INTRODUCTION

The National Guard is an organization composed of individuals voluntarily serving the States and the Nation as members of military units. The tradition of the citizen-soldier goes back to colonial days when every adult male was assigned to a militia company. Those companies which were active were called "Volunteer Militia" and were equipped and trained according to the needs of the time. The National Guard is the lineal descendant of the Volunteer Militia. The equipment of the militia was meager and training was limited to drill—but regular drill was required. Then, as now, the emphasis was on training, on readiness for any emergency.

The National Guard of today is organized under Regular Army and Air Force tables of organization and equipment. It consists of 27 divisions in the Army National Guard and 27 wings in the Air National Guard, and, in addition, a number of regimental combat teams, anti-aircraft artillery battalions, and other combat and support units. On 30 June 1956 the National Guard consisted of 5,962 federally recognized units with a strength of 467,937. These units and personnel are located in approximately 2,500 cities and towns throughout the 48 States and in the Territories of Hawaii and Alaska, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, and the District of Columbia.

The National Guard of the several States has a dual status and mission. Each federally recognized unit is also a part of the National Guard of the United States. The mission of the National Guard of the several States is to provide organizations in each State, so trained and equipped as to enable them to function efficiently at existing strength in the protection of life and property and the preservation of peace, order, and public safety, under competent orders of the State authorities. When not on active duty in the service of the United States, members of the National Guard of the United States are administered, armed, uniformed, equipped, and trained in their status as members of the National Guard or Air National Guard of the several States and Territories, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, and the District of Columbia.

The mission of the National Guard of the United States is to provide units of the reserve components of the Army and the Air Force, adequately organized, trained, and equipped, available for mobilization in the event of a national emergency or war, in accordance with the deployment schedule, and capable of participating in combat operations, in support of Department of Defense war plans.

The National Guard Bureau is charged with administering approved Department of the Army and Department of the Air Force policies other than those relative to training, for the Army National Guard and the Air National Guard not in active Federal service, and with promulgating Department of the Army and Department of the Air Force directives and regulations applicable to the Army National Guard and the Air National Guard, including those relating to training.

This Biennial Report is a summary of the Iowa National Guard's major accomplishments and activities, and the achievements and problems of the Military Department of the State of Iowa, during the biennium ending 30 June 1956.

POLICIES OF DEPARTMENT OF THE ARMY AND DEPARTMENT OF THE AIR FORCE RELATING TO THE NATIONAL GUARD

I. GENERAL

The National Guard of the United States and the Air National Guard of the United States are integral parts and first line reserve components of the Army of the United States and the United States Air Force. The National Guard of the United States, in time of national emergency, may be called or ordered into the Army of the United States and the United States Air Force through its National Guard of the United States status. All federally recognized units and elements of the active National Guard and the personnel of the Inactive National Guard of the several states, territories, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico, together, constitutes the National Guard of the United States.

II. MISSIONS

A. Mission of the National Guard of the United States and the policy relative to its employment are set forth in the Armed Forces Reserve Act of 1952 (Public Law 476, 82d Congress) as follows:

"Sec. 201. (a) The Congress hereby declares that the reserve components of the Armed Forces of the United States are maintained for the purpose of providing trained units and qualified individuals to be available for active duty in the Armed Forces of the United States in time of War or national emergency, and at such other times as the national security may require, to meet the requirements of the Armed Forces of the United States in excess of those of the Regular components thereof, during and after the period needed for procurement and training of additional trained units and qualified individuals to achieve the planned mobilization."

This law specifically defined and further clarified that the mission of the National Guard of the United States is to provide a reserve component of the Army of the United States and the United States Air Force capable of immediate expansion to war strength, able to furnish units fit for service anywhere in the world, trained and equipped to: 1. Defend critical areas of the United States against land, seaborne or airborne invasion. 2. Assist in covering the mobilization and concentration of the remainder of the reserve forces. 3. Participate by units in all types of operations, including the offensive, either in the United States or overseas.

B. Mission of the National Guard of the Several States.

A dual mission is levied upon both the Army and Air National Guard. As stated above, both the Army and Air National Guard have the Federal mission of preparing their units and members for active military service in time of national emergency, however, there is also an important mission to perform for the State of Iowa. The State mission, a peacetime one, is the traditional guardian of life and property and constitutes a State security Force, which provides sufficient organization in the State so trained and equipped as to enable them to function efficiently at existing strength in the protection of life and property and the preservation of peace, order and public safety under competent orders of State authorities. This mission also is being accomplished. (See "Active State Duty" hereafter for incidents requiring use of State Troops during this biennium.)

III. COMPOSITION OF THE IOWA NATIONAL GUARD

A. The organization and units allotted to the several States will be those which are required for the accomplishments of the mission of the National Guard and, when taken with the units of the Regular Army, United States Air Force and their reserve components, will provide the essential forces required for early mobilization. Within the total allotment, organizations of the proper type will be allotted to each State to enable it to accomplish the Federal and State missions.

IV. FEDERAL AND STATE RESPONSIBILITY

A. GENERAL

The National Guard is an integral part of the Army of the United States and the United States Air Force and its success depends upon mutual confidence between the Federal Government and the States and Territories. Such confidence is obtained only by the wholehearted efforts of all parties to maintain an effective National Guard.

B. The Federal Government is responsible for:

1. Providing the pay of federally recognized personnel for participation in authorized inactive duty training and active duty for training, including appropriate duty or duties and periods of equivalent duty or training, and Administrative pay.
2. The procurement and issue of uniforms, arms, equipment and supplies.
3. The supervision of training.
4. To appropriate a sum of money annually for the expense of providing ordnance stores, quartermaster stores, camp equipment and to contribute to State Funds an equitable share of the expense of construction and maintenance of certain training facilities, as are now or may later be authorized by law.
5. Audit and inspect National Guard Units, Army and Air, and accounts and records of the United States Property and Fiscal Officer.

C. The State Government is responsible for:

1. Subject to such qualifications for Federal recognition as may be established by the Secretary of the Army and Air Force, appoint, promote, transfer, assign and separate personnel of the National Guard, Army and Air.
2. Provide training and storage facilities, except as contributed by the Federal Government.
3. To train officers, warrant officers and enlisted personnel of the National Guard, Army and Air.
4. To properly account for and maintain all Federal property and funds.

D. Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment Iowa National Guard.

Within each State there shall be an administrative staff to be designated as "State Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment" and which will be organized and federally recognized as a unit of the National Guard. The numbers and grades of officers, warrant officers and enlisted men within the State Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment will be based upon the strength of allotted National Guard Units to the State and, in addition, will provide a suitable number of officers and enlisted men for duties in connection with Selective Service and internal security.

E. Headquarters, Iowa Air National Guard

By direction of the Secretary of the Air Force through the Chief, National Guard Bureau, the unit known as the Headquarters Iowa Air National Guard is assigned to the office of the State Adjutant General. As the State Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment, the strength of the Headquarters, Iowa Air National Guard, is based upon the total personnel authorization of the Federally recognized Air National Guard units of the State. The responsibility of determining positions and titles for the grades authorized rests with the State Adjutant General. The Mission of Headquarters, Iowa Air National Guard, is to advise and assist the Adjutant General in matters pertaining to administration, logistics and training of Air National Guard Units within the State.

F. Advisors.

Under policies of the Department of the Army and Department of the Air Force, selection and assignment of qualified advisors is reserved as a function of Headquarters, Department of the Army and Headquarters, Department of the Air Force. The supervision of the training responsibility of the advisors is vested in The Chief, Army Field Forces and Chief of Reserve Forces, Headquarters, United States Air Force. Personnel on duty as advisors with the National Guard will have no command status with troops or units of the National Guard, nor will they be subject to orders of State military authorities. The primary duties of advisors will be to advise and assist responsible commanders in the attainment and maintenance of that State of efficiency of the National Guard units as is prescribed by Headquarters, Department of the Army and Headquarters, Department of the Air Force.

G. National Guard Bureau.

1. The National Guard Bureau is charged with:

- a. Administering approved joint Army and Air Force policies, other than those relative to training, when such policies are applicable to both the Army National Guard not in the Federal service and the Air National Guard not in the Federal service and with promulgating joint Army-Air Force directives applicable to both the Army and Air National Guard, including those relating to training.

- c. Maintaining an office of record of all Department of the Army and Air Force records pertaining to the Army and Air National Guard not in the Federal service.

H. National Guard Policy Making.

All policies affecting the National Guard are prepared by the General Staff Committee on National Guard Policy (known as the "Section Five Committee") for action by the Secretary of the Army and Secretary of the Air Force under normal Department of the Army and Department of the Air Force Procedure. All regulations to carry such policies into effect are reviewed by this committee.

STATE EMERGENCY DUTY

DES MOINES RIVER FLOOD

On 22 June 1954, under the command of Lt Col Hensler, about 20 National Guardsmen were called to active duty for the purpose of aiding City officials during a Des Moines River Flood emergency.

