, both officers and men break through it with their feet, and the flies are constantly going in and out. A dangerous thing for the health of the command. The trench, properly disinfected and covered, is much safer. While the "Jepson" system is theoretically all right, soldiers will not bother to keep up repairs, and the officers cannot devote all their time to keeping the cloth in place.

FIFTY-FIFTH INFANTRY.

In camp at Chariton, Iowa, August 5th to 14th, inclusive. Average drill attendance for the ten days, 83.3 per cent.

Same by company:

A. 76.5	B. 93.9	C. 82.1
D. 77.3	E. 88.2	F. 88.9
G. 82.9	H. 80.9	I. 86.1
K. 81.4	L. 81.0	M. 80.8

The parade in dress uniform, immediately after drill, 4:45 p. m., in the heat of the day, was unnecessarily severe on the command.

The latrines were all in bad condition for the first three days, unfinished, and covered with neither cloth nor dirt. The average drill attendance was lowered by the necessary, heavy, fatigue details to finish these latrines and police the grounds.

There was a shortage of tent pins. The ground being hard, many were broken, through no carelessness, especially the sawed pins. A double allowance of tent pins should always be in every camp to be issued only as needed. It will save the canvas to have enough to hold the tents properly.

The railroads are so slow about forwarding all freight for the Guard, plenty of time should be allowed by the Acting Quartermaster General to get property to camp.

FIFTY-SIXTH INFANTRY.

In camp at Okoboji, Iowa, August 18th to 23d, inclusive. Average drill attendance for the ten days, 79.9 per cent.

Same by company:

A. 76.5	B. 87.5	C. 92.0
D. 93.3	E. 84.9	F. 77.1
G. 78.9	H. 64.1	I. 76.2
K. 74.1	L. 75.8	M. 78.1

All officers in one general mess. Too large to easily handle.

One day was devoted to company drill. Camp is no place for this work. It should be done at the home station.

Too much battalion parade and too little regimental.

The latrines were kept in good condition, but the cloth used was more expensive than lumber would have been, and not so good.

FIFTY-FOURTH INFANTRY.

In camp at Iowa City, Iowa, August 23d, to Sept. 1st, inclusive. Average drill attendance for the ten days, 82.8 per cent.

Same by company:

A. 70.7	B. 95.6	C. 81.1
D. 88.4	E. 92.6	F. 79.5
G. 68.6	H. 84.7	I. 90.7
K. 75.0	L. 86.8	M. 79.4

The latrines in this camp were the best of the four. There were plenty of them, one for every two companies, ten holes in each. They were boarded instead of covered in with cloth, and disinfected with lime and a creosote solution that kept all flies away from them.

The water supply was good; elevated tanks with pipes and hydrants all about camp making it very accessable.

The ground was ideal, well drained, plenty of shade near the tents and none over the tents.

The maneuvers were practical and instructive.

The field meet was military and very interesting.

Respectfully,

J. A. OLMSTED,

Major U. S. Army, Retired, On Duty with Iowa National Guard.

EXTRACTS FROM REPORT OF CAPT. E. A. KREGER ON CAMP OF INSTRUCTION OF THE 56TH INFANTRY, 1909.

A few of the companies carried more heavy baggage than seemed to be absolutely necessary, though in general there was little to criticise in this particular. One company had, however, reduced the baggage carried to the minimum. The company had everything required for the tour of duty and had nothing else. The baggage was neatly and compactly packed, so as to facilitate handling and also to protect the property. The baggage of this company was noticed and favorably remarked upon by a number of the officers of the regiment, so that further comment seems unnecessary.

Colonel Chantland had arranged his daily program so that drills and maneuvers were carried on and practically completed during the forenoon hours. The plan is a good one. It gives the private soldier an available portion of each day for himself and will, it is believed, have a tendency to induce enlistments. The afternoon hours should, however, be made use of to further the instruction of officers and non-commissioned officers, particularly the former. Judging from the interest and enthusiasm displayed by the officers of the regiment when a tactical ride was undertaken one afternoon, they will be perfectly willing to devote the major portion of the afternoon hours to lines of study and investigation that will aid in preparing them to handle their men efficiently in the subsequent work of the encampment.

A certain amount of battalion and regimental close order drill is believed to be necessary at the annual encampment of a regiment made up of companies located at widely separated home stations. None of the limited encampment period should, however, be taken up by company close order drill. That should be relegated entirely to the home station.

The appearance of certain articles of uniform clothing worn in the regiment suggests that some of the enlisted men must be in the habit of wearing those articles at times other than when on military duty. This matter merits special attention on the part of the company commanders.

Company commanders appear to charge themselves with a considerable amount of work that should be assigned to and performed by lieutenants and non-commissioned officers. The result is that the captain is often overworked, while his subordinates fail to realize the full extent of their duties and do not get the experience they should have.

REPORT OF IOWA STATE RIFLE TEAM, 1909.

Office of Acting General Inspector of Small Arms Practice,

Washington, Iowa,

September 13, 1909.

Adjutant General,

Des Moines, Iowa.

Sir: -I have the honor to report:

- 1. That in compliance with general orders No. 17, I proceeded from Des Moines, Iowa, with the Iowa State Rifle team on August 16, 1909, to the National Rifle Matches at Camp Perry. Ohio, where we arrived on the morning of August 17. The two weeks prior to our departure had been spent on the State Rifle range in careful instruction and development of the team under the direction of Lieutenant M. C. Mumma, 2d Cavalry, United States Army. Every member of the team worked with the greatest good faith and the improvement even surpassed expectations.
- 2. On the arrival at Camp Perry we entered a team of eight men in the Herick Trophy Match of the Ohio State Rifle Association, the course fired being fifteen shots each at 800, 900 and 1,000 yards, two sighting shots at each range. In this match we were in competition with the best rifle shots in the United States, including the Olympic team, which won the world's championship at Bisley, England, last year, and we ended but a few points below them.

We next entered the entire fifteen men in the Governor's Match of the Ohio Rifle Association against the same and additional competitors, the total number being 365. It was in this match that the Iowa team reached its climax. The course fired was that of the National Rifle Matches and the competition was individual. Lieutenant J. L. Carlson won third place and tied for high skirmish with a perfect score. Sergeant C. M. King won fifth place, and Lieutenant L. R. Schilling won fifteenth place, and we had five other men in the high fifty. The twelve men who afterwards shot in the National Team Match made an average score of 315, being the highest average of the match, and also being the highest average made by any team during the Camp Perry Matches, except the Navy team, which made an average of 316 3-4 in the National Team Match.

