IOWA'S NATIONAL GUARD

The first contingent of the Iowa National Guard ordered to one year's active duty in the Army of the United States consisted of six officers of the State Staff. These officers reported for duty on September 20, 1940, and were assigned to State Headquarters for Selective Service. On October 10, 1940, the State Detachment of 26 enlisted men was ordered to duty and assigned to Selective Service Headquarters, which had been established in the armory at East First and Des Moines Streets, Des Moines. Subsequently, seven additional officers of the State Staff were assigned to this duty.

Complying with an executive order of the President, all units of the 113th Cavalry reported at their respective armories on January 13, 1941, and started their year's active training.

The advance detachment of this regiment departed from their home stations on January 20, 1941, en route to Camp Bowie, Texas. The balance of the regiment left home stations on January 23 and traveled by special train. Colonel Maxwell A. O'Brien of Des Moines, commanded the Cavalry.

On Monday, February 10, 1941, at their respective armories, Iowa's 5,500 National Guardsmen were inducted into active service. Iowa Guardsmen were sent to Camp Claiborne, Louisiana, about 18 miles south of Alexandria, Louisiana, and 185 miles northwest of New Orleans.

The Iowa Guardsmen thus mobilized on February 10, 1941, were part of the 34th division and included the 67th brigade, the 168th and 133rd Infantry regiments, the 185th Field Artillery, the 136th Medical Regiment, the 109th Quartermaster Regiment and a number of special troops which serve the division. The 34th division, in addition to the Iowa troops, includes National Guard units from Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota. The Iowa troops thus mobilized came from Des Moines, Iowa City, Sioux City, Council Bluffs, Clarinda, Audubon, Jefferson, Shenandoah, Villisca, Centerville, Marshalltown, Neola, Glenwood, Atlantic, Red Oak, Waterloo, Dubuque, Cedar Falls, Fairfield, Cedar Rapids, Fort Dodge, Mason City, Webster City, Sheldon, Le Mars, Burlington, Newton, Ida Grove, Sibley, Davenport, Boone, Clinton and Grand Junction.

The 34th division was commanded by Major General Ellard A. Walsh of Minnesota. Brig. Gen. Gordon C. Hollar, of Sioux City, was the ranking Iowa officer, being commander of the 67th brigade. Next come Colonels Folsom Everest of Council Bluffs, commander of the 168th; Howard J. Rouse of Waterloo, commander of the 133rd; Walter L. Anderson of Boone, commander of the 185th Field Artillery; Earl B. Bush of Ames, commander of the 136th Medical regiment; and Roy B. Gault of Osceola, commander of the 109th Quartermasters regiment.

The National Guard of Iowa, like that of other states, was mobilized by a Presidential order, which had been given authorization by Congress. In such a case the troops become subject to jurisdiction of federal authorities.