On 23 June 1954, 185 additional Guardsmen from 9 Army National Guard units in the Des Moines area were ordered to active duty.

On 24 June 1954, an additional 200 men from 8 National Guard Units were called on active duty.

The National Guard furnished 77,500 sandbags to the city and 300 cots, blankets, and mattresses to the Red Cross.

The National Guard participation ranged from crowd control and aid to city police, general guard duty, medical aid, traffic control, dike guards, motor vehicle drivers, and evacuation work, and were on duty from 22 through 26 June.

It is felt by this headquarters that cooperation between the Guard and City officials was excellent at all times.

FACILITIES AND CONSTRUCTION PROGRAM

The States and the National Guard are confronted with the problem of providing adequate facilities for the greatly expanded Army and Air National Guard. Facilities required by the Iowa National Guard include armories, training facilities, ranges, hangars, fuel storage, crash equipment, maintenance and storage for the Air National Guard, and logistical support facilities such as warehouses, equipment storage facilities, maintenance shops, service centers, army aviation operational and maintenance installations. In addition, administrative and office facilities are required for the Adjutant General's staff, the United States Property and Fiscal Officer and the Army Advisor Staff. Because of the considerable post-war increase of the troop basis for the Army and Air National Guard in Iowa, the facilities in existence upon reorganization following World War II were inadequate.

State and Federal Responsibility: In formulating policies with reference to reorganization of the National Defense structure, following World War II, the then War Department, in conformance with the mandate of Congress as expressed in federal legislation, assigned the National Guard a mission as an integral part and a first line reserve component of the Army and Air Force of the United States.

In "War Department Policies Relating to Post-War National Guard," approved by the Secretary of War on 13 October 1945, the following general principles were set forth relative to the division of responsibility for support of the National Guard, as between the Federal Government and the States:

- (1) "The States will furnish the personnel, adequate armories, and storage facilities.
- (2) The Federal Government will supervise the instruction and will furnish the outdoor training facilities, the pay, and all uniforms, equipment and ammunition.
- (3) When the requirements for a balanced force in the Army of the United States necessitates the allocation of a State of Troops or equipment, the housing or storage of which would impose an inequitable burden, upon the State or Territory, such allocation will be made with the understanding that the Federal Government will contribute its equitable share of the expense of the construction and maintenance of necessary facilities."

Federal Assistance to the States: Federal assistance to the States in connection with new construction of National Guard facilities was first implemented in the Department of Defense Appropriation Act for Fiscal Year 1947, whereby funds were provided for the construction and procurement of logistical support facilities such as ordnance, maintenance shops, warehouses, service centers, equipment concentration sites, administrative facilities for United States Property and Disbursing Officers, and outdoor training facilities. Projects on this category were designated as 'men-armory' construction projects, and the Program provided that the Federal Government would support 100% of the construction cost of the facilities. The 81st Congress enacted P.L. 783, entitled the "National Defense Facilities Act of 1950" whereby authority is granted to the Department of Defense to participate in the construction of armories for the Civilian Components of the Armed Forces and to contribute funds to the States for the construction of National Guard armories. Responsibility for the administration of this assistance to the States is delegated to the National Guard Bureau. Policies promulgated pursuant to P.L. 783 require the States to contribute the following toward armory construction projects, pursuant to agreements, whereby title to the completed projects rest in the States:

- (1) 25% of the cost of the construction contract as determined by competitive bidding.
- (2) Necessary real estate.

- (3) Cost of grading, paving, and landscaping.
- (4) Furnishing and equipment.
- (5) Maintenance of the installation for 25 years.

The projects involved of new armory facilities, expansion or rehabilitation of existing facilities, and motor vehicle storage buildings. As fiscal 1958 opened, the extent of future federal support for this program was uncertain. An unofficial survey indicated that various states had approximately $35 million of matching funds ready for badly needed armory projects, which would indicate a requirement for $105 million of federal funds. However, Congress appropriated only $17 million for armories—far less than its share of matching funds.

National Guard "non-armory" projects—such facilities as shops, hangars, warehouses and office facilities—are constructed at 100 percent federal expense.

At the start of fiscal 1958 the administrative release of funds for construction of such facilities was slow, resulting in exposure of hundreds of millions of dollars' worth of costly military gear.

The Air National Guard, meantime, was operating from ninety-one flying installations and forty-one non-flying installations, with an ultimate program calling for ninety-four flying and forty-two non flying installations.