3. After the Ohio State Rifle Association Matches had ended we entered the preliminary practice for the National Matches, and on August 23 the National Team Match began. From the very start it was evident that there had been greater improvement in rifle shooting in the United States since last year than had even been witnessed before in the same length of time. Notwithstanding this great advancement Iowa was able to finish in tenth place and gained two places over last year, which was her highest previous record. At the same time the team was not at its best and dropped slightly behind expectations at 1000 yards slow fire, 200 yards rapid fire and considerably below on skirmish. The scores in detail were as follows:

	200	600	800	1000	200
	Yds.	Yds.	Yds.	Yds.	Yds.
	S.F.	S.F.	S.F.	S.F.	R.F.	Sk.	T'1
Sergeant Frank L. Beeson	46	46	50	48	37	98	325
Sergeant Don A. Preussner	45	49	49	45	38	94	320
Sergeant Elmer E. Hildebrand.	43	45	49	46	40	90	313
1st Sergeant Joseph F. Barker	46	46	47	40	35	96	310
Sergeant Ross E. Kenyon	46	45	47	48	35	88	309
Captain Harry G. Utley	37	47	50	46	37	90	307
1st Sergeant John P. King	44	47	49	46	34	86	306
1st Lieutenant James L. Carlson	46	46	48	35	33	95	303
Captain Edwin S. Geist	44	46	46	39	39	89	303
Sergeant Charley M. King	42	47	47	35	37	83	291
1st Lieutenant LeRoy Schilling.	38	41	42	40	33	92	286
Captain Geo. L. Lawson	40	46	46	45	29	72	278
Total	517	551	570	513	427	1073	3651

This total shows a gain of 257 points over last year upon the slow and rapid fire, and the total for slow and rapid fire is 144 points higher than the winning team of last year. We also gained 400 points on skirmish, but the difference in the target accounts for part of that, while at the same time the team showed great improvement. Sergeant Frank L. Beeson's total score of 325 is the highest score of the National Match. He led the Iowa team last year, but this year he has the proud distinction of leading the teams from forty-three states and also the five teams from the regular service. He also entered the National Individual Match immediately following the National Team Match, and again made a total score of 320, winning 30th place in competition with 278 of the best rifle shots in the world. This was Sergeant Beeson's second year on the team and it must also be noted that Sergeant Don A. Preussner and Sergeant J. F. Barker were respectively second and fourth on the team in their first year. This is the signal of great promise to the new man who will give faithful, determined and intelligent work in rifle practice. It would also indicate that the possibilities of the team shown in competition together with the future development, certain to come, will soon make Iowa a candidate for first place in the National Matches.

In this connection too much credit cannot be given the Adjutant General's Department, which has more fully recognized the importance of rifle practice than ever before, and has at all times been more energetic and active in its support and encouragement. Lieutenant M. C. Mumma is an instructor unsurpassed, and it is especially fortunate that his services can again be had in the future.

Very respectfully,

S. W. BROOKHART,

Lt. Col. Chief of Ordnance, and Acting Chief Inspector, S. A. P.

REPORT OF IOWA RIFLE ASSOCIATION MEETING, 1909.

Office of General Inspector Small Arms Practice.

Washington, Iowa.

December 31, 1909.

To the Adjutant General, Des Moines, Iowa.

SIR:—I have the honor to submit herewith the report of the seventh annual meeting of the Iowa Rifle Association of the Iowa National Guard for the year 1909. This meeting of the Iowa Rifle Association was the most successful in its history, and every shot was fired that had been prescribed by the program. The scores were the best ever made and the organization throughout worked to a better advantage than ever before.

Following is a detailed statement of the scores and winners in the various matches:

REPORT OF THE CAMP OF INSTRUCTION FOR MEDICAL OFFICERS, 1909.

MEDICAL DEPARTMENT. OFFICE OF THE SURGEON.

Clinton, Iowa. September 3, 1909,

Adjutant General,

Des Moines, Iowa.

'Sir: —I have the honor to submit the following report of my attendance at the Camp of Instruction for Medical Officers held at Camp Robinson, near Sparta, Wisconsin.

We arrived at Sparta, Wisconsin, in the evening of July 30th, and were ready to participate in the instructions the following morning.

The instructions for this day consisted of a problem in the care of those supposed to be injured in various ways on a battle field. These instructions consisted in applying the first aid dressings and the transportation of the injured back to the Field Hospital. At the Field Hospital each medical officer was asked to explain just what he had done to care for the injured and then the others were given a chance to tell how they would do the same work, and following this in each case Major Fontelroy stated how he would do the work in each case. This work was very instructive and could have been followed with further instruction in this line with much benefit to every one.

On the following day Major Fontelroy had all the medical officers accompany him on a ride over the hills to a place where he thought that in case of a battle that a dressing station would be established and there had a dressing station established and explained to us in a lecture what was supposed to be done there and how the wounded could be brought to this station and from there conveyed to the rear in safety.

On one of the following days Major Fontelroy gave a problem to the medical officers that they were to work out; it consisted in the establishment of a Base Hospital, a Field Hospital, an Ambulance Station, a Brigade dressing station for each of the three brigades and the Regimental first aid stations for each of the Regiments. Each medical officer was assigned to a part in this problem and the same was carried out with the aid of the enlisted men of the medical department of the regular army as near like actual warfare as it was possible. Following the working out of this problem the part that each officer took was explained by Major Fontelroy and where he could have improved on his work explained much to the benefit of each officer present. This line of work is what the medical officer of the National Guard needs and this could have been followed by additional problems on this line with much benefit to all.

On the days when there were no problems to work out there were lectures by Major Provience and Major Bratton on subjects that were supposed to instruct the medical officer on his duties as an officer of the army.

This tour of duty was very instructive in many ways as it brought together National Guard officers from many States, as, for instance, 6 from Alabama, 5 from Louisiana, 1 from Texas, and the balance came from nearly all of the States of the Mississippi Valley, and many subjects of interest to the medical department of the National Guard were discussed at these meetings.

This tour of duty was very instructive to all present and should be continued each year in some more suitable location and all National Guard officers required to attend.

The officers in charge of this Camp of Instruction were uniformly courteous to each and every one of us and seemed to be pleased to afford us every opportunity to make the two weeks of duty both instructive and pleasant.

This tour of duty ended at noon of August 11th, and on that day we departed for our home stations.

Respectfully submitted,

E. L. MARTINDALE,

Major and Surgeon M. C., I. N. G.

REPORT OF THE CAMP OF INSTRUCTION FOR MEDICAL OFFICERS, 1909.

MEDICAL DEPARTMENT. OFFICE OF THE ASSISTANT SURGEON.

Clinton, Iowa. August 20, 1909.

Adjutant General, State of Iowa.

Des Moines, Iowa.

Sir:—I have the honor to make the following report on the Camp of Instruction for Medical Officers of the Guard established by the Surgeon General, United States Army, at Sparta, Wisconsin.

I arrived at Sparta on the evening of July 29th, and reported at Camp Robinson the next morning.

On the afternoon of the 30th we were given instruction on the application of First Dressings to the injured; members of the Hospital Corps of the United States Hospital Detachment being tagged and placed in convenient places about the camp, we were ordered to proceed to a designated locality where we found the cases assigned to us. After dressing the cases we had them transported to Headquarters, where the dressings were inspected by Major Fontelroy, who criticized or commended the application of the dressings we had applied as the case merited. This was our first practical work and was of great benefit to all of us. The cases were discussed with Major Fontelroy and many ideas were brought out.

Later on during the course we were given more practical work. The first was the establishment of Regimental Dressing Station by the United States Army Medical Corps under Major Fontelroy, the officers of the Guard as observers for instruction. The equipment for the dressing station was transported about two miles to the woods to a suitable location (pack mules were used), where the tents were set up, the Darnell filter started, dressing table improvised by erecting a litter on four forked sticks driven into the ground, boiling water supplied, hot boullion prepared, beds made ready, medical and surgical chests opened and commode set up. As soon as the dressing station was established the Captain in charge reported to Major Fontelroy that they were ready to receive patients and my recollection is that it took about thirteen minutes to establish this dressing station. Major Fontelroy then took up the salient points in the establishment of the dressing station, explaining things in detail and answering many questions. He explained to us how the supplies were packed on the mules and of the necessity of having supplies in packages of proper length for this purpose. We did not stay to see the supplies repacked on the mules, but accompanied Major Fontelroy on a ride of several miles through the reserve.