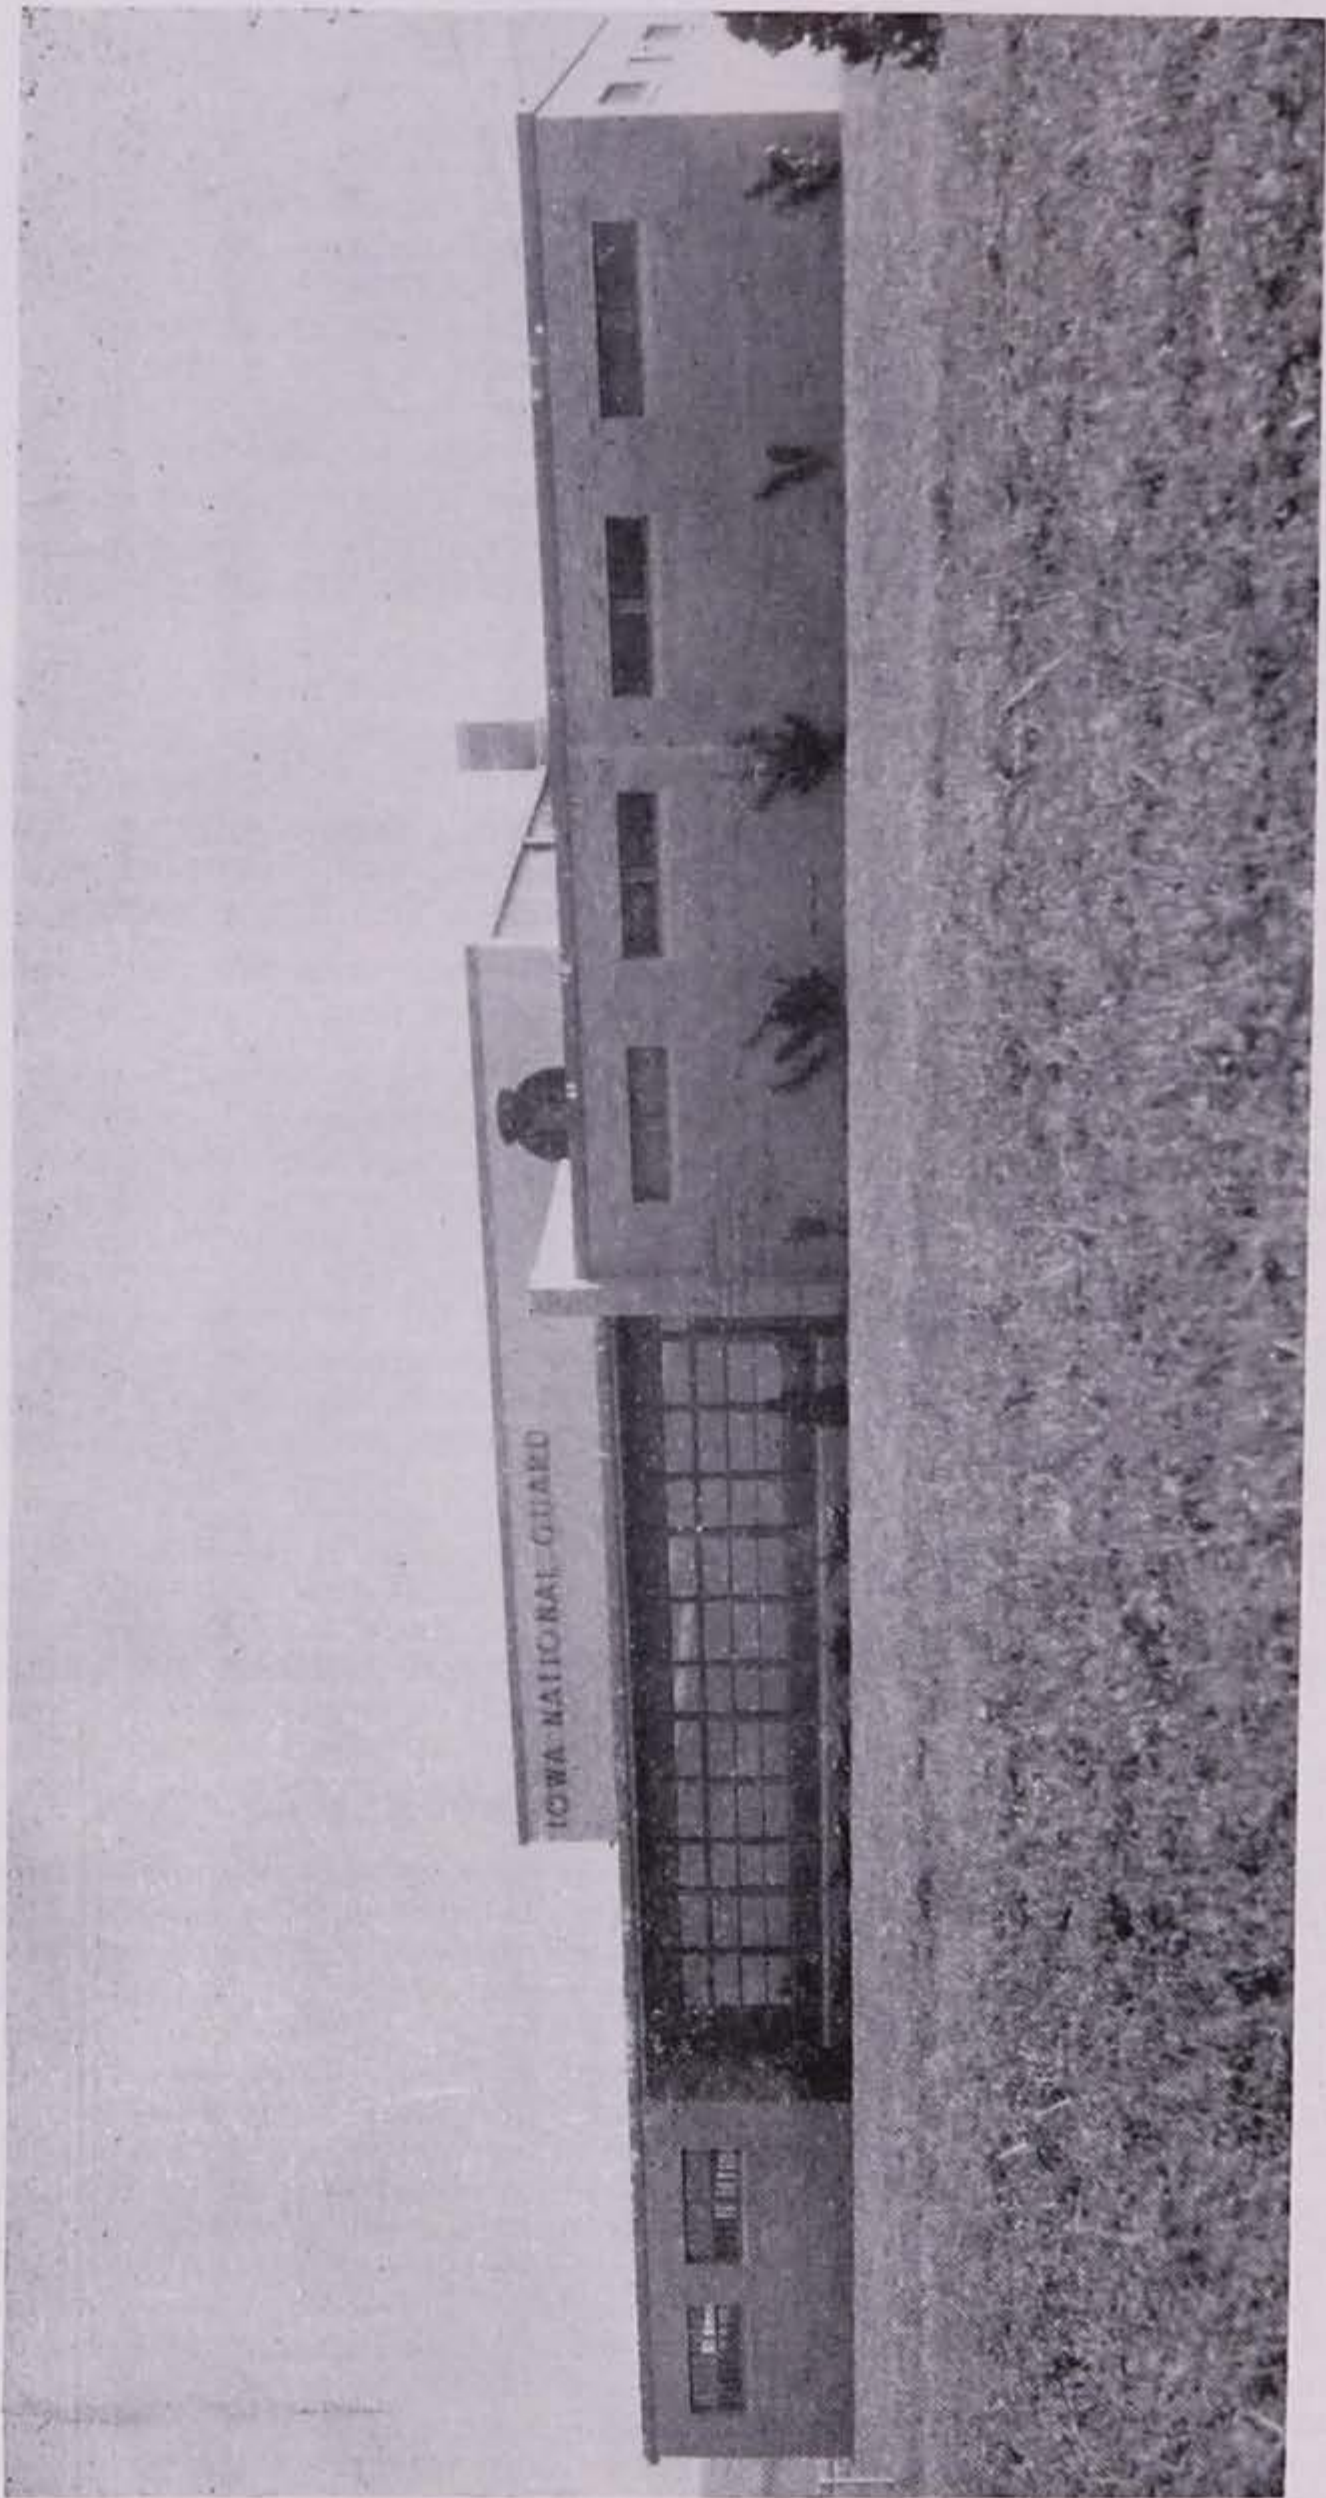

The past year has been one of frustrations as concerns the armory and non-armory construction program for the Army National Guard.

The Federal Bureau of the Budget continued its systematic effort to nullify the intent of the Congress. Congress appropriated $17,000,000.00 for the current fiscal year armory program and with a carry over of $6,300,000.00 from previous years available. Of the $23,300,000.00 appropriated by Congress, only approximately 34% has been made available to the National Guard Bureau for the program. It is present thinking that only $10,000,000.00 of the remaining $15,300,000.00 will be released for FY 1959. Thus, the Federal Bureau of Budget has been successful in preventing the National Guard Bureau from obligating the major part of the funds provided by Congress. There is no provision in the President's budget for any Guard armory construction.

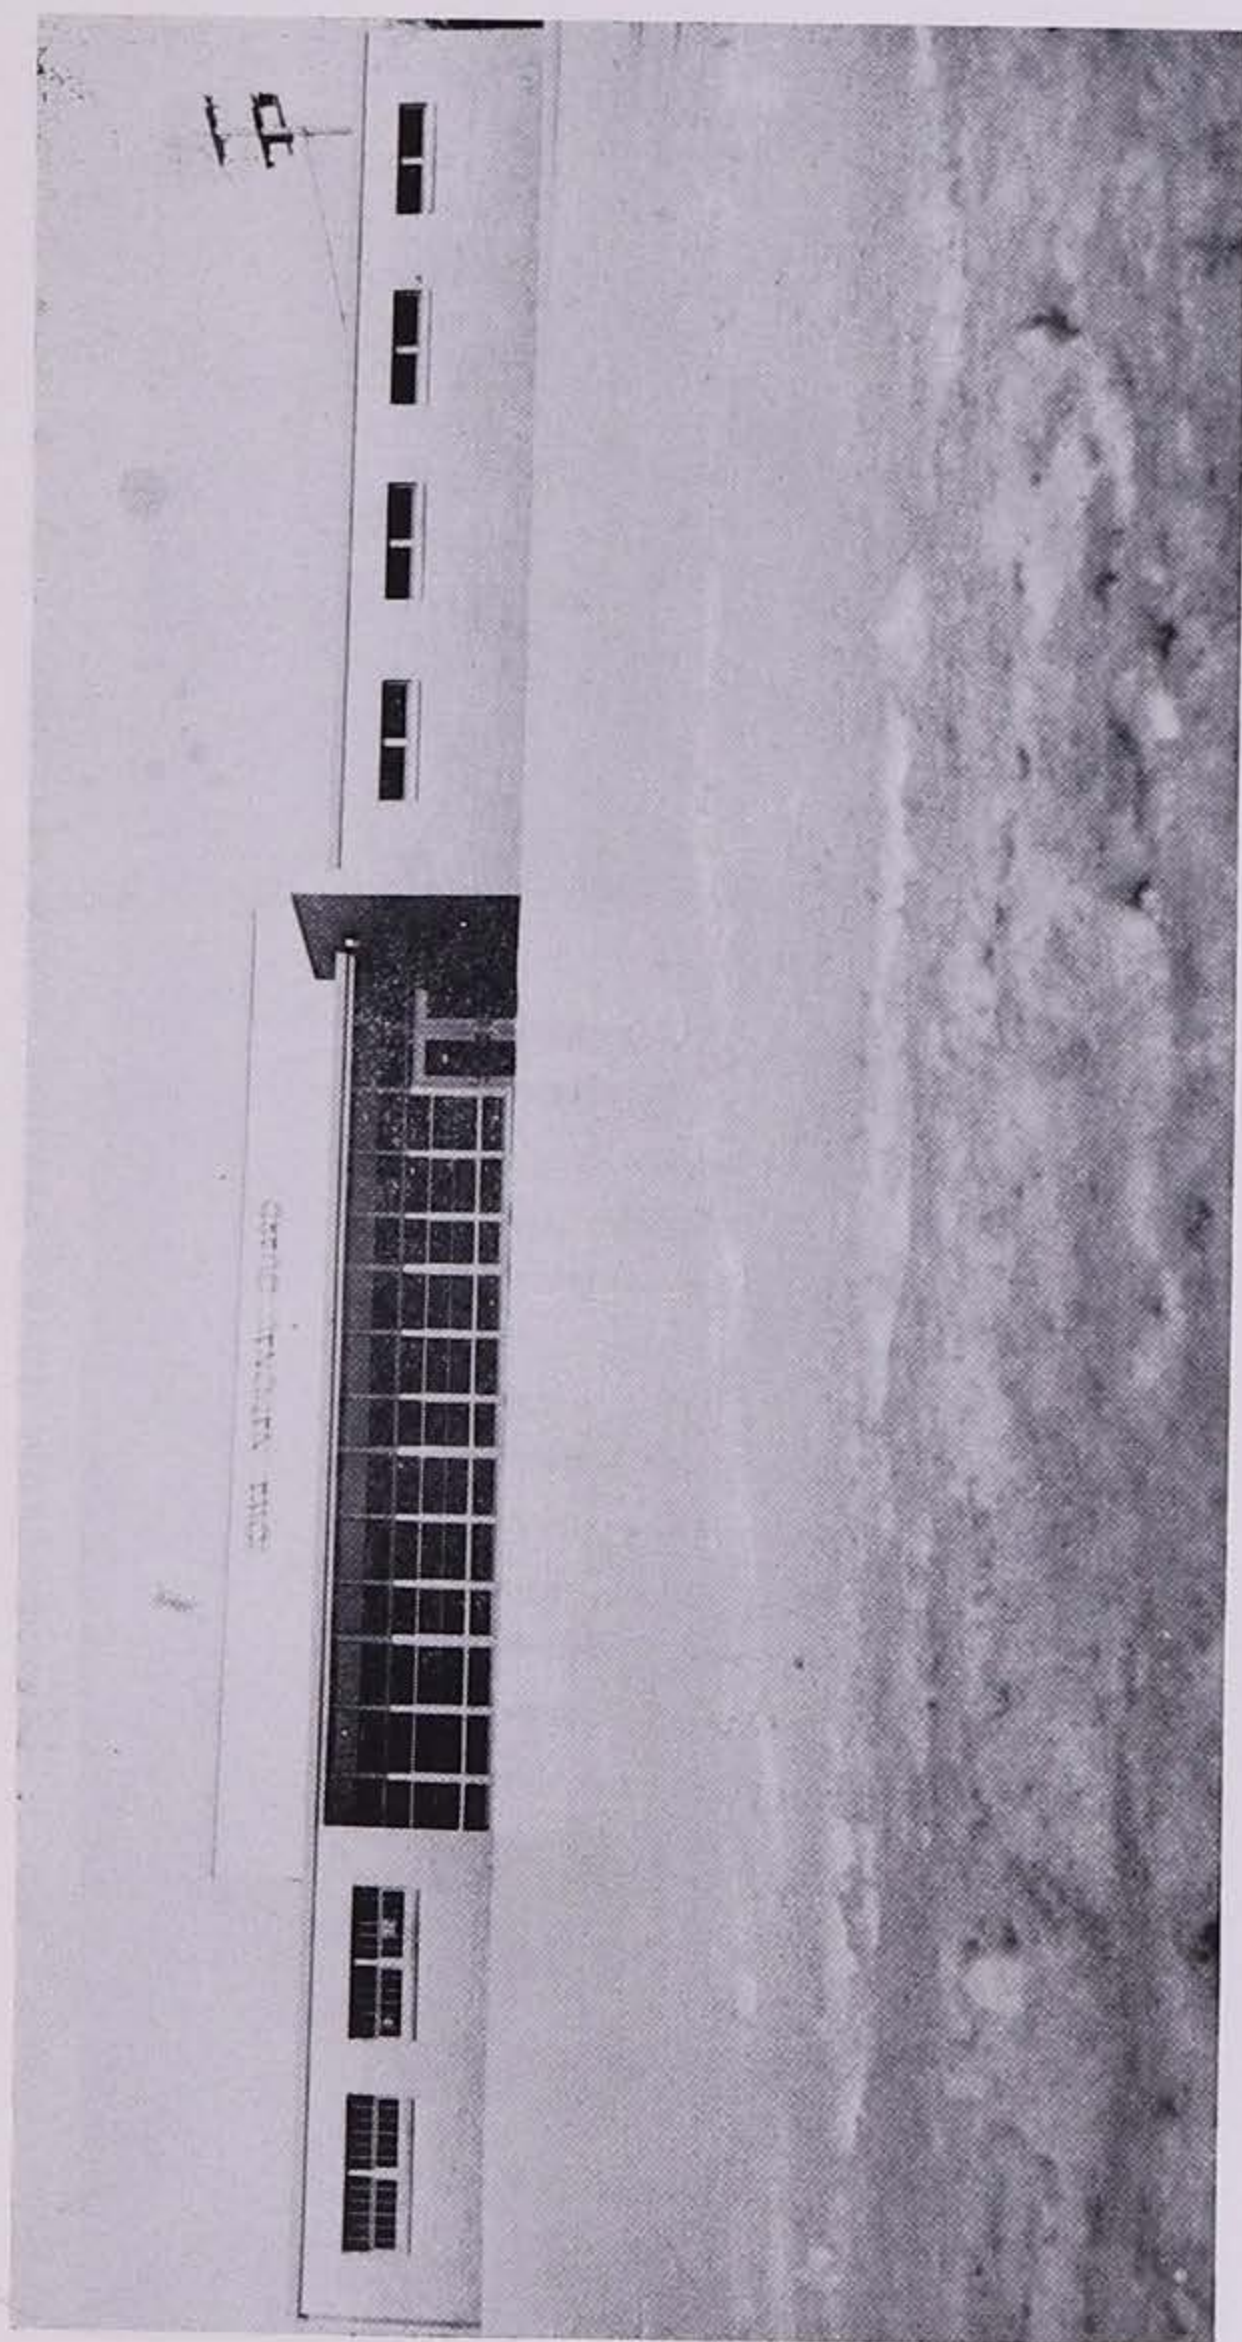

This situation has drawn congressional action. On 11 March 1958, the Armed Services Committee of the House of Representatives adopted a resolution urging the Department of Defense and the Bureau of Budget to immediately release the funds appropriated for Reserve facilities construction.