The last day of the practical work was a problem in which the Guard did the work, each man being assigned to a particular position. In this problem we had to establish Lines of Regimental Aid, a Brigade Dressing Station, Ambulance Section and Field and Base Hospitals, the last two places being imaginary. This problem proved of great benefit to us and gave us an opportunity to use the information we had gained in the two previous lessons.

The above was the extent of our practical work, but we were each day given a lecture by Major Purviance on Camp Hygiene and diseases incident to Military Camps. Major Purviance's lectures were exceedingly well prepared and given in a most instructive manner. Likewise each day we were instructed by Major Bratton in the making out of reports, and each man, so far as possible, furnished with the numerous blanks.

The instruction was of great benefit to the Guard officers and all expressed the hope that we might be given such an opportunity another year. For our instructors I have only words of commendation.

Respectfully submitted,

HERBERT R. SUGG.

First Lieutenant and Assistant Surgeon M. C., I. N. G.

REPORT OF THE CAMP OF INSTRUCTION FOR MEDICAL OFFICERS, 1909.

MEDICAL DEPARTMENT. OFFICE OF THE SURGEON.

Sioux City, Iowa, August 18, 1909,

Adjutant General,

Des Moines, Iowa.

Sir:—We have the honor to report that in compliance with S. O. No. 90 Captain F. J. Murphy and myself reported for duty at the School of Instruction for Medical Officers at Camp Robinson, near Sparta, Wisconsin, on July 29, 1909.

We beg to submit the following observations in connection with this tour of duty which we deem of interest to you. The camp was located upon a government reservation situated about five miles east of Sparta, and consisted of a fully equipped field hospital and ambulance company section with a full complement of officers and men from the Regular Army under the command of Major P. C. Fontelroy, Medical Corps, United States Army, who also acted as instructor in field work. The instruction in field work consisted of practical demonstration in first aid, together with the establishment of dressing stations, Regimental and Brigade, the manner of conveying the equipment for same by wagons and pack mules; also the management and construction of a Field Hospital. The ambulance section in command of Captain Dale, Medical Corps, United States Army, demonstrated the various methods of transporting sick and wounded. It is our opinion that this course of instruction was most thorough and practical and will serve to help us in forming a clearer conception of our duties if we are ever called into actual service, thus insuring better directed efforts on our parts under such condition.

Daily lectures were delivered by Major W. H. Purviance, Medical Corps, United States Army, upon military hygiene. The duties of Medical Officers in connection with camp sanitation and matters pertaining to the personal hygiene of the soldier, etc., were fully considered. Major F. S. Bratton, Medical Corps, United States Army, conducted daily instructions in the manner of filling out proper blanks pertaining to the medical department, such as reports, requisitions, returns, etc., and other important subjects found in regulation. Without knowledge of the clerical duties connected with his department the medical officer must be very incompetent, and it would be difficult to understand how such knowledge could be gained in any other way than by such a course as we received. It is self-evident that official papers must be made out with absolute accuracy, otherwise they can be of no value whatever. In our opinion the war department exercised much care and wise judgment in its selection of the officers who conducted the work of this camp. Contemplating the militia as a force auxiliary to, and which may be merged on short notice with the regular force, we believe that the benefits derived from this camp of instruction were not alone those received in direct way, but also indirectly, as a result of the intimate association of regular and militia officers during our stay. The former were given an excellent opportunity to observe the adaptability of the officers present for the work and enabled them to form a fair judgment of their efficiency, bringing together the Medical Officers of the several States afforded excellent opportunity to learn the qualifications of the others and will serve as a stimulus to promote greater interest and better work on their part. It is our belief that such camps of instruction will repay the government many fold in the way of increased efficiency on the part of the Medical Corps and in turn the efficiency of the Army.

We beg the privilege of making an observation which is of special importance to the militia of our own State, namely, that the Medical Department is at present organized on the basis of the regimental unit. With the Brigade formation as it now stands we will be expected to furnish a full Field Hospital and Ambulance Section if called into service, and we would recommend that our State provide such an organization at the earliest moment as contemplated and prescribed in regulation.

Respectfully submitted,
MAJOR WILLIAM JEPSON,
CAPTAIN F. J. MURPHY,

REPORT OF THE MEETING OF MILITARY SURGEONS, 1909.

MEDICAL DEPARTMENT. OFFICE OF THE CHIEF SURGEON.

Clinton, Iowa. November 1, 1909.

General Guy E. Logan, Adjutant General.

Des Moines, Iowa.

Sir:—I have the honor to report my return from Washington, D. C., in attendance to the 18th annual meeting of Military Surgeons of the United States. This session is recognized and appreciated to be the most successful one held since its organization. The work covered was subdivided into the services of the Army, Navy, Public Health and Marine Hospital service, thereby enlarging materially the scope of its work. There were 270 Surgeons of the services in attendance and also to further the interest of the occasion, 19 foreign Surgeons who were delegated by their respective countries were elected associate members and participated in the discussions of the various medical subjects.

The Surgeon Generals of the Army, Navy, Public Health and Marine Hespital service each afforded the society the pleasure of social functions, bringing closer acquaintance among the members and a better opportunity of exchanging ideas in the work. We also visited the laboratories of the Public Health and Marine Hospital service to review the excellent experimental work being done in the prevention and cure of disease; lectures were also given by the Surgeons on duty which were thoroughly beneficial and appreciated. In all, the work was extremely valuable to us as Military Surgeons, and for which I wish to express my great gratitude and appreciation to the superior officers in the authority of the Iowa National Guard for the honor delegated the Surgeons in attendance at this meeting. While the program was along Medico-Military scientific subjects and did not deal to any extent with field operations, except the paper presented by Major C. R. Darnell, Chief of the Field Medical Supply Depot, Washington, D. C., upon "Medical Equipments and Supplies for the Organized Militia," he most urgently requests all troops of the National Guard to equip themselves in times of peace, which he states most of the States have done, thereby saving serious embarrassment and disaster in case we should be called into active service when on account of time and the unavoidable delays in securing proper equipment might incapacitate our services materially. Our present equipment complies with his recommendations except in that each State should have one Field Hospital for each 2,500 enlisted men of its Guard; one Ambulance Company should be provide for each Field Hospital and each State should have a depot for medical equipment and supplies of its Guard under the control of the Chief Surgeon; all medical equipment to be stored at a supply depot and medical supplies be procured by a Supply Officer and issued by him to organizations on requisitions; the personnel of Field Hospital and Ambulance Company be recruited and organized in the vicinity of the supply depot and that blank forms for invoices, receipts, reports, etc., should be substantially like those in the Regular Army.

The cost of Field Hospital is $5,951.96 and the cost of an Ambulance Company is $2,460.03. He also suggests that the supply be purchased from the Medical Department of the Army with the State allotment under the Dick bill, as follows:

That the Surgeon General of the Guard make requisition through the Adjutant General of the State to the Governor who then makes requisition on the War Department and upon aproval be forwarded through the Surgeon General of the Army to the supply depot for issue.

At the expiration of the meeting, Major Conkling and Major Grant reported, and we called at the Surgeon General of the Army's Office, where we were afforded every courtesy and instruction from the department.

Upon consideration of investigations and after careful study, I would most respectfully recommend that we organize, at least, a Field Hospital at Des Moines, Iowa, with about 40 or 45 men and placed under separate command for brigade formation, and assigned to other duties detailed to regimental command for instruction when troops are not in brigade formation.