FACILITIES AND CONSTRUCTION PROGRAM IN IOWA

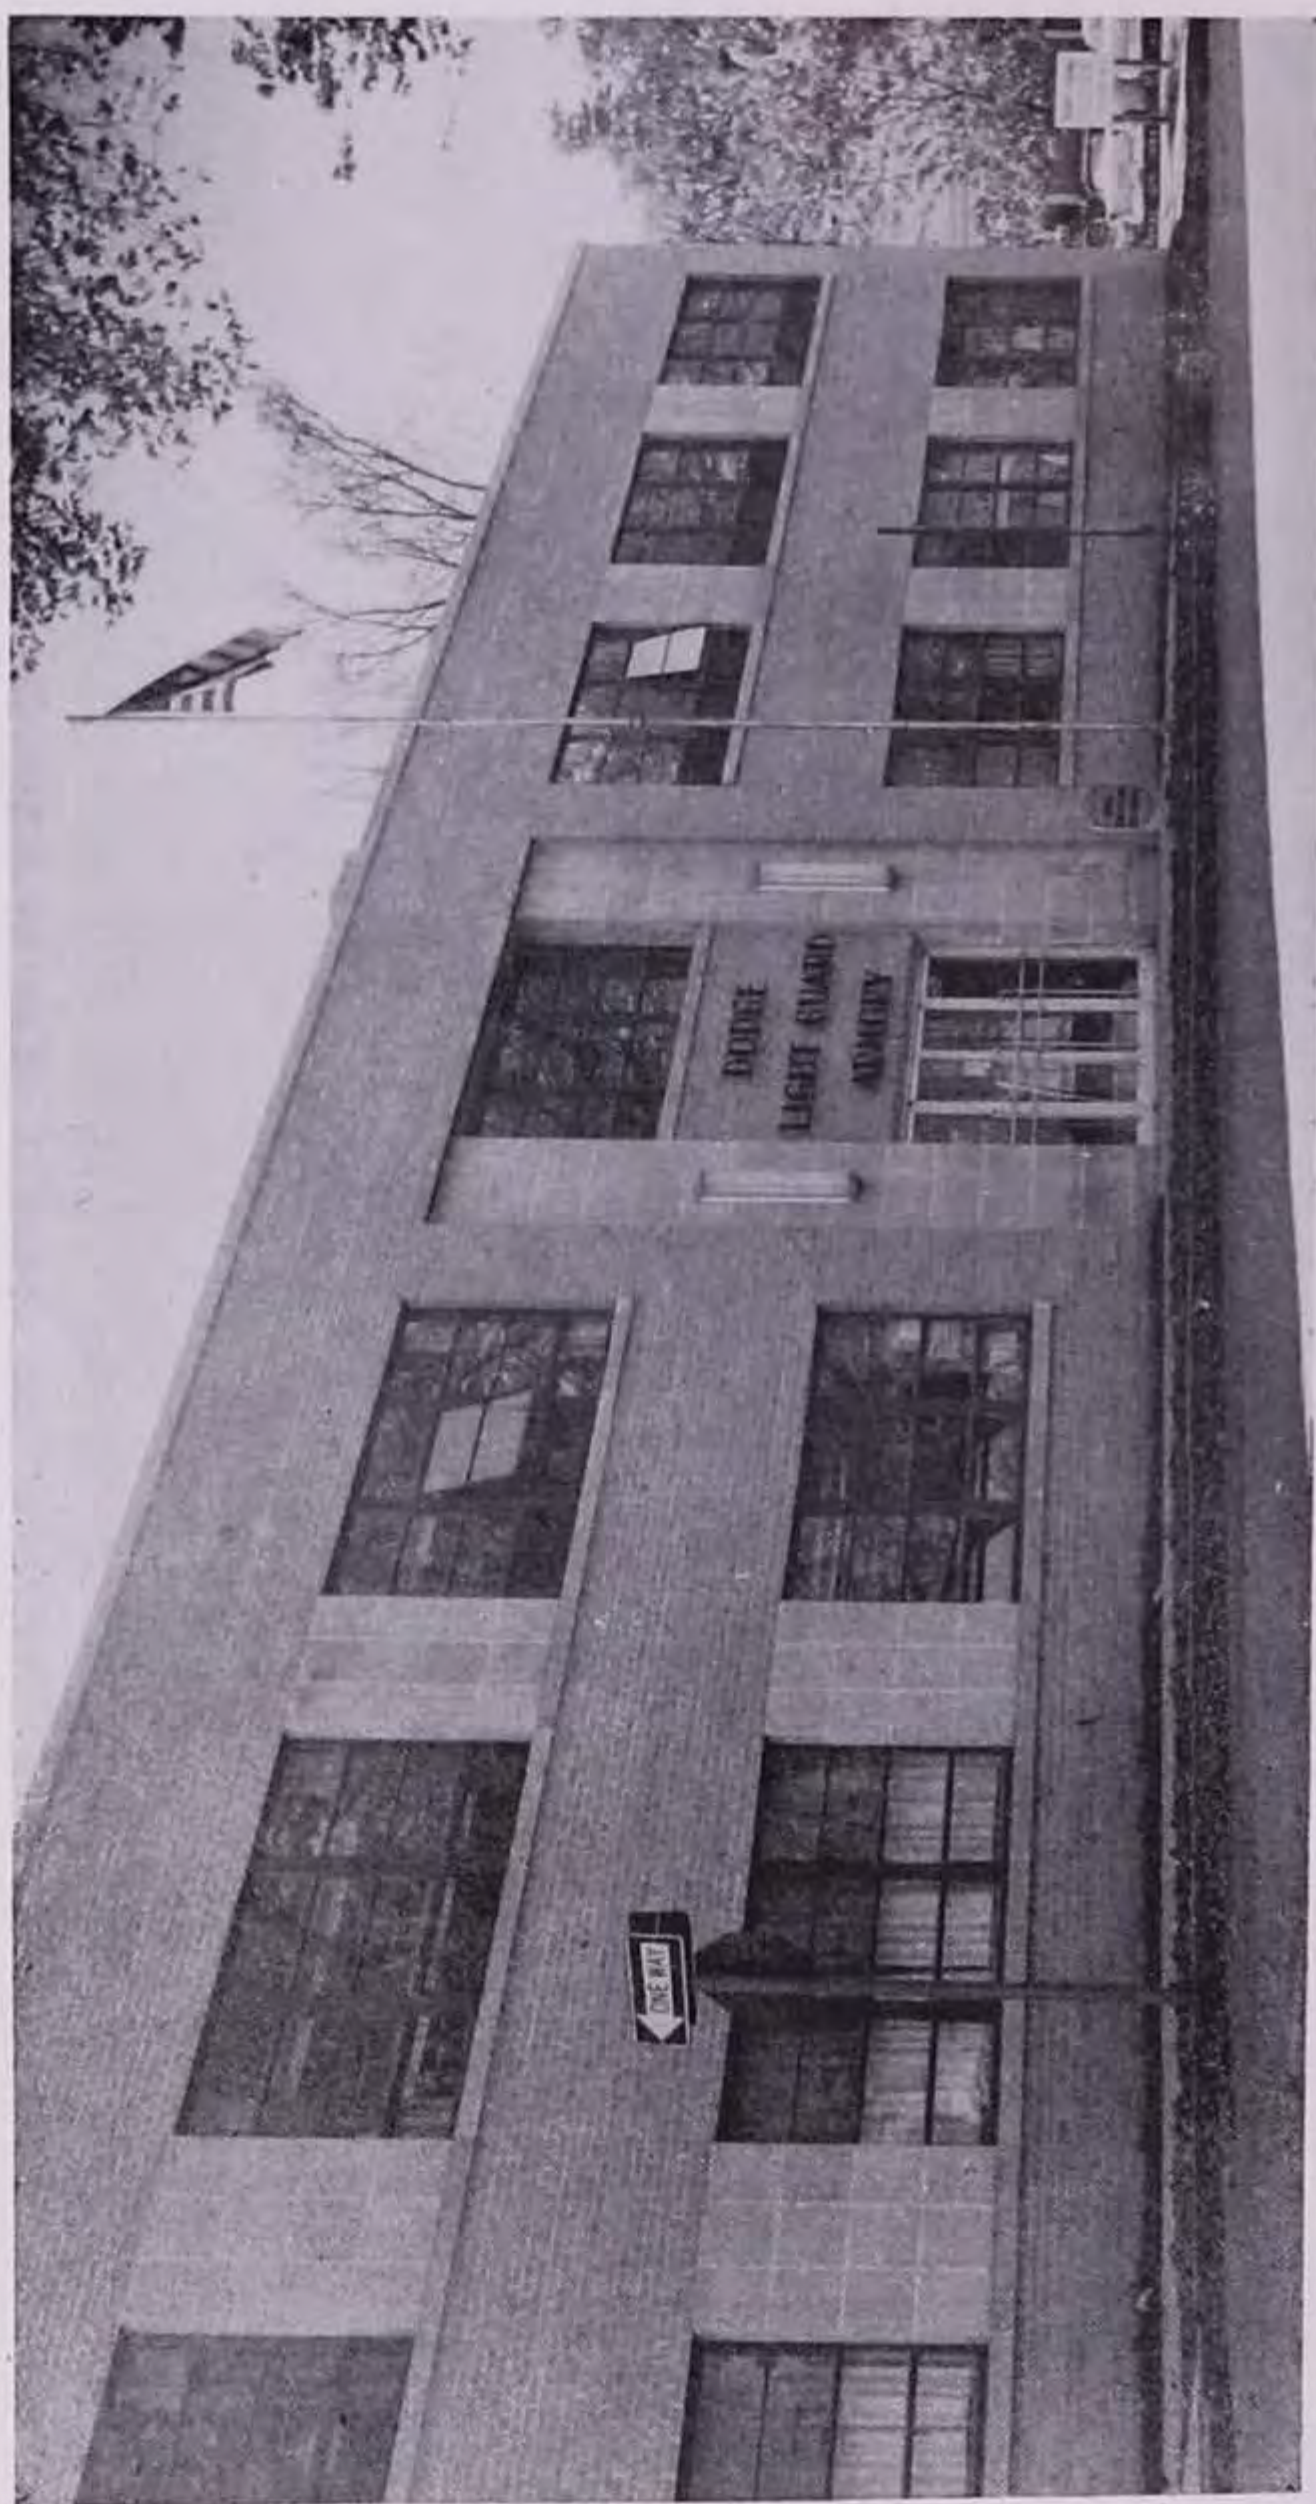

During the period 1947 through fiscal year 1957, a total of approximately $8,600,000.00 has been invested by the State of Iowa and the Federal Government for the Iowa National Guard, in the form of logistical support facilities, such as warehouses, shops, storage compounds, service centers, administrative facilities, Army Aircraft Maintenance facilities, and training installations; a total of 45 newly constructed or rehabilitated armories; and Air National Guard facilities such as hangars, warehouses, extended runways at the Des Moines Municipal Airport, and other essential air base installations. Of this amount, the State of Iowa had an investment of approximately $2,600,000.00 of which $1,843,500.00 represents the State's obligation over a period of years to pay for 22 armories acquired under a purchase option-lease plan. The annual operation and maintenance cost in connection with all Iowa National Guard facilities (Army and Air) is in excess of $500,000.00 and includes the cost of heat, utilities, and maintenance repairs. Of this amount, the Federal Government contributes approximately $118,519.00 pursuant to service contracts providing for reimbursement to the State for a percentage of such costs.