Very respectfully,

D. S. FAIRCHILD, JR.,

Lieutenant Colonel and Chief Surgeon.

STATE OF IOWA,
ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE,
Des Moines, December 8, 1908.

GENERAL ORDERS,

NUMBER 28.

I. The Annual Report of Colonel Smith W. Brookhart, General Inspector of Small Arms Practice, for the year 1908, with his recommendations, is published for the information of all concerned.

By order of the Governor:

W. H. THRIFT,

Adjutant General.

OFFICE OF GENERAL INSPECTOR SMALL ARMS PRACTICE, IOWA NATIONAL GUARD.

Washington, Iowa, December 5, 1908.

To the Adjutant General,

Des Moines, Ia.

Sir: I have the honor to submit herewith the report of the sixth annual meeting of the Iowa Rifle Association and the consolidated report of Small Arms Practice of the Iowa National Guard for the year 1908. The uniform increase in the figure of merit of all the regiments, except the 53d where a new company was organized, is very gratifying to this department. The comparison is as follows:

200 2	1907	1908
53d Regiment		61.48
54th Regiment		84.24
55th Regiment		59.69
both Regiment		90.43

This comparison is made with the highest record ever attained by the state and upon this basis the total figure of merit for the state would be 74.59. In past years the totals were, 1904, 41.1; 1905, 41.1; 1906, 59.97; and 1907, 61.22.

Many things have contributed to this steady and substantial increase in efficiency but nothing so much as the earnest and energetic support given to this department at all times by the Adjutant General's office. The completion of the magnificent state rifle range under the personal direction of the Adjutant General himself marks an epoch in the military history of Iowa, and makes great promise for the future development of Small Arms Practice. Since one half of the efficiency of the National Guard is now based upon small arms practice this course is indeed well merited.

I found everything in readiness at the State Rifle Range for the meeting of the Iowa Rifle Association. I was assisted by the officers of this department, by a very efficient staff, by officers of the 2d Cavalry, U. S. A., and by Colonel Frank W. Bishop and Hubert A. Allen, who volunteered to act as range officers. This enabled me to organize and operate the range very effectively in every detail. Bad weather seriously interfered with the work and entirely prevented the Hull, Inspectors, Individual Championship and Regimental team matches. However, the meeting as a whole was very satisfactory and resulted in much valuable instruction to the whole guard. The camp equipment and mess service were the best I have ever seen and the hospital corps provided sanitary arrangements that have justly made Major William Jepson of the 56th regiment famous.

I desire to make the following recommendations:

- 1. That brigade or regimental camps should be held near the state rifle range each year and details report to this department each day for instruction in small arms practice, to the end that the whole guard may receive uniform instruction and practice.
- 2. Greater attention should be given the selection and development of the state rifle team. I recommend that the detail competing for places on the team may be increased to forty men; that they be assembled for preliminary practice and competition in June at which time one half be eliminated. The other half should be required to practice at home stations under former rules and the whole team selected at a final competition. The time for team practice should be increased.
- 3. Regimental inspectors should be required to give at least one day of instruction to each company upon its home range and more to those that are deficient in small arms practice.

Respectfully submitted,

S. W. Brookhart,
Colonel and General Inspector Small Arms Practice.

GENERAL ORDERS,

NUMBER 12.

STATE OF IOWA, ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, Des Moines, June 24, 1909.

 The following report of Colonel S. W. Brookhart, General Inspector of Small Arms Practice, is published for the information of all concerned.

By order of the Governor:

GUY E. LOGAN,
Adjutant General.

Washington, Iowa, June 22, 1909.

ADJUTANT GENERAL,

Des Moines, Iowa.

Sir:

I have the honor to report:

1. That pursuant to general orders No. 11, c. s., the detail for the preliminary competition for places on the State Team assembled at the state rifle range on June 14th, all the members of the detail reporting, except Color Sergeant George Bever, Jr., First Sergeant John P. King, Sergeant Charles E. Cutshall, Sergeant Frank A. Bonebright, and Corporal Roy E. Foster. By 9:30 o'clock A. M. everything was in readiness and the firing began. The first two days were devoted entirely to instruction, and at the end of the second day Captain Edmund A. Ringland was relieved of duty as Statistical officer and permitted to enter the competition. Captain Ivan E. Ellwood was relieved of duty as Range officer and transferred to that of Statistical officer for the entire competition. Lieutenant Morton C. Mumma, 2d U. S. Cavalry, reported to me at noon of the first day and he was put in charge of instruction, and during the competition he acted as Range officer in place of Captain Ellwood. Competition continued until noon the 18th. The weather was good during the entire camp and at no time interrupted the firing.

- 2. The improvement of all the competitors in rifle fire is quite evident. The scores in both preliminary and competition were the best I have ever seen made in Iowa, and this is true of all kinds of fire. Sergeant Beeson, who was high man in the competition, made a total score of 779 points in a possible 900 and this score included twenty shots rapid fire and three skirmish runs on the "B" target. The score is therefore 59 points above centers. Captain Ready, who was low man of the first twenty, had a score of 703 points, being only 17 points below centers. Each evening at 7:15 P. M. the entire detail assembled at headquarters for school, which was conducted by Lieutenant M. C. Mumma. These schools were not only pleasant and enjoyable, but also brought out the most practical and scientific instruction the Iowa National Guard has ever received in rifle practice. Their benefit to this detail and to the guard in general will surely be felt in the future.
- 3. The camp organization and equipment were all that can be desired. The services rendered by the Camp Commissary, Captain Guy S. Brewer, was even an improvement upon his former efficient record. The operation of the pit under Captain John H. Steck, was a model of promptness and efficiency.
- 4. At the conclusion of the competition the officers of this department selected twenty men for further competition in compliance with general orders No. 11, and their names and scores are as follows:

Sgt. Frank L. Beeson
Capt, Edwin S. Geist
Sgt. Fred W. McDougall
Sgt. Edward F. Murray Co. K, 56th Infty
Sgt. Elmer E. Hildebrand Co. H, 56th Infty

- 5. This department further recommends that Sergeant John E. Jackson of Co. "D," 54th Infantry, who made a score of 701 points and held 21st place in the competition, and First Sergeant John P. King, who was not able to enter this competition, but who will be able to fire all that may be required by this department after July 20th, be permitted to enter the final competition for places on the state team.
- 6. This department also recommends that 1,200 rounds of ammunition be issued immediately to each of the persons permitted to enter the final competition and states that they have already been required to practice a course prescribed by Lt. M. C. Mumma and to report their scores at the end of each week to him.
- 7. This department further recommends that the final competition be held at the state rifle range commencing August 2, 1909, lasting three days, after which all be eliminated except the twelve members of the state team and three alternates, that these fifteen continue at the rifle range for instruction and team work until their departure for the National Match at Camp Perry, Ohio, which should not be later than August 17th.

Very respectfully,
S. W. Brookhart,
Col. and Gen. Inspector S. A. P.

GENERAL ORDERS. NUMBER 13.

STATE OF IOWA,
ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE,
Des Moines, June 25, 1909.

I. Under the provisions of The Military Code of Iowa, as passed by the Thirty-third General Assembly, the following additional regulations are hereby announced and all regulations in conflict herewith are hereby revoked.

The Guard comprises the general officers, the staff corps and departments necessary to provide proper staff officers and enlisted men for all purposes of administration and supply, viz.: an adjutant general's department, a judge advocate general's department, a quartermaster's department, a subsistence department, a medical department, an ordnance department, a corps of engineers and a signal corps; and such organizations of the line as the governor may cause to be created within the requirements of the law.

In the guard organization officers are classed as general, staff, field and company officers. Officers who are authorized by state law for the staff of the governor, but who do not form an integral and proper part of one of the staff corps or departments mentioned in the preceding paragraph, or of the line, are not considered a part of the Guard in so far as the benefit conferred by Section 1661, Revised Statutes United States, as amended, are concerned; nor are they considered in determining whether or not the organization of the Guard conforms to that prescribed for the regular and volunteer armies of the United States.

A brigade will be organized which will consist of the four infantry regiments and such other units of the Guard as may be organized. A brigadier general is the proper commander for a brigade; but in the case of the absence or disability of the brigadier general the command will devolve upon the senior officer of the line who is present for duty with the brigade.

All nominations to fill vacancies for surgeon with the rank of major will be made by the chief surgeon and will be by seniority from the assistant surgeons of the Guard unless the senior assistant surgeon is geographically located so as not to be available for duty with the detachment of the hospital corps with which he should be assigned, in which case the ranking officer available for assignment shall be nominated.

In case of vacancy of assistant surgeon in the medical corps, the same shall be filled by competitive examination from candidates from the officers of the medical reserve corps and enlisted men of the hospital corps who have served at least one term of enlistment.

That for the purpose of securing a reserve corps of medical officers available for military service the governor will issue commissions as first lieutenants, not in excess of nine, to such candidates as have passed the required examination for medical officers of the Guard and have been so recommended by the examining board and the recommendation approved by the chief surgeon.

Permission to appear before the examining board as a candidate for assistant surgeon or as a member of the medical reserve corps is obtained by a letter to the Adjutant General which must be in the handwriting of the applicant, giving the date and the place of his birth and the place of which he is a permanent resident, and enclosing certificates based on personal acquaintance from at least two reputable persons as to citizenship, character and habits. The inspection will be made in compliance with Par. 486 Infantry Drill Regulations and the troops will parade under arms in the field-service uniform and in heavy marching order. The arms and equipments of the men will comply with the requirements as stated in Par. 132 (A) and the field kit as described in Par. 133 (A) of the Organized Militia, Regulations of the War Department, in so far as the same have been issued.

Field and Staff Officers and Non-Commissioned Staff Officers, not inspected at Regimental Headquarters will report to the Inspecting Officer in person, for inspection at the time and place fixed in this order for the inspection of the organization where they reside, and those residing where there are no military organizations will apply to the Adjutant General for transportation to report for inspection to the nearest military organization.

Muster rolls will be completed in duplicate and handed to the Inspecting Officer before inspection, entering thereon only the names of those who are members at the date of inspection.

The War Department having called the attention of the Commander-in-Chief, from year to year, to the low percentage in attendance at the annual inspections of the Guard as made by United States Officers, and orders having issued with view to increasing the attendance, which apparently has had but little effect, the Commander-in-Chief now orders all Commanding Officers to enforce a full attendance of their commands at the Annual Inspection for the year 1910, and they are not to excuse any absentees, only upon a Surgeon's written certificate of the party's physical unfitness to be present, and only Examining Surgeons for the organized militia are permitted to make said certificates.

Organizations receiving a marking by the United States Inspecting Officer of 90 per cent or over will be classified as "EXCELLENT"; those of 80 per cent and less than 90 per cent, "VERY GOOD"; those of 70 per cent and less than 80 per cent, "GOOD"; those of 60 per cent and less than 70 per cent "FAIR"; and those less than 60 per cent "POOR" and subject to muster out as inefficient.

By order of the Governor:

GUY E. LOGAN,
Adjutant General.

GENERAL ORDERS, NUMBER 3.

ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, Des Moines, February 1, 1910.

I. Pursuant to the provisions of Section 39 of the Military Code of Iowa, the following regulations governing home station courts-martial, and the procedure connected therewith, are hereby announced.

Company Commanders are hereby authorized to convene by orders home station courts-martial. The home station court-martial is composed of a company officer, other than the company commander, and two company non-commissioned officers of equal or higher grade than the person to be tried.

Jurisdiction over the accused shall be acquired by serving a written notice on the accused at least five clear days before the time set for the convening of the court, which notice shall describe the offense or offenses for which the accused is to be tried, with sufficient definiteness to enable the accused to intelligently defend.

It shall be proper to hear and try at one hearing as many offenses under Section 37 of the Military Code of Iowa, as the accused may be charged with, provided, however, that such offenses are each referred to in the notice hereinbefore mentioned.

Service on the accused shall be made by leaving with him a copy of the notice, in writing, and may be made by any officer or non-commissioned officer of the company to which the accused belongs; when service is made by a commissioned officer he shall certify to said service of notice in writing on the back of the original, but when the service is made by a non-commissioned officer, the fact of service of the notice and return thereof shall be made in writing and shall be sworn to by such non-commissioned officer before a commissioned officer of the company; and notice may also be served in the manner provided by the Code of Iowa for the service of original notice in justice of the peace courts. The commissioned officer shall be president of the court and shall designate one of the other members to act as recorder. All record of home station courts-martial shall be recorded in a permanent book of record, kept for that purpose, and designated as the "Home Station Courts-Martial Record Book." It shall be the duty of the recorder to set out in said record book,—

First. A copy of the order convening the court.

Second. A copy of the notice to the accused, including the return of service thereon.

Third. The record of the time and place of the convening of the court.

Fourth. A record showing appearance or default of the accused.

Fifth. A synopsized record of the material facts of the testimony adduced at the trial.

Sixth. The findings and judgment of the court.

The procedure in such courts-martial shall be of the simplest and most direct form for the purpose of ascertaining without delay the truth or falsity of the charges against the accused, together with aggravating or extenuating circumstances.

All testimony shall be under oath, administered by the president of the court. The record and judgment shall be complete after it shall have been recorded as hereinbefore specified, and said record signed by the president and attested by the recorder of such court. All trials or hearings shall be public and held at the company armory except when any company is in camp or field service when they shall be held in the quarters of the First Sergeant. The defendant shall have the right to appear with any reputable person whom he may select and bring with him to the hearing and trial as his counsel.

The court has the power to pronounce and enter judgment and sentence as provided for in Section 37 of the Military Code, and the court shall have the power to recommend action on or suspension thereof to the convening officer.

When an action is brought in any court of this state to enforce the judgment or penalty of such court-martial, the record may be identified and introduced as evidence at the trial of such cause by any member of such courts- martial.

By order of the Governor:

GUY E. LOGAN,

Adjutant General.

STATE OF IOWA,
ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE,
Des Moines, April 25, 1910.

GENERAL ORDERS, NUMBER 7.

I. As the Iowa Guard is to go into maneuver camp with U. S. Army troops for year 1910, it is deemed advisable to have the enlisted men of each organization equipped with the U. S. Army russet marching shoe, if possible, therefore the following plan will be adopted for this year:

Shoes can be purchased from Joseph M. Herman & Co., Boston, Mass., who are furnishing shoes for the U. S. Army under contract with the U. S. Government, or from any other firm furnishing shoes for the U. S. Army to the U. S. Government, but shoes purchased from any source must be made under U. S. Government inspection and be so stamped.

The price fixed by Joseph M. Herman & Co., for the Army Russet marching shoe is $3.00 per pair for organizations of the Iowa Guard, which includes freight charges to company station. This firm will send direct to Commanding Officers communications giving information as to terms, method of measurements, etc., and will transmit measurement cards.