The receipts in the Camp Dodge Maintenance Account, deducted from the actual disbursements, are for heat, light and water furnished residents and tenants of State-owned property at Camp Dodge and homes located outside Camp Dodge, as well as the Hyperion Country Club. Monthly statements are issued to customers and all receipts remitted to the State Adjutant General. All receipts at Camp Dodge were verified from records in the office of the Camp Superintendent.

The receipts in the Armory Allowance Account, deducted from the actual disbursements, are miscellaneous receipts from various Armories in the State (such as temporary armory space rental to outside organizations), "Cost Reimbursable" by the Federal Government on Service Contracts at National Guard Airports and Camp Dodge, and refunds on light bills, insurance, etc., at the various Armories of the State.

The receipts of $55.00 in the Per Capita Allowance account, fiscal year 1954-1955, was a refund.

The Armory Allowance account, Schedule No. B-5, shows a break-down of expenditures for each Armory and Airport in the State. One expenditure break-down, called Supplies, Maintenance and Repairs, contains expenditures from a reimbursable fund called "The Maintenance Fund." This fund is used by twenty-two Armories and Airports over the State for small recurrent expenditures such as telephone, water, supplies, etc., under approval of the Unit Commander. The fund is audited by the office of the State Adjutant General at the time of each reimbursement. These audits were spot-checked.

The Headquarters Allowance account, fixed by the State Armory Board for each National Guard Unit, and the Per Capita Allowance account, based on the average enlisted strength of each National Guard Unit during each semi-annual period, are both contained in Schedule No. B-6. A semi-annual report, in detail, is required of each Unit, and is audited by the office of the State Adjutant General. These audits were spot-checked.

EXHIBITS J. K.—CAPITAL APPROPRIATIONS (1955-1956 AUDIT):

These funds were made available to the State Adjutant General by the 56th General Assembly (H. F. 578). The purposes are as follows:

Capital Appropriation 1A, Exhibit J, is to be used for lockers, folding chairs, and fire extinguishers for Armories throughout the State, and repairs to warehouses, schoolrooms, roofs, fences, and for new roofs at Camp Dodge.

Capital Appropriation 2A, Exhibit K, is to be used for the State's share of the armory construction program made available to the states by the Federal Government for the acquisition, construction, expansion, rehabilitation, and conversion facilities of the administration and training of units of the National and State Guard.

EXHIBIT "L"—ARMORY RENT, CONSTRUCTION COSTS AND BALANCES DUE (1955-1956 AUDIT):

This Exhibit, presented for information purposes, shows the following: Annual Armory rental figures.

The State's share (25%) of State-owned Armories constructed under the Federal-State agreement of 75%/25%.

The balance due as of June 30, 1956 on the State's share (25%) of State-owned Armories constructed under the Federal-State agreement of 75%/25%.

Under Armories leased with a purchase option, the amount of the lease, the annual payment (interest and principal) and the balance due, December 31, 1956.

GENERAL COMMENT:

Since receipts in the form of cash and checks are handled by the office of the State Adjutant General and the office at Camp Dodge, it was suggested that the responsible employees in these two offices be bonded. The receipts at Camp Dodge (shown in the Camp Dodge Maintenance account, Schedule No. B-4, and in the Camp Dodge Improvement Trust account, Exhibit "F") are in the form of cash and checks, and are all turned over to the bookkeeper, office of the State Adjutant General, for deposit. The bookkeeper also receives checks from different Armory Commanders (shown in the Armory Allowance account, Schedule No. B-5) for deposit.

During the course of the audit Surety Bonds were purchased for these two employees.

Respectfully submitted,

M. B. Bolsem,

Superintendent of State Audits.

State owned armories in column 2 were constructed on a 75/25 basis—the Federal Government paid 75% of the cost and these figures represent the State's share or 25% of the cost, paid by Armory Construction Funds.

The State's annual payment on LWPO armories in column 6 includes both interest and principal payment from Armory Allowance (column 2, Schedule No. B-5).

Annual rent payments, column 1, are paid from Armory Allowance (Schedule No.

(3) These figures represented the total State's share of the cost (25%).

FEDERAL PAY OF ARMY AND AIR NATIONAL GUARD TECHNICIANS

GENERAL

Army and Air National Guard Technicians are federally recognized officers, warrant officers, or enlisted men/airmen of the National Guard (Army/Air), employed as civilians for the performance of administrative, supply, accounting, operational, and maintenance functions in connection with the National Guard Program.

Authority for the Technicians Program emanates from Sac 90, National Defense Act, and technician's wages, and reimbursement for travel expenses, is supported entirely from Federal funds provided by Department of Defense Appropriations for the National Guard. The Adjutant Generals of the States and Territories are responsible to the National Guard Bureau for the effective administration of the National Guard Program within their respective States, and the Secretary of the Army and Air Force have delegated to the Adjutant Generals the authority to employ, fix rates of pay, establish duties and work hours, supervise and discharge, subject to the purview of appropriate regulations, laws, and instructions issued by the Chief of the National Guard Bureau. National Guard Technicians are thereby considered state employees.

The objective of the National Guard Technician Program is to

- (1) Provide a hard core of professionals within the National Guard, functioning full-time in their military occupational specialties, to assure the maintenance of a high standard of day-to-day operations and performances; and
- (2) Provide, upon mobilization, a nucleus of experienced and highly qualified specialists available for training and administering organizations and units.

IN EXCESS of $2,500,000.00 IN FEDERAL FUNDS IS BROUGHT INTO THE STATE OF IOWA EACH YEAR IN THE FORM OF WAGES AND TRAVEL REIMBURSEMENT FOR THE IOWA NATIONAL GUARD TECHNICIAN PROGRAM.

ARMY NATIONAL GUARD

The Army National Guard Technician Program includes the following three categories of employees:

National Guard Operating Forces (Troop Units) (162)

Staff assistant officers, administrative specialists, administrative supply technicians, and organizational maintenance technicians employed as assistants to organizational and unit commanders in connection with administrative, supply and maintenance duties for which the commanders are responsible. These technicians are dispersed throughout the State wherever organizational headquarters or units are located.

United States Property and Fiscal Officer Technicians (46)

Accounting, clerical, warehousing and distribution technicians employed in the offices and warehouses of the United States Property and Fiscal Officer, located at Camp Dodge, Iowa, for duties in connection with supply and warehousing, distribution, budget and fiscal operations, transportation, purchasing and contracting, administration and maintenance, and all other related logistical support functions in connection with the Iowa National Guard Program in Iowa.

Field Maintenance Technicians (56)

Clerical and maintenance technicians employed in the Office of the State Maintenance Officer, the Combined Field Mainteance Shops and Concentration of Equipment Site, located at Camp Dodge, and the Army Aviation Maintenance Shops, located at Boone, for functions and duties in connection with repair and maintenance of equipment of Federal equipment issued to the Iowa National Guard. These technicians include supervisors, shop foreman, small arms and artillery mechanics, electronics repairmen, machinists, automotive mechanics, welders, painters, and helicopter and fixed wing aircraft mechanics.

264 Army National Guard technicians are employed in Iowa.

MISSION

The mission of the Air National Guard is two fold and is described as follows:

The Federal Mission is to train to and maintain that level of operational effectiveness to enable it to destroy enemy airborne weapons. The State Mission, a peacetime one, is a traditional guardian of life and property and constitutes a state security force which provides sufficient organization in the state so trained and equipped to enable them to function efficiently at existing strength and the protection of life and property in the preservation of peace, order, public safety, under competent orders of State authorities.

ORGANIZATION AND PERSONNEL

As of 30 June 1954 the 132d Fighter Bomber Wing had a dual mission with mobilization assignment to the 31st Air Division (Def), Ft. Snelling, Minnesota.

Ninety percent (90%) or 1144 personnel attended Field Training at Natrona County Airport, Casper, Wyoming from 17 through 31 July 1954. This was the first encampment since the Wing returned from the 21 month tour of active duty on 1 January 1953.

As of 31 December 1954 about 55% of assigned personnel had not had active Federal service or attended USAF Service School.

On 1 July 1955 the Fighter-Bomber portion of the dual mission was withdrawn and the Wing was redesignated "Fighter Interceptor." This was promulgated by General Order No. 21, AG Iowa, 15 June 1955, which also redesignated the 132d Maintenance Squadron as the 132d Field Maintenance Squadron.

Field Training Exercises were conducted again at Natrona County Airport, Casper, Wyoming from 30 July through 13 August 1955. This year ninety-one percent of assigned strength or 1477 personnel attended. In fact, the 124th Fighter Interceptor Squadron was awarded the Governor Hoegh Trophy as the Iowa Tactical Squadron or Army Battalion with the highest percentage of authorized strength attending Field Training.

The M-Day assignment of this Wing was transferred from 31st Air Division (Def), Ft. Snelling, Minnesota to the 20th Air Division (Def), Richards-Gebaur Air Force Base, Missouri on 1 March 1956.

The 174th Fighter Interceptor Squadron, Sioux City, was awarded the Spaatz Trophy and the Air Force Association Award at the Outstanding Air National Guard and Air Reserve Squadron for the year ending 31 December 1955.

The following figures will indicate the progress of this Wing in attaining the strength authorized:

The Wing increased from 64% of authorized strength manned on 30 June 1954 to 92% manned on 30 June 1956.

On 1 July 1954 the 133rd AC&W Flight was composed of nine officers and 79 airmen. Emphasis was placed on recruiting. Our unit participated in the National Guard "Muster Day," in February 1956. It proved a very successful operation as we enlisted twenty-nine airmen. Our strength on 30 Jun 56 had risen to seventeen (17) officers and one hundred eighty-eight (188) airmen.

TESTING

In the normal progress of training, enlisted personnel must attain a qualifying score in certain specialty tests to be eligible for advancement in the particular career field. Such advancement is further required as a pre-requisite for promotion in rank. During this period a total of 523 airmen assigned to Des Moines units were tested of which 71% qualified compared with the 79% from Sioux City that qualified for advancement.

RESERVE OFFICER PERSONNEL ACT 1954

Establishes certain criteria for mandatory promotion or elimination of officers in the Reserve components of the Air Force. Under this law twenty-four (24) officers were promoted and retained by assignment in comparable organizational positions. One (1) was deferred for further consideration by the next annual Selection Board Meeting. No officers were eliminated as not qualified for promotion.

SERVICE SCHOOLS

USAF Service Schools are available for personnel of the Iowa Air National Guard. The successful completion of these schools increases the overall effectiveness of this Wing. An aggregate of 193 personnel graduated from service schools during this period.

TRAINING

All training standards for the ANG are outlined in Continental Air Command (ConAC) Training Directives and are used by the 132d Fighter Interceptor Wing, and 133rd AC&W Flight.

ConAC Forms are used to record each major phase of training an individual has received.

Certain GMT subjects are offered each year on a consolidated basis to both officers and airmen.

During this period this Wing conducted basic training for airmen with no previous military experience. Basic Training requirements are outlined in ConAC Training Directives and each basic airman received 175 academic hours of classroom instruction. Proficiency had to be acquired in close order drills. Bivouacs were scheduled at Camp Dodge. Between 1 July 1954 and 1 June 1956 a total of 240 basic airmen were graduated from Des Moines.

A total of four (4) unit training assemblies are held per month, giving each unit a total of forty-eight (48) unit training assemblies a year. During these unit training assemblies all personnel work as a team, where a combined effort is made to operate an effective unit and support the mission of the Wing. Each unit has personnel who are learning to master their particular career field by classroom instruction and practical application or on-the-job training.

Field Training is held each year at Casper, Wyoming, for a period of fifteen days. All units of the wing, including those personnel from Lincoln, Nebraska, Sioux City, and Des Moines, Iowa, band together for a joint training program. Each unit reflects all the training which it has been accomplishing during its unit training assemblies throughout the previous year. During these fifteen days this Wing is on active duty and operates as an entire unit to build up proficiencies in each phase of training, and accomplishment of each unit and the Wing Mission.

SUPPLEMENTAL TRAINING EXERCISES

Supplemental Training Exercises are scheduled throughout the year. These exercises provide operational problems and develop teamwork both within the various units of this wing and with other military organizations. These exercises improve our capability to perform our M-Day mission. Supplemental Training Exercises are of two types: one type is the Unit Exercise, the other type is the Joint Exercise.

Individual unit exercises are exemplified by the weekend gunnery training exercises normally conducted at Casper, Wyoming by the Tactical Squadrons of this Wing. Sufficient parts and qualified personnel are transported to the gunnery site. Units operate independently and conduct training for pilots (with actual firing of live ammunition), mechanics, armorers, and sighting systems personnel. Gunnery training is important because all tactical aircrews must have the ability to bring their weapons to bear on enemy airborne vehicles. During the two year period of 1 July 1954 to 30 June 1956 each squadron of this wing conducted five weekend gunnery exercises per year.

Pre-Camp planning exercises are used by units of this Wing to prepare plans, directives, overall operations, and goals of the annual two weeks field training each year. These exercises start months ahead of the field training date by Headquarters 132d Fighter Interceptor Wing. After the overall plans are formulated, the various Groups within the Wing conduct their planning exercises. Finally, after Group plans are published, the individual squadrons conduct their planning just prior to field training. For an effective and successful field training these exercises are very important. Each assigned unit conducted one such exercise each of the two years covered in this report.

Joint exercises are conducted by the 132d Fighter Interceptor Wing to test its ability to meet Air Defense Requirements of immediate operational readiness in case of air attack on the United States. Exercises were conducted either within the units of the State of Iowa or in conjunction with the 31st Air Division covering a large area of the midwest. We are required to have certain minimum percentages of personnel available and of aircraft operationally ready for immediate employment against attacking enemy airborne weapons. Units of this Wing have always exceeded these minimum requirements and have performed operationally in an outstanding manner. During the period 1 July 1954 to 30 June 1956, three joint alerts were conducted. Operation Minuteman, April 1955, involved all National Guard Units both Ground and Air; Operation Stop Watch, October 1955 and Operation Crackerjack, December 1955 involved units of the Air National Guard and was triggered by the Air Defense Command. All of these exercises received nation-wide publicity. The following chart indicates active duty pay for the reporting period in support of supplemental training.

	Des Moines	224th Engr Avn	Sioux City	Fort Dodge
Officers	$62,358.35	$ -0-	$26,169.22	$11,803.20
Airmen	$78,796.11	$ -0-	$39,878.67	$16,560.75

PILOT TRAINING

A program to fill the pilot vacancies of each tactical squadron with Air Force trained pilots was begun in 1954 through 1956. These pilot trainees were selected mainly from the enlisted ranks of this Wing and were entered in the Air Force Pilot Training Program for 18 months of training. Seventy-one pilots had completed or were in training during the period.

As soon as each new pilot returns to his squadron he is checked out in the Unit Equipped Tactical Aircraft and given thorough transition training to familiarize the pilot with the aircraft and prepare him for more advanced training.

Upon entering the qualification phase each pilot is given gunnery training to enable the unit to perform the mission of intercepting and destroying enemy airborne weapons.

The ultimate goal of the Wing is to have all of its aircrews operationally ready. Each pilot is annually required to comply with Air Force Tactical minimum flying requirements. During the months prior to 1 July 1956 all aircrews were indoctrinated on Active Air Defense procedures concerning scrambling, intercepting aircraft by Ground Control Radar direction and other Air Defense procedures necessary to know before we began the actual active Air Defense Runway Alert Program on 1 July 1956.

In April 1956, the National Guard Bureau authorized an additional 36 flying training period annually for all Air National Guard officers and airmen on flying status.

These are in addition to the 48 training assemblies and 15 days field training required by law. The extra training periods permit aircrews to obtain annual flying training requirements in a paid status.

Since the 133rd AC&W Flight strength was approximately 60% basic airmen, it was necessary for them to concentrate on training. A basic training program was put into operation as outlined by directives published by the Continental Air Command. Attendance at an Air Force Technical School was made mandatory for certain career fields. The unit had twenty-six officers and airmen who attended service schools during this period. Many more men were programmed for the future.

FLYING HOURS

During the reporting period the two tactical squadrons of the Iowa Air National Guard flew a total of 17,962 aircraft hours. 7412 hours were flown during the period 1 July 1954 to 30 June 1955; however, a substantial gain occurred during the period 1 July 1955 to 30 June 1956 when 10,550 hours were flown. This overall impressive increase was due to aggressive efforts to produce combat ready squadrons and gains in pilot strength within the tactical squadrons.