Company Commanders will make purchase direct and not through the Adjutant General's Office, the same to be paid for as follows:

One half of the cost of shoes per pair to be deducted from camp pay of enlisted men; the men to retain the shoes after camp.

One half will be paid by the State of Iowa to the Commanding Officer of each organization on proper requisition providing same does not exceed $1.50 per pair.

- II. Shoes will only be provided for such enlisted men as perform the tour of duty in camp, and payments from State funds will not be allowed in excess of that number.
- III. Orders for shoes should reach the manufacturer not later than May 20th to insure delivery of shoes before camp.
- IV. Battalion Commanders will make an inspection of the shoes of their commands during tour of camp duty to see that they comply with the requirements hereof, and will make immediate report to the Adjutant General on same, and will also report the number of pair of shoes to each organization.
- V. Commanding Officers will make prompt settlement of shoe account at close of encampment after the receipt of pay from enlisted men and from State, and will take account up on next Account Current filing receipted claim of shoe company as voucher for payment.

VI. This arrangement will not apply to commissioned officers. They may, however, purchase for their own account, but such purchase must not be included in number to be paid from State funds.

By order of the Governor:

GUY E. LOGAN, Adjutant General.

STATE OF IOWA,
ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE,
DES MOINES, April 28, 1910.

GENERAL ORDERS, No. 8.

I. The following extracts from reports of Captain Harry F. Dalton, 16th U. S. Infantry, and Captain Francis J. McConnell, 11th U. S. Infantry, Inspecting Officers, are hereby published for the information and guidance of all concerned.

By order of the Governor:

Guy E. Logan, Adjutant General.

"I have the honor to herewith report on my recent inspection of General Headquarters and the 54th and 55th Infantry, Iowa National Guard, February 14 to March 16, 1910.

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS.

With reference to the inspection of General Headquarters, Des Moines, Iowa, I desire to invite attention to the fact that the building now used by the State of Iowa for the storage of surplus Ordnance and Quartermaster property is, in my opinion, totally inadequate and unsuitable for the proper care and preservation of Government property.

This building is owned and operated by private parties as a storage warehouse, a portion of the ground floor and basement being rented by the State. This warehouse is located within a few feet of numerous railroad tracks on which the traffic is continuous throughout the day and night. The building is not amply protected from fire, the windows are not barred or fitted with shutters and the space in which Government property is stored is much too small and separated from the main storeroom of the building by a thin wire netting only.

It is respectfully recommended that such steps as are necessary be taken looking to the construction or rental by the State of a building suitable for the storage and safe-guarding of Government property in the possession thereof.

54TH AND 55TH INFANTRY.

GENERAL OBSERVATIONS.

With reference to the inspection of the 54th and the 55th Infantry, a generally good condition for field service, with few exceptions, was found to exist, and, in my opinion, both regiments will compare favorably with National Guard regiments of other middle western states. The Hospital Detachments inspected were found to be in excellent condition.

Officers and enlisted men, particularly the former, of all organizations inspected were found to be enthusiastic in their work and anxious to absorb all details of military matters in connection with their duties and the good of their respective organizations and the Guard in general. Errors were pointed out and suggestions made, all of which were received in a spirit of friendliness and with a determination to correct such minor deficiencies as existed.

DRILL REGULATIONS.

- (a) In a great many instances, officers and non-commissioned officers not familiar with exact wording of commands. In consequence thereof, instruction of command suffers to a considerable extent. A more strict compliance with the requirements of Drill Regulations should be insisted upon.
- (b) Tone and method of giving commands: Generally speaking, poor. Officers of all line grades should be assembled and properly instructed in giving commands as laid down in Drill Regulations.
- (c) Manual of Saber: Very poor. Officers should be required to familiarize themselves in this subject and if possible assembled for saber drill.
- (d) Setting-up exercises and bayonet exercise: Practically no instruction given in these two most important exercises.
- (e) Squad Drills: This most important part of the soldier's military education apparently considered of no importance by over 90 per cent of the company commanders. Upon joining a company, enlisted men appear, almost invariably, to be allowed to immediately drill with the company as a unit and thus fail to receive the instruction most important in the training of a recruit. Squad drills for at least one month should be insisted upon for all recruits.

RECORDS.

Generally speaking, very poorly kept. A uniform system for all organizations should be instituted.

NOMENCLATURE, CARE AND USE OF RIFLE.

Practically no instruction. Woeful lack of knowledge as to caliber and range of rifle at present used by the National Guard.

QUARTERMASTER SERGEANT.

As a rule, not sufficiently familiar with their duties nor conscious of the responsibility of their position in safe-guarding property issued to the Company Commander. Invariably addressed as Quartermaster, instead of Sergeant, by officers and enlised men of their organizations.

FORMATIONS.

Lack of promptness in assembly of organizations. Except in a very few cases, the formation for inspection was delayed beyond the hour prescribed by the Company Commanders.

HEAVY MARCHING ORDER.

Not a single officer of the organizations inspected complied with that portion of G. O. No. 2, A. G. O., State of Iowa, January 28, 1910, relating to heavy marching order. Officers apparently unaware of the requirements of War Department orders on this subject. Officers of two organizations appeared at inspection in service caps instead of service or campaign hats.

PROPERTY.

Except in eight organizations, Government property not well taken care of. Access to property storerooms permitted to all members of organizations at will. Property permitted to be removed and kept outside of armories. Storerooms should habitually be kept locked, the keys being retained by the Company Commander and Quartermaster Sergeant only.

REMARKS.

Company "A," 54th Infantry.

Condition of arms at inspection very poor. Many rifles dirty and several badly fouled. Company records not properly kept. New armory should be insisted upon as present building is inadequate.

Company "D," 54th Infantry.

Company "E," 54th Infantry.

New armory should be insisted upon as present building is totally in-adequate.

Company "F," 54th Infantry.

Armory only fairly adequate. New one should be procured if possible. Officers of this company not wholly familiar with commands in Drill Regulations.

Company "G," 54th Infantry.

Officers of this company not wholly familiar with commands in Drill Regulations.

Company "H," 54th Infantry.

Company "I," 54th Infantry.

Armory totally inadequate. New one should be insisted upon.

Company "L," 54th Infantry.

Armory absolutely inadequate and a disgrace to city and organization. This company is in poor condition and its low standard would ordinarily justify a recommendation that it be mustered out of the service. However, in view of the resolutions of the Business Men's Association of Newton, a copy filed herewith, it is recommended that the company be allowed a period of six months in which to raise its standard, at the end of which time, if no improvement is apparent, that it again be inspected with a view to its muster out.

Company "C," 55th Infantry.

This company appeared at inspection without First Aid packages.

Company "D," 55th Infantry.

New armory should be insisted upon as present building is inadequate.

Company "E," 55th Infantry.

New armory should be insisted upon as present building is inadequate.

Company "F," 55th Infantry.

Uniforms generally dirty and equipments not properly worn. Assembly formation for inspection very poor and not in accordance with Drill Regulations. Non-commissioned officers not familiar with their duties. Several men late at formation of company. Officers not familiar with proper commands in Drill Regulations.

Company "H," 55th Infantry.

Armory inadequate and out of repair. New one should be insisted upon.

Company "I," 55th Infantry.

Equipments of this company not properly worn at inspection. Non-commissioned officers very inexperienced. Instruction and discipline very poor. General efficiency far below a reasonable standard with no prospects of improvement. Armory absolutely inadequate. I recommend that this company be mustered out of the service.

Company "K," 55th Infantry.

Six (6) rifles at inspection very dirty and somewhat fouled. Equipments not properly worn. Armory totally inadequate and new building should be provided.

REMARKS.

3d Detachment Hospital Corps.

This is an excellent organization both as to officers and men, their equipment is in excellent shape and properly marked. The Organization Commander is largely responsible for this and is a capable, energetic officer. I entirely approve of his suggestion as noted in report on Company "H," 53d Infantry, of the securing at an early date of an armory or hall which will hold the two organizations.

4th Detachment Hospital Corps.

An excellent organization, full of zeal, efficient and well trained. Officers are bearing men and extremely capable. Detachment Commander Major Jepson is one of the best known surgeons in the state and is very enthusiastic and his detachment reflects his care. Captain Murphy is a very able assistant to Major Jepson in this work and the medical department of the Guard in the western part of the state is in capable hands. Major Jepson's ideas in Camp Sanitation may be read in Ashburn's Military Hygiene.

Band 53d Infantry.

This is an excellent organization. Clothing and equipment in good condition and properly marked. Men of military appearance and showing a military interest far above the average band. The type of the members is an excellent one and the Chief Musician and Drum Major compare very favorably with anything I have seen in the regular service.

Company "A," 53d Infantry.

This is a good company and when a certain element is eliminated, which move is now in progress, will be very much improved. The officers are intelligent and enthusiastic and the company has the support of the town. All depends on themselves. I look forward to a great improvement in this company during 1910.

Company "B," 53d Infantry.

This will be a good company, its personnel is good, but has not had the opportunity to develop. Officers hard-working and zealous but a little short on drill. There is no doubt that with the advent of a new armory this company will be vastly improved.

Company "C," 53d Infantry.

This is an excellent company and the work of the officers and men shown in the drill and discipline which is excellent. Several of the noncommissioned officers, including the first sergeant, I would be glad to have in my company.

Company "D," 53d Infantry.

Excellent type of men, hard-working officers, property well cared for. The discipline of this company is very good and the men of a type to be depended on.

Company "E," 53d Infantry.

Good class of men and the officers are enthusiastic, though inexperienced.

Officers would do well to study up their drill and will, if they do so, find themselves more confident in their commands.

More care should be taken with company property and marking of property more carefully observed.

Company "F," 53d Infantry.

This company has improved a great deal since last inspection, I am informed, and has now a larger strength (increase of 13), the men are of a good type and seem enthusiastic and zealous. Captain Bartley is now negotiating for a new armory and I believe this will be a good company.

Company "G," 53d Infantry,

This company seems to be composed of a very good type of young men and the town folks were present in great numbers showing that the company is of interest to the town. The men are zealous but are sadly handicapped by floor space being inadequate. I look for a great improvement by next inspection. Several of the men had to come several miles across country on snowy muddy roads to come to inspection.

Company "H," 53d Infantry.

This company is handicapped by its inadequate armory. With the rental given by the State to the company and to the Hospital Detachment at Clinton, a very large hall with sufficient room for storage of property for both organizations could be secured. Major Martindale, commanding Hospital Detachment is very much in favor of this plan and assured me of its feasibility. I do not believe that the disinclination of the Company Commander of Company "H" should be allowed to be an obstacle in the progress of his company.

Company "I," 53d Infantry.

This is one of the best companies I have seen in the State, the men are a hardy, soldierly looking lot, taking pride in themselves and their equipments, especially their rifles in which they take pride. Three (3) members of this company are on the state team which goes to Camp Perry. In physique and general appearance they more nearly approach the regular than anything I have seen on this trip. All of these men have equipped themselves with the army marching shoe at their own expense. The town of Waukon should do well by this company in the matter of an armory.

Company "K," 53d Infantry.

A good company, with zealous officers and men of good physical type, but as this company contains a number of railroad men the percentage of absentees from inspection was large and might have its effects in the number of available men in domestic emergencies, particularly a railroad strike.

Company "L," 53d Infantry.

This company had ten (10) absentees out of a membership of 56 men. Those present seemed to be of good type and apparently zealous. The discipline was not good, men turning around in ranks during inspection and laughing at people in the gallery. Some seemed to look upon the inspection as a joke. The Company Commander evidently did not see this or care to stop it if he did. The lack of discipline I do not attribute to any fault of the men, who seemed intelligent enough.

Company "M," 53d Infantry.

The men of the company are of good type and the non-commissioned officers are an intelligent set of men but the captain is young and while seemingly zealous does not know his drill, cannot impart it to the men and has no discipline. There are no lieutenants here and there should be. An excellent opportunity seems to be going to waste here and the property of the State and Federal authorities is not properly cared for. I would recommend a further inspection of this company by a State officer and if neither the Company Commander or the town people are inclined to better the condition here the company should be mustered out, as its condition is now painfully near a farce. I believe if properly handled the situation would be cleared up very soon, as there seem to be several public spirited men in town, who would readily act if the situation were explained to them.

Band 56th Infantry.

A very good organization and one which cares for its property in good shape.

Company "A," 56th Infantry.

This is a good company and both the men and officers are enthusiastic as evidenced by the percentage of attendance and the attention that is given to target practice.

Captain Stuart is a hard-working, zealous officer and if he is successful in securing another Armory, the company will make a better showing at the next inspection.

Company "B," 56th Infantry.

This is a very good company, the men mostly college and high-school men, contains also a large per cent of athletes and taken altogether a very good type of young American manhood. Drill can be improved.

Company "C," 56th Infantry.

This is one of the best companies I have seen and reflects credit on officers and men alike. Men of excellent type and very zealous, one sergeant being carried in blankets to the armory to report.

Company "D," 56th Infantry.

This company has been torn by internal dissensions for the past two years and shortly before my arrival at Estherville, there had been a disgraceful fight on the floor of the armory in the presence of the company, one lieutenant attempting to draw his sabre on the Company Commander, etc.

There is no discipline here, the company owes $400.00 back rent. The citizens have no interest other than an unfriendly and criticising one in the company.

I have therefore recommended the mustering out of this company and it has either already been done by the Adjutant General of the State or is in progress. Another company at some other point will immediately be mustered in in time for camp.

Company "E," 56th Infantry.

This is a very good company, zealous and of good material. There is only one officer at present, Lieutenant Fritts, but a Captain (Dr. Bracken) has been elected who will take hold in June.

Much of the excellence of the company is due to Major Bailey, 56th Infantry, who was its former commander.

Company "F," 56th Infantry.

Good to fair. This company seems to be infected with dry rot. Several changes have been made in Company Commanders and the general atmosphere of uncertainty has communicated itself to the men and finally to the citizens of the town, who seem rather listless as to the future of the company. I would recommend a further inspection of the conditions here by a State officer with a view toward livening up the situation and interesting the public spirited people at Algona.

Company "G," 56th Infantry.

This is an excellent company and the young men who compose it are of a very intelligent class, they are very zealous and average very highly physically, as the Company Commander has encouraged athletic sports of all kind and the armory gives facilities for them.

Company "H," 56th Infantry.

This company has about the best drill I have seen in the State. The men seem of good character and zealous. Open order by company and squad very good. There is more or less friction at this armory owing to its occupancy by two companies of the guard. Much of the unhappy feeling is the result of the mental attitude of the rank and not the file of the companies and to an outsider seems anything but the proper way to advance the interests of the guard at Sioux City. With the rental derived from the State the three (3) organizations at this place should secure a larger hall or armory with plenty of elbow room, and consequently less confusion.