MATERIEL

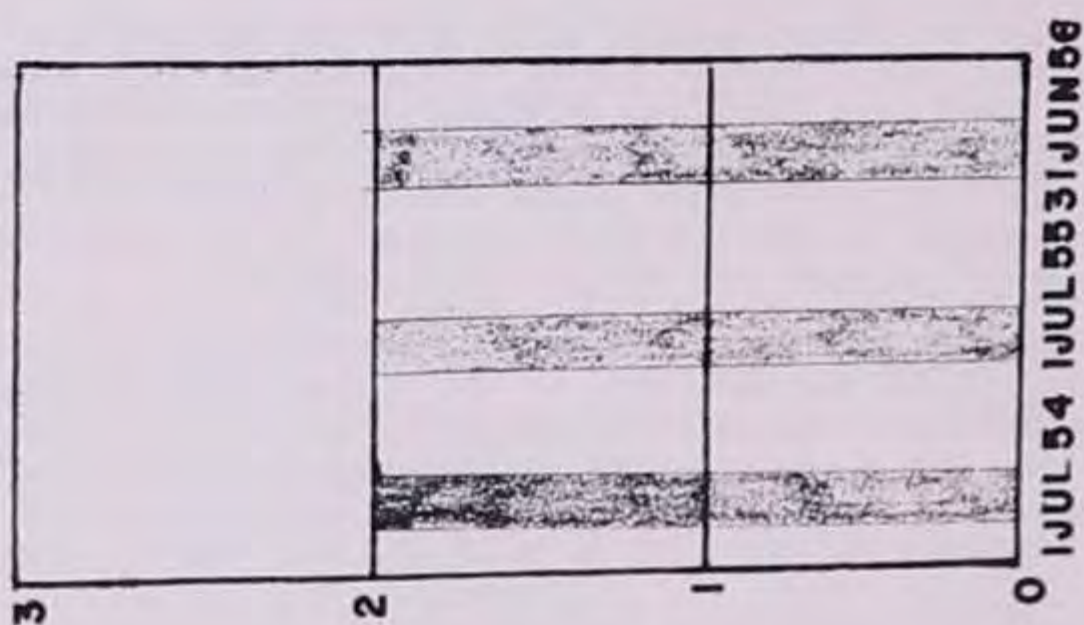

The equipment utilized by the Iowa Air National Guard is procured from several USAF Depots based on standardized requirements established by the Air Force. On 1 July 1954 the 132d Fld Maint Sq had the least amount of total authorized equipment (30%) on hand. As of 30 June 1956 with the support of the National Guard Bureau and the USAF, this deficiency was eliminated for all practical purposes. In the entire Wing, all units had received at least 90% of authorized equipment.

A major conversion of unit aircraft with allied equipment from the Lockheed F-80C Shooting Star to the Republic F-84E Thunderjet was begun in the Spring of 1956. This required considerable planning and effort and at the end of the reporting period support equipment and parts were being received in good order. Shortages existed, however, in electronic test equipment for the aircraft radar sighting systems installed in the F-84E.

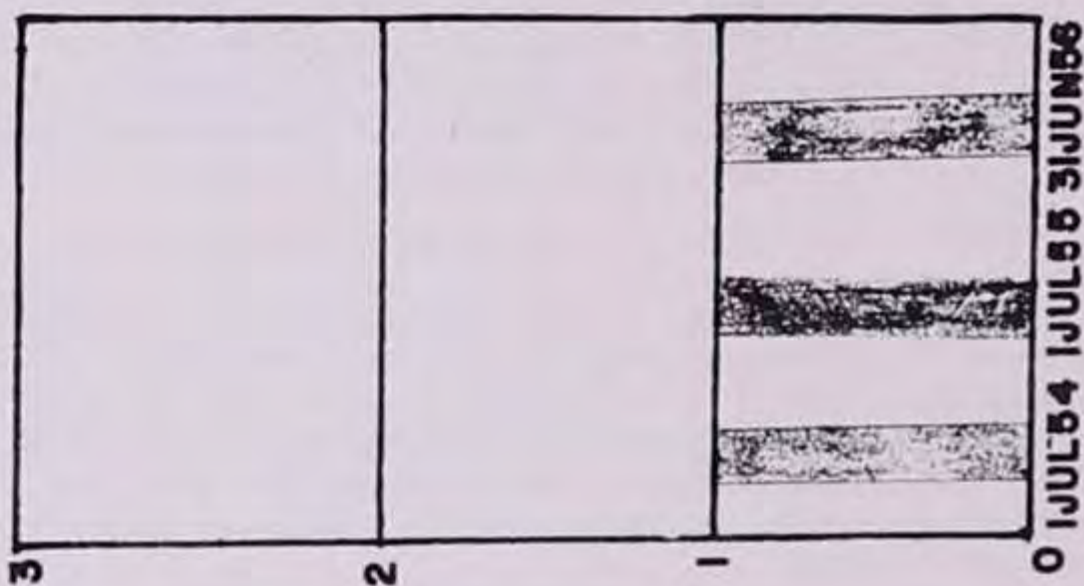

The following graph indicates aircraft assigned:

SUPPLY

Maintaining a base supply by the 133rd AC&W Flight proved to be too large a requirement for the unit to operate. On 1 March 1956 the unit was satellited on the Air National Guard Base Supply at the Sioux City Air Base. The move created a number of problems but they were soon resolved. The move proved to be a savings in time and money and improved the efficiency of our supply.

COMMUNICATIONS AND ELECTRONICS

The 133rd AC&W Flight had the AN/TPS-1D and AN/TPS-10D radar sets for its main electronics equipment. In the spring of 1956 our unit received 4 AN/TRC-32 radio sets. So along with the AN/GRC-26 HF radio sets, our unit had the minimum basic equipment to operate a Control and Reporting Center. The AN/FPS-8 radar set and the AN/TRC-35 FM radio sets were programmed for the near future.

MEDICAL ACTIVITIES

The 132d Tactical Hospital manned with only two surgeons throughout most of the period performed 1500 physical examinations including exams for flying status. This unit exposed 1113 X-rays and gave 7500 immunizations to personnel of the Des Moines Air National Guard Base. The medical activities at Sioux City Air National Guard Base included 927 immunizations, and 376 physical examinations. No X-ray facilities were available.

AIR INSTALLATIONS

The Air Installations activity during the reporting period was mainly directed toward continuance of the long range planning program. In the preceding reporting period at Des Moines an additional aircraft parking area project was completed as well as the extension of the NW and SE runway to 7500 feet to accommodate jet aircraft. During this reporting period, the following projects were initiated and funds expended or obligated:

Contract DA 13-035-NG-54—Erection of Pre-fab Warehouse at DMAB	11,348.00

In September 1954 the 133rd AC&W Flt headquarters moved into a new armory building at the Municipal Airport at Fort Dodge, Iowa. The armory also housed two Army Guard companies. The armory soon proved inadequate for the needs of the unit so in December 1955 a proposal was submitted to the National Guard Bureau for new facilities. A new armory building, for use by the unit alone, was tentatively approved by the National Guard Bureau. Negotiations were underway by June 1956 to obtain land from the City of Fort Dodge. Facilities for a radar site were needed at Cedar Rapids so negotiations were started with the Airport Commission at Cedar Rapids for area on the airport property.

AIR TECHNICIAN PROGRAM

The backbone of the Air National Guard Program is in the full time manning of the bases by Air Technicians. All Air Technicians are members of the various units and hold full time civilian positions within the same career field as their military specialty and where possible within the same unit of military assignment.

There are two major categories of positions in the Air National Guard Civilian Program. Namely, Classification Act type positions and Wage Board type positions. Classification Act type positions are characterized by work in managerial, professional, scientific, administrative, and clerical occupations and other positions excluded from the Classification Act.

All Air Technicians are classified as State Employees; however, the funds are provided by the Federal Government. Employee wages and strengths were as follows:

2. Warrant Officer (Unit Administrator, Mos 2123).—This position has been eliminated from Active Army T/O&E's, but will not become effective for National Guard units until announced by the National Guard Bureau. c. Appointments will be made as commissioned officers, if eligible under NGR 20-series, except for those who are serving as full time civilian personnel.

d. Those unit administrators who cannot be absorbed in accordance with paragraph b and c above, will continue in their current status, pending the announcement of the outcome of a study being made to determine a means of providing for those who will become excess.

3. Inspection.—Authority is granted to defer the inspection required by paragraphs 9b, NGR 15, until the next annual armory inspection in the implementation of these changes.

In both Counties there is now a better understanding and interest in Graves Registration.

During the past year, although I did make trips over the State, it was in connection with my position as Department Commander of the Spanish War Veterans, on each trip if I had work that was connected with my office in Graves Registration I took it along and got the information needed on these trips.

3. The requests for Service information on deceased Veterans has increased more the past year than at any time since I have been in office.

Respectfully submitted,