The two companies here are too valuable to suffer from lack of co-

Company "I," 56th Infantry.

This is a good company and Captain Lawson is a very earnest and hard-working officer. As he is a railroad engineer and sacrificed about $10.00 to be present for inspection it can be seen he is interested in the work.

The drill can be bettered and this I believe is to be done by more study on the part of the officers of their drill.

Target practice is in excellent shape in this company.

Company "K," 56th Infantry.

This is an excellent company, one of the best I have seen. Officers and men of an unusually intelligent class. Captain Williams and his officers and men have the support and interest of the town, are enthusiastic and willing to learn. The small percentage of absentees out of such a large company goes further than anything I can say toward showing the zeal of the company.

Company "L," 56th Infantry.

There is the nucleus of a good company here but the company carries a lot of dead wood on its rolls, as evidenced by the attendance. There is insufficient room for property and it has suffered in consequence. A former Company Commander has left much confusion in property matters also. The fact of two companies having this inadequate hall and other matters purely local have served to engender an ill feeling between members of the two companies, which I regret to say seems to be fostered by those who should have the interests of the guard sufficiently at heart to avoid any such condition and whose efforts should go rather toward harmony and better accommodations.

Company "M," 56th Infantry.

This is a new company but officers and men are zealous and hope to have a new armory this year. I would suggest that this matter be kept track of for the reason that the present location of the company will effectually stand in the way of improvement. I believe the citizens of Cherokee will help this company as they should do.

Very respectfully,
Francis J. McConnell,
Captain 11th Infantry, Inspecting Officer."

Adjutant General.

Des Moines, Iowa.

SIR: I have the honor to submit herewith the report of the tour of duty of the department of the Small Arms Practice for the year 1910.

Pursuant to General Orders the details from the companies assembled at the state rifle range on June 27th for the eighth annual competition of the Iowa Rifle Association, and of the companies being represented except E and F of the 56th Regiment. The detail of staff and range officers proved to be the most efficient we have ever had, and the competition proceeded with an order and system almost equal to the national matches. The first day was devoted to preliminary practice, and each evening to a school of instruction. The entire program was carried out in every detail and every match finished in schedule time. Very much yet remains to be done in the development of individual companies, still, a great improvement was noted. Following is a detailed statement of the scores and winners in the various matches.

Pursuant to orders the detail for the try out for places on the State Team assembled at the state rifle range on July 16, 1910; July 17th and 18th were devoted to preliminary practice and the regular course of the competition was begun on July 19th. This was continued through five courses ending July 23d, when all were eliminated, according to scores, but sixteen. On July 26th the regular practice and instruction of the state team began, all being present except Lieut. Don A. Preussner and Sergt. Frank L. Beeson, who were unable to report until a later date. For this reason all of the eliminations were not made until a later date. Private Harp who had fairly won a place among the first fifteen men was compelled to abandon the competition for business reasons; and Cook Keigley was the last man to be eliminated. The entire team practice consisted in firing the national course sixteen times, with extra practice at rapid fire and skirmish, which was completed on August 12th. During all the time until August 5th we had the valuable assistance of Lieut. M. C. Mumma of the 2d Cavalry U. S. A., at which date he left to report for duty as assistant statistical officer of the national matches. On August 13th we left camp at the state range and took train for Camp Perry, Ohio, where we arrived on the evening of August 14th. On August 15th we entered the entire team, alternates and spotter in the President's Match of the National Rifle Association, and nine of them won places, Lieut, J. L. Carlson being the highest. Part or all of the team were entered in the Marine Corp Match, the Long Range Tyro, the Individual Rapid Fire and the Members Match, in all of which many good places were won. The most interesting of the National Rifle Association matches in which we took part was the regimental team match. The team for this match was from the 53d regiment and Capt. E. S. Geist acted as team captain. The firing members of the team were Capt. Harry G. Utley, Lieut. J. L. Carlson, Lieut. Don A. Preussner, Sergt. C. M. King, Sergt, Frank A. Fincel, Jr., and Corp. W. H. Durchdenwald. This match consisted of ten shots slow fire at each of the ranges, 200 yards, 600 yards and 1,000 yards. Thirty-four teams entered from strong shooting regiments all over the United States, including several from the regular army. The 53d regiment won third place with a score of 818, being only thirteen points below the 6th Massachusetts which won first, and three points below the 15th U. S. Infantry which won second. Sergt. C. M. King made a possible score at 1,000 yards in this match and had the highest total score.

Following the National Rifle Association matches we had two days' preliminary practice for the national matches, and did not determine who should be the principals in the national team match until the conclusion of this practice. The team was then selected as follows: Major Fred S. Hird, Capt. Edwin S. Geist, Capt. Emil C. Johnson, Capt. Harry G. Utley, Lieut. Lee Roy Schilling, Lieut. James L. Carlson, Lieut. John P. King, Lieut. Don A. Preussner, Sergt. George Bever, Jr., Sergt. Frank A. Fincel, Jr., Sergt. Charles M. King and Corp. William H. Durchden-Alternates were Capt. Edmund A. Ringland, Sergt. Elmer E. Hildebrand and Sergt. Frank L. Beeson. Major Frank R. Fisher was designated as coach and Corp. Raymond W. Ralston as spotter. It was evident that Iowa had the best team ever sent to the national matches when found that men who had ranked highest heretofore were now serving only as alternates. However, neither Sergt. Hildebrand nor Sergt. Beeson had been able to be present during all the time of training the team and were therefore slightly below the showing of the other men.

The national match begun on the 22d day of August, and during that day we had the honor of a visit from Governor Carroll and Adjutant General Logan, the first time such an honor has been accorded to the state team at the national matches. The Iowa team took its meals at a farm house about a mile and a half from the camp.

The Iowa team did not shoot its best during the slow fire stages of the match. Its scores were all good considering the very hard conditions at 1,000 yards, but many other teams were a few points better, and Iowa was in eighteenth place when the 1,000 yards stage ended. However, we were only a few points from the top and the real tests of the match were yet to come. In rapid fire the Iowa team appeared at its best and the average score was forty-five with one point to spare, and Iowa was in twelfth place. Then came the skirmish which is always the most important part of the national match. The Iowa team made its run with a coolness and steadiness that fully demonstrated its ability in this most important kind of fire. We were on the eighth run and there were thirteen runs in all, and no scores were reported until all had been completed. The statistical officers decided to report the low runs first and this procedure left Iowa as the last to be reported, because Iowa had made the highest run in the national match. The Marine Corp had tied with Iowa on points but for technical reasons its entire score was thrown out, and the Iowa team had made a better run than any of the other regular service or national guard teams, averaging exactly eighty-six and the low score being seventy-nine. This was a demonstration of team work that is rarely excelled, and it put Iowa in the third place in the national match, having fairly defeated all the national guard teams and two of the regular service teams and also the Marine Corp upon the ruling that threw out its skirmish. The team won $300.00 in prize money and bronze medals, all from Congress. It is the first time the Iowa team has won a place in the national matches. This result was achieved only by the most faithful and persistent efforts of every member of the team throughout the entire tour of duty. Sergt. Frank J. Fincel, Jr., made a possible skirmish, and with a total of 279 has the second highest score in the whole national match. He was a new man on the team, which speaks words of promise for all new men who will faithfully fight for a place in these great rifle matches. The scores of the team were as follows:
